

PROMPT FILINGS URGED BY AAA

Utmost speed in filing the location and description of land to be included in weed control projects under the new agricultural conservation program will be needed to qualify for soil building payments this year, according to announcement by the Oregon State college extension service. Detailed rules governing weed control operations as a soil building practice have been received for Oregon and distributed to county agents.

These rules provide that in order to qualify for the $5 per acre payments for clean cultivation control, and $10 for chemical control, description of the plots must be filed with the county committee before work is begun and within 15 days from the date the regulations were issued, which was on June 29. This will make the deadline for filing about July 5 or 6, depending on whether Sundays and holidays are counted. In any event, prompt action is urged. Actual work on cultivation projects must also be started by that time, though chemical projects may be begun between now and the fall rainy season. In some cases growers have started cultivation control of perennial weeds in advance of the receipt of the rules. In that case the description and location are to be filed anytime within the 15-day limit mentioned.

Minimum area of a weed control project is a quarter acre, though this need not be all in a single patch. Chemicals may be applied dry or as a spray.

Mob Threatens Hit-Run Driver

CANON CITY, Colo., July 2. (UP)—T. D. Truman, 28, Wichita, Kan., petroleum company employee Wednesday was being held

In the Colorado state penitentiary for safe-keeping from a mob that threatened to lynch him after he ran down and crushed beneath the wheels of his car the body of an 11-year-old newboy. Truman was trying to escape from police with the $38 loot he obtained in the holdup of a roadside house near here.

The boy, Jack Huntley, died instantly. He was the son of a guard at the state prison, Russell Huntley.
