

SCOTCH POLICE OFFICER IN CITY

Chief of Police Keith of Hamilton, Scotland, accompanied by Mrs. Keith, made a brief visit to Klamath Falls Saturday, calling on Chief of Police Hamm and members of the local police department at headquarters.

The Scotch officer compared the police departments of Scotland and the United States. Men on his force receive free house rent, are exempt from taxes, are given uniforms and boots and receive medical care and hospitalization, he stated.

One policeman is allotted to 465 population, compared to one policeman for every 1450 people in Klamath Falls.

Police officers in Scotland are pensioned on two-thirds pay after working 30 years, or half pay after 20 years, according to Chief Keith.

The visitor stated that there is much more crime for the police to take care of in America than in Scotland, giving an example the fact that one man on his force served for 17 years without making an arrest, his only official act being to take an insane woman to an asylum.

He was much surprised to learn that on Saturday nights there are as many as 30 men housed in the Klamath Falls jail. Chief and Mrs. Keith are on a three months' vacation trip, (with pay, he added, or they would have stayed at home, being Scotch.)

They are making a tour of the United States, and visiting various police departments, in order that Keith may learn American methods.

Christian Science Church

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientists, on Sunday, May 17.

The Golden Text was, "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God" (1 Cor. 2:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not" (Job 14:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal man is the antipode of immortal man in origin, in existence, and in his relation to God. . . Human birth, growth, maturity, and decay are as the grass springing from the soil with beautiful green blades, afterwards to wither and return to its native nothingness. This mortal seeming is temporal; it never merges into immortal being, but finally disappears, and immortal man, spiritual and eternal, is found to be the real man" (pp. 215, 190).

Getting Farewell Glimpse of Hindenburg

More than 100,000 persons made the pilgrimage to remote Lakehurst, N. J., to view at close hand the record-breaking dirigible Hindenburg before its take-off on the return flight to Germany. Kept back by ropes, the crowd is shown gazing at the super-airliner inside the hangar while the crew refueled and provisioned it.

News of Oregon

CORVALLIS, May 18. (AP).—Hundreds of Oregon State freshmen lost their pledges wings here in the annual "burning of the green" but as many others renounced their rook status two days early in a co-ed rebellion. Green caps and ribbons went up in smoke.

Campus week-end brought a myriad of activities, prefaced by the Oregon State high school track meet and the dual meet between O. S. C. and the University of Idaho.

Rookie stalwarts won the annual tug-of-war with the sophomores.

Nearly 300 engineers from all parts of Oregon participated in special departmental events. The annual Eta Kappa Nu award, offered the outstanding sophomore in electrical engineering, went to William J. Barclay, Portland, and H. E. Muenzer, Portland, and A. C. Durland, Roseburg, were announced as winners of first and second places respectively in the annual student competition for the best paper submitted to the Portland section of the American Society of Automotive Engineers.

PORTLAND, May 18. (AP).—A plinking fire on a drawn-up held up traffic for a short time on Portland's downtown Broadway bridge but the blaze was extinguished without major damage by the harbor fire-patrol boat. A discarded cigaret was blamed. Damage was estimated at $100.

BONNEVILLE, May 18. (AP).—A portion of the Union Pacific's new right-of-way, necessitated by the construction of Bonneville dam, went into use when a switch engine and 26 cars were switched from the main line to the new track a half-mile west of Tanner creek. Rails and ties were moved. The five-mile stretch is scheduled to be completed next month.

PORTLAND, May 18. (AP).—Prof. Charles McKinley, of the department of political science at Reed college, won appointment to President Roosevelt's national committee on administrative management. He is now in Washington working for the committee on public administration of the social science research council and has been granted a leave from Reed until next February to accept the new appointment. He was a member of the staff which made the Columbia basin survey.

AMUSEMENT PARK Fire Kills Three

EAST DORIT, May 18. (UP).—Three bodies were recovered from the smoldering ruins of "Jangleville" in Eastwood Amusement park Saturday.

Firemen, successful in extinguishing the fire, were unable to identify the victims immediately but said the bodies were those of two men and a woman.

Park officials who estimated damage to the huge frame structure at $10,000 believed the blaze was started by a match or cigarette. More than 5,000 people were in the flimsy building when the fire started.

SALEM, May 18. (AP).—Jackie Cordan, 6, owed his life today, his playmates said, to 10-year-old Donovan Espin. Jackie fell into Sweetland creek yesterday. The Espin boy followed his course along the bank of the stream and finally pulled him out.

PORTLAND, May 18. (AP).—Prompt action of Kenneth King, newspaper carrier boy, in turning in a fire alarm early Sunday saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Foley and small daughter. All three had been overcome by smoke when firemen and police responded but were quickly resuscitated. Damage to the home was slight.

NEVADA'S Republican Delegates Unpledged

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 18. (UP).—Nevada's six republican delegates will go unpledged to the Cleveland convention, delegates to the state convention decided Saturday.

Lester D. Summerfield, Reno attorney, was chosen unanimously as national committeeman to replace George Wingfield, for many years Nevada's political and financial czar, who made no effort to regain his post. Clyde Souter, Reno lawyer, was elected unanimously as state chairman. He will lead the national convention delegation as one of the six Nevada vote-casters.

G. O. P. ADMITS DEFEAT IN FALL

Copyright 1936 by United Press
WASHINGTON, May 18. (UP) Republican congressional leaders admitted privately Saturday that they saw little chance of overturning the democratic control of congress in the fall election regardless of whether President Roosevelt is reelected.

While republicans from the outset have considered it almost certain that democratic control in the senate would continue, they had hoped to gain enough seats in the house to regain superiority there.

Gain of 75 at Most
Such a development now seems remote on the basis of predictions made today and based on present trends which conceivably may change during the interval before the elections.

An important house republican leader predicted today that his party would be "lucky" if it had 175 house seats next session. It now has 102. A majority of the house, which has 435 members, is 218.

Two months ago republican congressional leaders were more optimistic. At that time house Republican Leader Bertrand Snell, named as permanent chairman of the republican national convention, foresaw the possibility of his party controlling the house even if it lost the presidency.

Demos. Confident
Speaker Joseph W. Byrns said today that "from my information we will not have any serious losses in the next election." Other democratic leaders, privately seeing a possible gain of 50 republican seats, said they did not consider that such a change would injure administration control if the president is reelected.

Plowing under cotton and cutting the throats of little piglets is the crime of the century. We haven't got overproduction and never have had. Our trouble is underconsumption. — William A. Lemke, co-author of the Frazier-Lemke bill.

A style designer says that women must have mystery, and that there is none in the 1936 swimming suit. How she dares wear it in public is a mystery to us.

Boston dentist says that women are better patients than men; which is remarkable in view of the fact that, during treatment, they can't talk.

American Volcano Stirs Again

With Mount Lassen, above, reported to be rumbling in menacing tone and spouting steam, American tourists now may see an active volcano that is strictly a home product. Located in northern California, near Red Bluff, Mount Lassen has been erupting periodically for ages. Nearly a century ago, a great blast gouged out the huge depression shown at the right of the snow-streaked mountain. And, as recently as 1916, the volcano spewed lava and mud, and destroyed much of the timber that surrounds its base.

Zioncheck Mixes Hair Tonic, Rum In New Cocktail

ST. THOMAS, V. I. May 18. (UP).—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, democrat, Washington, immortalized himself Saturday by inventing a new cocktail—a mixture of Virgin Islands' rum and hair tonic.

Here on a honeymoon with his bride, a former Washington stenographer, the congressman invented the concoction in celebration of his fishing prowess. The catch was heavy and the fish were large. Zioncheck determined to have them stuffed to take back to the mainland to display to his colleagues and constituents. He called in a taxidermist.

"Boy, am I happy. Gee, I'm happy," the legislator told the world. "Let's celebrate."

He seized a bottle of rum, emptied a generous portion into a shaker and then added a liberal amount of hair tonic.

"A delightful drink," Zioncheck told his guests.

The taxidermist and the others sipped the cocktail cautiously. Then gulped.

Zioncheck confided the drink was "something new" and his guests agreed.

To be attractive a woman must have mystery. This 1936 swimsuit leaves no room for mystery. — Adrian, movie style designer.
