

Major League Clubs Swing into Play Tuesday

Ex-Pelicans On Oregon Roster

Quartet Making Strong Bid For Positions on Webfoot Football Team. George Wilson Still Willing to Take Chances.

Klamath Falls will have more candidates for the University of Oregon football team next fall than it has had at any single college for many seasons.

Four boys who played under Le Arritt on the Pelicans are listed on the Webfoot roster for spring training.

Two have been candidates for the varsity in the past, while the other two are just getting out for sophomore competition.

Bill Estes, who was out of play nearly all of last season because of injuries, is a practical man at guard, and is practically assured of a first string job under Prink Callison for next season's hard campaign.

Two lads from Pelican City are also guard candidates. One is big Nello Iovanni, a real prospect, and the other is John Pastega, who plays fullback and tackle for the Pelicans.

Giovanni is the leading linesman on the frosh team a year ago.

Pastega played at Southern Oregon Normal last season under Jean Eberhart.

The fourth candidate from Klamath is Chandler Berry. Berry has had one year of fairly active play at center, but he hasn't yet won his letter. He may be the understudy to Edwin Farrar, the man destined to become the regular center next year.

Callison has mustered a squad of 45 players for spring training. This is probably a little larger than the ordinary Webfoot squad, but certainly insufficient to meet that seven-conference game schedule coming up in the fall.

George Wilson has always been one to take a chance. The fact that he was injured in his last wrestling match here won't prevent his taking more chances at the armory Tuesday night against Pete Belcastro. Wilson's chief weapon is the flying tackle. He uses it frequently. He knows there is always a chance of hurting himself through the ropes like he did in his recent meeting with Dude Chick, but the hold has won so many matches for him he wouldn't think of discarding it, even though it is so dangerous.

Harridge Sees Close Contest in Junior Loop

By WILL HARRIDGE President American League Copyright 1936 by United Press CHICAGO, April 13. (UP)—It is my positive belief that I have every right to predict a great race in the American league during the season of 1936.

Why? Detroit has been strengthened by the addition of Al Simmons, one of the greatest players in our league for many seasons, the acquisition of at least three pitchers who should prove of value and the improvement in reserve infield strength.

Boston should be more of a contender because of the purchase of Foxe, Marum, Cramer and McNair of Philadelphia and the development of your pitchers to add those two star veterans, Grove and Ferrell.

New York banks on the return of Pitches Gomez to the sensational form he displayed in 1934, figures it profited by the trade of Pitches Pearson and Sunda and predicts that in Joe Di Maggio, it will place on display the prize rookie of the year.

NEW YORK, April 13. (UP)—Sixteen major league clubs, almost half of which confidently are eyeing the gold and glory that goes with the world series, start the 1936 baseball race on eight fronts next Tuesday.

The Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers, winners last year, are slight favorites to hammer down the stretch in front of their rivals in the 154-game race—but only after what baseball experts believe will be the severest pennant scraps in more than a decade.

Third Flag Sought The Tigers, seeking their third straight American league flag, are 8-5 favorites to repeat, while the Cubs, who won the National League title with a record-shattering 21-games winning streak, are quoted the same in their circuit.

The American race shapes up as a four-club affair, with the Boston Red Sox, strengthened by practically all of the Philadelphia Athletic stars of former years, quoted second at 2-1. The New York Yankees, perennial runners-up, and Cleveland Indians are rated 4-1, although that price will be hammered down if either club shows promise during the early stages of the campaign.

Cardinals High In the National league, the scrappy St. Louis Cardinals are rated 2-1, followed by the New York Giants, who flopped two years running in the stretch. They are held at 3 to 1.

Two of the National favorites—Chicago and St. Louis—open open against each other in St. Louis. The Brooklyn Dodgers, who are rated the "dark horse" team of the circuit, start the season against the New York Giants. Other initial clashes are Boston at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.

The Detroit Tigers open defense of their title in Cleveland. The Yankees meet Washington, St. Louis plays Chicago, and Philadelphia, with practically an all-rookie team, travels up to Boston.

Big Lakes Club Has Practice Session Sunday

The Big Lakes ball club had its first workout Sunday afternoon on the Big Lakes diamond on South Sixth street. Twenty-one candidates turned out for the team.

Carl Shoots, who played with the Albany State league champions last season, looked good at shortstop. John MacKay, recently from the Sacramento Valley league loomed up well at third base. The Hemple brothers, Floyd Young, Fred Floetke and Bill Stackovitch did some heavy hitting.

Hal Haight is manager of the team. Practice sessions will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings this week, starting at 5:30 o'clock. A practice game will be scheduled for next Sunday.

OAKLAND STOPS BEAVERS TWICE

Max Bishop, Portland Manager, Protests on Umpiring.

By The Associated Press Through fights, protests and the season's longest game the Oakland ball club stood sturdily at the head of the Pacific Coast league pennant race.

The Acorns and the Portland Beavers squared through 11 weary innings lasting a full three hours before the Beavers took yesterday's opener, 11 to 7. Floyd Olds started the visitors on their fourteenth inning ragers by walking four men. Six pitchers yielded 32 hits, including a homer by Christ Hartje, Oakland catcher.

Bishop Files Protest A three run seventh inning rally, which the fans thought would bring a great shower of pillows, saved the Oaks the relatively short nightcap, 5-7. Oakland won 6-5 Saturday.

Irked by "the poorest umpiring I have ever seen in my 15 years of baseball," Manager Max Bishop of the Beavers protested to League President W. C. Tuttle. Portland lost the series five games to two, dropping most of the games by one run margins.

Fine four-hit pitching by Henry Rippen stopped Sacramento's seven game losing streak and ended Seattle's successive wins at nine games. He hurled the Senators to a 3-1 win Saturday. His team mates repeated in the Sunday opener 5-3, making all their runs off three hits in the first frame. Clarence Pickrel allowed the Senators only three hits and one unearned run as he took the seven 4-1.

Padres Win Series The third fine pitching job of the week-end was turned in by Hugh Casey of Los Angeles, when he stopped the Missions 5-1 in the Sunday opener. He without a hit in the first frame then bore down to allow only five singles. Walter Beck, supporting ace of the Mission mound staff, finally broke into the win column in the afternoon as the Reds won 8-4.

The Missions won 8 to 7 Saturday and the series four games to three. San Diego came out with its first series, 4 to 2, by taking all three week-end games from the San Francisco Seals. They won Saturday's track meet, 23-4, and Sunday's opener 6 to 5. Ernie Falman's four ply swat in the sixth decided the nightcap, 3-2.

Worthy of mention is the return of Sacramento Shortstop Sid Stringfellow to the error column after two perfect days. He booted three over the week-end, leaving him two shy of an error a game for the season.

Big Trout Landed at Rocky Point Two of the biggest fish taken from the Upper lake this year were caught Sunday by Mrs. Glen Gulley. The trout, hooked at Rocky Point, weighed 11 pounds 7 ounces and 7 pounds 14 ounces. Mrs. Gulley was using a No. 4 Andy Reeker spinner. The fish are on display at Polin's.

Bearcats Defeat Oregon State for 3rd Year in Row

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 13. (UP)—Coach "Spec" Keene's Willamette University Bearcats boasted an uninterrupted three-year winning streak over the Oregon State College baseball team.

Willamette defeated the Beavers 12 to 0, Friday, and then took both ends of a double header Saturday, 8 to 0 and 9 to 7, running its three-year winning streak to seven in a row.

George Erickson, starting Willamette hurler in the final game, returned from center field and manned the final Oregon State batman after the Beavers got to Nunnenkamp, Willamette relief moundman, for five runs in the ninth inning. Three walks, Woerner's single with the bases full and Kingling's home run featured the rally.

Dick Welgerber, a home run Bearcat catcher, boomed a home run with one aboard in the eighth inning of the final game. First game—R. H. E. Willamette 8 8 2 Oregon State 0 6 6 Burch and Welgerber, Weakley; Cramer and Bergstrom. Second game—R. H. E. Frick Predicts Strong Season for Nationals

By FORD C. FRICK President National League Copyright, 1936, by United Press NEW YORK, April 13. (UP)—National league prospects look bright to me this year, and I'm particularly glad of this because it is our 60th anniversary.

The league this year features young talent. The Chicago Cubs, you might say, are all youngsters. Brooklyn has a lot of newcomers. Virtually all the Dodgers who will open the season next Tuesday with the New York Giants are new men compared with the starting lineups of 1935 and 1936.

Cincinnati is a young team and so is Philadelphia. St. Louis is fairly young.

This is going to make for a lot more get-up-and-go. The young blood will mean more speed and enthusiasm. You can be sure that they'll pull the unexpected many times. They will make many mistakes, but in making them there at least will have been a show.

As far as the race itself is concerned I don't believe it will be as close as in 1935—you just don't get races like that two years in succession. It would be a miracle if the issue went down to the final couple of games as it did last year when the pennant was decided on that final St. Louis-Chicago series.

However, I think that the league race as a whole will be closer. By this I mean that there should be considerable less space between the first team and the last.

A year ago it was obvious that Boston was well out of it before the season was very far along. But I think they'll be well-bunched all season this time.

I'm going to see the opener in St. Louis between the Cardinals and Cubs on Tuesday and see the Pittsburgh opener against St. Louis on Friday.

OREGON GOLFERS—14 SPT— Defeat Huskies

EUGENE, Ore., April 13. (UP)—University of Oregon golfers defeated University of Washington, 21 to 6, Saturday in a dual meet.

Johnson of Washington and Prescott of Oregon registered par 72 1/2 in the afternoon rounds. A feature of the match play was Anderson's 30-foot putt on the 18th green to defeat Tustin of Washington.

Future Farmers Hold Smoker Friday Night

A large crowd turned out Friday night to see the Bonanza-Henley Future Farmer smoker. Good wrestling and boxing was exhibited by the boys, one knock-out being scored by Cheyne of Henley over Horsley in the first round.

The liveliest bout of the evening was between Randall of Bonanza and Jim Reed. These little 85 pounders mixed things up and drew many cheers from the crowd. Randall won the decision. Other boxing events were Pool of Bonanza winning the decision from Delap, Burns of Bonanza won the decision from Rents, Brown of Bonanza got his decision from Howary. In wrestling Larry of Henley and Hanson won to a draw. Cheyne of Henley won from Crabb with two falls. Short of Henley won from Saunders, and Nelson of Bonanza won from Sparlin.

Bonanza came out victorious with five wins, four in boxing and one in wrestling. Henley had four wins, two in boxing and two in wrestling. John Heyden of Bonanza refereed. Harry Nichols and Mr. Reed were judges.

Beaver Players Up in Arms Over Bad Officiating

PORTLAND, April 13. (UP)—The Portland Coast league baseball team was up in arms today over what Manager Max Bishop described the poorest umpiring he ever saw.

The Portland Beavers lost four games at Oakland last week by one run margins.

"In my 13 years of baseball I have never experienced such poor umpiring as we are getting in Oakland," Bishop wired the Portland Oregonian sports department. "Our club has not played the best ball in the world, but still we should have won three games here that were lost due to terrible decisions by umpires Genchies and Stewart."

"I have phoned (league) President Tuttle for a change in umpires. . . I fear someone is going to take a beating if these decisions continue."

Third baseman Fred Redore, Catcher Earl Bucker and First sacker Bill Sweeney of the Portland club all said the umpiring was the worst they ever saw.

Oregon Victor Over Linfield

M'MINVILLE, Ore., April 13. (UP)—University of Oregon avenged a previous defeat of this season by winning from the Linfield College baseball team, 5 to 2.

Singles by Goodin and Thomas and Hurney's trip in the second inning brought victory to the Webfoots.

Linfield won the opening game 11 to 6.

Oregon Freshmen Win Swim Meet

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 13. (UP)—Bob Hinnell won the 50-yard and 100-yard free style races to lead the Oregon State Freshman swimming team in a 48 to 27 victory over University High of Eugene.

Lafferty gave University High its only first place in the meet Saturday by winning the 100-yard breaststroke.

HARD HITTERS MEET TUESDAY

Wilson, Belcastro in Main Event Match At Armory.

Two of the hardest hitters in wrestling clash Tuesday night at the Klamath armory when Pete Belcastro, junior heavyweight champion of the Pacific coast, meets George "Wildcat" Wilson, famous ex-all-American football player from the University of Washington.

While things appeared fairly even, there was some indication Monday that Wilson would be a favorite at the start of the one-hour main event tussle.

The match has every promise of fast action. Wilson, great ball carrier for the Huskies in years past, has one of the deadliest flying tackles in the game. Belcastro will count on his drop kicks and body slams to counter Wilson's attack.

Wilson returns here after several weeks of wrestling in California. At his last match in the armory, he was on his way to a victory over Dude Chick, Wyoming cowboy, when he missed a tackle and crashed out of the ring into the front row seats. He was injured and unable to continue.

In matches here this year, Wilson has attracted the largest crowds of the season.

Since getting back to Klamath Falls from his winter tour of the southland, Belcastro has not yet met defeat. He has upset some strong opponents and still is confident of trimming the former rider.

The unbeaten Prince Mihalakis, Arabian from San Francisco, will meet a sturdy opponent in Frank Taylor, Ohio, in the semi-windup. The prince stopped Dan Savich of Utah last week while Taylor was defeating Frankie Peck.

In the opening match Peck is scheduled to go against Savich.

Multnomah Field Not to Be Turfed

PORTLAND, April 13. (UP)—Portland must wait at least another year for the long-sought turfing of Multnomah stadium football field, John A. Laing, vice-president of the stadium association, said.

"Only the toughest grass and the best possible drainage system would prove satisfactory in view of the heavy fall rains and hard usage," he said. "No half-way job will be attempted." "The stadium management hopes to be able to provide a field cover for added protection to the grid-iron this fall."

Proper turfing would cost about $20,000, he said, in addition to about $4,000 or $5,000 for a "rain cap."

WHITMAN BEATS IDAHO WALLA WALLA, April 13. (UP)—Whitman college was the inland Empire's baseball giant killer today, after 11 games against two coast conference teams without a loss. The Missionaries defeated Idaho Saturday 3-2, 3-2, 11-7, in seven-inning contests, to sweep an eight-game series. Previously the team tied one and won two against Washington State.
