Klamath Falls Gardens Visited By Club Scouts

A soft breeze was blowing through the hundreds of royal iris, their purple, yellow, red, blue and white heads held high on long straight stems.

Three garden scouts from the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club were walking through Mrs. G. A. Krause's iris garden where more than 250 varieties are planted, "and all doing splendidly, thank you."

The scouts were getting ready for the annual flower show which the library sponsors each year, this June to be held the fourth of the month in the gymnasium of Fremont school.

Not so many years ago not a half dozen homes had flower gardens, and only a few boasted a lawn. Things just "wouldn't do" in Klamath county. Late cold springs coupled with intermittent and early frost discouraged men and women alike to attempt to grow any but a few trees, and even trees in this country are cherished and cared for like no where else.

But now some of the most beautiful iris on the Pacific coast are grown in Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Krause is but one of a group of women who have become interested in developing a collection of rare and lovely specimens.

Many of these iris will be taken to the flower show, although Mrs. Krause is in the east, and they will be shown in single specimen and group display as well as arrangements in the Japanese manner, which is one way in which iris are shown to the best advantage.

Not only does the Krause garden show the visitor a wealth of richly colored iris, now in the peak of their beauty, but within the week peonies will be blooming in profusion, the deep, lovely red variety, and many perennials such as pyrethrum, (painted daisies to us amateurs), and a score of other favorites that border walks and mingle in the rocks of a natural rockery that is perfectly suited as a background for blossoms, spring, winter and fall.

This is one of the gardens that the scouts visited and more will be discussed later. These stories are being written to urge people to beautify their homes, their gardens and the vacant lots they own as flowers will grow here with care.

Don't forget the flower show, June the fourth, in Fremont school auditorium. No admission. Men are especially urged to come, as each year more men choose flower gardening as their hobby and the displays at the show will give them an added impetus toward the promulgation of plants in their own particular gardens.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT SHOWER AND PARTY

Last Friday evening at the E. C. Thomas home on Pacific Terrace, members of the teaching staff of Fremont school were hostesses at a surprise shower in honor of Miss Ursula Culler, whose marriage to Larry Ogle of Lakeview, will be an event of early June, at her home in Spokane.

Spring flowers were used in profusion throughout the rooms.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening, honors being awarded to Mrs. Glenn Gulley and Miss Forest Schneider.

Miss Culler, who has been art teacher in Fremont for the past five years, and has made a host of friends among both teachers and pupils, received many lovely gifts, presented in a unique manner.

The guest list included: Mesfames Mae Wells, Etta Cunning, Ruth Lindfesty, Ann Gulley, Ann Carter, Eva Mary Lovely, Frieda Ellis, Vera Pearson, Lena Hackett, Jennie Mills, Bethel Edsall, Julia Cassell, and the Misses Agnes Arfstrom, Augusta Parker, Christine DeBord, Dorothy Goodfellow, Olive Wilson, Henrietta Ekein, May Phinney, Namoi Carlton, Forest Schneider, Lily Darby, Audrey McPherson, Florence Howe and the honor guest, Ursula Culler.

Preparations Under Way For Annual Flower Show June 4.

But a few days remain before maids and matrons will be choosing the choicest blossoms from their garden and taking them to the annual summer flower show sponsored each year by the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club.

This year the show is scheduled for Thursday, June the fourth.

Incidentally all gardeners are praying for the favors of Old Sol. Sun is essential this year as never before, to bring out the blossoms which have been retarded due to a continued cold spring and driving winds that have ruined many choice iris and other flowers that play an important part in the Klamath Falls show.

Mrs. Carl W. Hornibrook is general chairman of the show this year and is assisted by an able group of women, members of the Library club, chairmen and committee members to be named next week.

The public is urged to keep in mind the fact that the show is not only for women, nor for members of Library club.

It is the Library club's civic gesture of pride in the beauty of the gardens of Klamath Falls that each year are growing more lovely and more extensive.

There are a number of different classes which may be entered by those who do not have a single hobby, such a arrangement in kitchen utensils, the miniature class which last year was so enthusiastically received, table decorations, and the artistic arrangement of luncheon tables and bed trays.

Rule sheets may be obtained from Mrs. Hornibrook and any resident in the county is urged to show flowers which they have fostered in their gardens.
