The state final debate will be broadcast over radio KOAC, at 8 p. m. on that date. Chiloquin debaters do not know yet who their western Oregon opponents will be in the finals.

UNIT TO ORGANIZE IN KLAMATH FALLS

Ireland, state organizer of Pro-America, national organization of Republican Women, Inc., arrived in Klamath Falls Monday from Portland, and will organize a unit of Pro-America in Klamath county within the next few days.

They have been touring the state effecting similar organizations, and will go to Bend from Klamath county to organize a group there.

Women of the Young Republican national federation work through the Pro-America group, which is a permanent organization with state offices in the Heathman hotel in Portland, where all republican women are invited to call when visiting in Portland.

Although Pro-America is a new organization in Oregon, it is rapidly becoming one of the most influential groups, second only to the state republican central committee.

DAIRYMEN GUESTS OF LAKE CHAMBER

LAKEVIEW—The Lake county chamber of commerce had the dairymen of Lake county as its luncheon guests at last week's meeting.

Victor W. Johnson, county agent and chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber, and Roy Perry, a dairyman from the Idaho district, were the two principal speakers.

Johnson stated that the dairy herds of Lake county are practically free from tuberculosis and banga disease. The income from dairymen in this county has increased 41 per cent in the past three years, although there has been a 25 per cent decrease in the number of dairy cattle. The income from the butterfat during 1935 was approximately $55,000. A survey made by the county agent's office has revealed that the two dairies situated in Lake county paid a better price for butterfat last year than did the several dairies outside of the county which some of the dairymen patronized.

Perry stressed the adaptability of Lake county to dairymen and the necessity of such an enterprise for the reason that high freight rates make it impossible to export the forage crops for which thousands of acres in the county are adaptable.

In Munich, Germany, it is against the law to read a book written by Theodore Dreiser.
