Good Plan for Oregon

KLAMATH vacationists who motor in other states can testify to the value of the double center road lines that are adopted by many states to warn motorists at places where it is extremely hazardous to cross the center line.

On two-lane roads these double lines are used at the crests of hills, on curves, at undergrade crossings, and at other places where vision is obscured. They warn motorists against passing at such places, and in California motorists are forbidden to cross the double line under any circumstances.

The Oregon Motorist magazine advocates the adoption of this plan in marking Oregon highways. For many years Oregon has had the center line, and it has worked out advantageously in accident prevention and as a guide to motorists who wish to drive safely. Nevertheless, the single center line on two-lane highways is not regarded as something which must not be crossed. Usually, it is necessary to cross it in passing a car ahead.

But the double line, painted at places where there must be no passing, would be regarded as a fence or barrier that absolutely could not be crossed. The plan has been effective in other states. The Motorist is right in advocating it for Oregon.

McNary Home

SENATOR Charles L. McNary, after lingering in Washington to finish up business important to his constituents, is home in Oregon. He will rest for a time at his Marion county farm, and then will no doubt open a quiet, business-like campaign for re-election.

That campaign will probably take the form of visits to various parts of the state for discussion with the people concerning community problems and projects, in connection with which he will be in a position to help as United States senator.

McNary will not go into a community in the state which he has not already served in many important ways. During his long years of service he has answered hundreds of pleas for assistance from the people of his state. That is one reason why it is generally conceded he will be re-elected.

Just the same, supporters of Senator McNary should not take too much for granted, and they should put forth vigorous effort to call his ability and faithful service to the attention of the voters.

Hitler, Mussolini May Join

THE opposing alliance situation in Europe, traditional method of international dickering on that continent, may undergo a significant change in the near future.

In Germany it is believed that France and Great Britain are drawing closer together. France already has a mutual assistance pact with Russia, the world's greatest military power.

The effect of these developments will be to stimulate Chancellor Adolph Hitler into an effort for increased collaboration with Italy.

Hitler and Mussolini may develop a joint plan to smash the League of Nations and generally change the status quo of Europe through an Italo-German alliance. This would serve Hitler's purpose in breaking the "chain of steel" which the Nazis think France is seeking to forge around Germany.

Hitler has been hopeful of gaining British cooperation. If in the immediate future there are evidences that the British are going to play ball with France, look out for monkey business between Il Duce and Der Fuehrer.

Barnes Valley

BARNES VALLEY, Ore.—James Huntley was in Bonanza on business Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Devaul were visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Connely of Langell Valley, the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Devaul, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Vincent and Miss Minnie Vincent spent the Fourth of July at Dog lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Huntley were in Klamath Falls Friday, Saturday and Sunday, where they attended the rodeo.

Frank Hyatt and Albert McCumber were in Barnes Valley on business Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole made a trip to Crater lake, Rogue River valley and Crescent City for their Fourth of July vacation.

Bradshaw and Cole are working on their mill in Barnes valley. They have seven men employed making a sawdust burner. They expect to have the mill in shape to start soon.

Bradshaw and Cole purchased the William Noble mill in Langell valley and are using parts of it to repair the Barnes valley mill.

James Huntley has been hauling wood to Klamath Falls for the past week.

Mrs. Orville Devaul and Miss Minnie Vincent were visitors at the home of Mrs. Eddie Thompson one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Walker, Mr. and Mrs. James Huntley and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Huntley spent two days last week fishing on the South Fork of Sprague river.

The Three C boys are building a line fence west of Barnes Valley.

Mrs. Cole is running the cook house for the mill crew at present.

James Huntley has been working on the Barnes Valley road filling in chuck holes. The road is greatly improved as far as Long branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thompson and children, Ellis, Ruth, Frank and Fay of Klamath Falls, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Thompson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fletcher and Ray Warr were in Barnes Valley on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Devaul were in Klamath Falls on business last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Weston went to Merrill Sunday. They went to bring Mrs. McCall, who is going to cook on the Lapham ranch.

Dan Malloy and Jimmie Dehardy have their sheep near Barnes Valley now. They have about two thousand.

Barnes valley farmers are very busy preparing to start haying.

Jimmie Dehardy went to Lakeview Monday to purchase a new mower, and employ a hay hand. James Huntley is going to break a horse to work on the rake. William Devaul and Vernon Walker are also getting ready to hay.

James Huntley was a visitor at the J. R. Thompson home in Klamath Falls one day last week.

Work Commences on Railway Spur

TULELAKE, Calif.—Work began last week on the 800-foot railway spur of the Great Northern which will accommodate residents of the Homestead district east of Tulelake.

Space is ample for building several potato cellars along the new stretch and roads leading to the spur are to be cindered with material provided by the railroad company. Shipments of the road material will arrive in the near future from LaPine, Oregon.

News of Oregon

PORTLAND, July 8, (AP)—The action of Gov. Martin in filling three vacancies on the state relief commission with men drew a protest today from the democratic business and professional women's club.

"In every instance, Gov. Martin has filled these positions with men," said Miss Grace B. Townsend, president, referring to the relief commission and other state bodies, "and we are going to ask that they be filled by women."

SILVERTON, July 8, (AP)—Three nieces of the pioneer Davenport family of Oregon will unveil a plaque here July 12 commemorating the legend of the riding whip.

The plaque was to have been dedicated a week ago but the ceremony was delayed.

The legend relates that Mrs. Timothy Davenport, returning from a ride in 1854, stuck her riding whip in the earth and it grew into a tree. A tree more than 90 feet high grows on the spot on the A. A. Geer ranch near here.

The nieces are Helen Goodknecht, Waldo Hills, and Ruth Geer, Salem.

ALBANY, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Officials of the state department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars arrived today to complete preparations for the annual state convention, starting tomorrow. The parade, which will feature a pioneer section and include national guard units from Corvallis and Lebanon, will be held Friday night. The parley will be concluded late Saturday.

MADRAS, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Virgil Moehring saved only himself and a pair of overalls when fire destroyed the home of his parents eight miles south of here. He jumped from a window to escape the flames. The remainder of the family was absent.

COQUILLE, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Coos county refunding bonds totalling $48,000 went to a group of three Portland bidders on an offer of par plus 60 cents a thousand premium, with interest at 4½ per cent. The county court had hoped to dispose of the securities at 4 per cent. The bonds, designed to lessen the county's interest overhead, will be retired in 10 years.

McMINNVILLE, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Linfield college's contribution to the University of Oregon's building-beautification program will be a huge figure of an athlete, to be placed in the new gymnasium at Eugene. The figure is being sculptured in caststone material by Walter Pritchard, Linfield art instructor.

ALBANY, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Increased postal receipts the first six months of 1936 gave new impetus to the Albany postal department's hope of reclaiming a higher rating. Stamp sales totalled $22,379.31, a gain of $2,551.64 over the corresponding period last year.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 8, (AP)—A new 36-foot motor lifeboat, non-capsizable and with all modern improvements, neared the last stage of its journey today—to Coos Bay. It arrived aboard the Massmar from Baltimore, where it was constructed in the coast guard service plant. A crew from the Coos Bay coast guard station at Empire will pilot the craft the last 272 miles, from Portland to Empire, under its own power.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 8, (AP)—Seasons and bag limits for fish and game birds will be considered here Saturday by the state game commission. Supervisor Frank Wire said an earlier meeting Friday will bring merely a routine discussion of business matters.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 8, (AP)—More fires but less damage comprised the basis for the forest service report for the national forests of Oregon from Jan. 1 to date.

Fires this year totalled 179, compared with 164 for the corresponding period a year ago. Only 283 acres were burned over in 1936, however, compared with 377 last year. Smokers were blamed for 27 of this year's 179 conflagrations, lightning for 120 and campfires for 9.

PORTLAND, July 8, (AP)—Portland Post No. 1 American Legion elected as commander William A. Bowes, member of the civil service commission and officer of the Portland Typographical Union.

ASTORIA, July 8, (AP)—Restoration of the historical frieze on the famous Astoria column will be attempted shortly by Attilio Pusterla, New York artist. Wind and rain damaged it.

PORTLAND, July 8, (AP)—A meeting of bondholders of the Oregon Electric railway to discuss the possibility of forming a committee to protect the interests of those holding first mortgage five per cent bonds due May 1, 1933, will be held here July 22.

Ralph E. Williams, one of the larger holders, in calling the meeting said nothing has been accomplished in meetings with officials of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroad.

"It would seem that if something is not done toward protecting our interests, we will lose our entire investment," Williams added. About a million dollars of the bonds were taken up prior to 1933 but $9000 is still outstanding, Williams said.

CORVALLIS, July 8, (AP)—A 25-foot fall to a hard floor apparently was just a bump to Ronald Eisenbrandt, 9, who escaped without broken bones.

He wandered away from a playground and began climbing among rafters of a school building. Slipping, he fell through a skylight, struck on his side and sat up, calmly chewing his gum while a doctor examined him.

Little Stories About Klamath Boys and Girls

Not so long ago we read interesting stories of vacation trips from both Bennie Kerns and Buzz Taylor. Here is a picture of these two boys, together with Bennie's dog, Popeye.

"I named him Popeye after Popeye the Sailor," says Bennie, "because he is so husky." Well, Bennie, if he tackles any bears write us a story about it.

Buzz (on the right) left last Monday for Oakland, to sail Thursday for his home in the Hawaiian Islands.

Walter Bodman, Jr., was nine years old July 4. His mother entertained in his honor at their home at 122 Lincoln street, the evening of July 2. The following guests enjoyed games during the evening and refreshments of ice cream and cake later:

Lillian and Vera Badorek, Pearl Wooley, Winifred Smith, William and Walter Badorek, Howard Lugerman, and Dickie and Jimmy Pope.

WHAT I DID ON THE FOURTH

In the morning I helped mother so that we could go to the parade. What a grand sight it was, the floats, the clowns, and best of all, the Gilmore animals.

Mother and I then walked through the crowd and she bought me a Mickey Mouse balloon. We then came home to eat lunch so we could get to the rodeo on time.

I would have liked the rodeo much better if there had been places for a lot of people to sit. I had to sit on the fence while mother and daddy walked around and did their best to get a peek now and then.

We went up to Crescent avenue to watch the fireworks in the evening. I took my kitten along so he could enjoy them too.

After this we came home and I was glad to get to bed.

It was a grand Fourth.

New vehicle registrations in Great Britain amounted to 34,935 units in March this year, the highest monthly figure reached in the history of the British automotive industry.

CONSTRUCTION JOB WILL START SOON

TULELAKE, Calif.—Construction on four large potato cellars, a grain warehouse and a hay warehouse is expected to get underway in the next two or three weeks near the Southern Pacific tracks in preparation for handling crops to be shipped from the Tulelake territory, according to O. F. Peterson, S. P. agent.

Building of the cellars will bring the number adjacent to the tracks to ten. Those planned for will have an approximate floor space of 40x300 feet and will be built by residents of the Tulelake district.

First cutting of hay is now being billed out for Portland and other northern state points at the rate of five or six cars a day. A pick-up baler, owned by H. L. Whitehead and Harold Weatherby is proving effective in baling from the windrow.

Grain harvest will begin late in July and the new warehouse is expected to be completed in time to care for a portion of the crop.

DORRIS

DORRIS, Calif.—Mr. and Mrs. Herb Gordon have moved to Graeagle.

Perry Langer purchased a new car recently.

Irvin Richardson fell from a gondola load of lumber at the Long-Bell mill Friday and suffered an injury to his back.

Jesse High, Jr., broke his arm while loading logs Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Monkman and Mrs. I. M. Hanson left Friday for Santa Rosa to spend the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Donner and Miss Lorene Monkman. They returned Sunday, bringing their daughter, Lorene, home.

Miss Margaret McCully and Miss Leona Weeks of San Mateo arrived Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McCully. They plant to stay several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Wood, Jr., and family spent Sunday above Coffenbury mill on a picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Fagle and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fagle of Fort Klamath, Mr. and Mrs. Kopic, Earl Bronell and the Fremont Wood family enjoyed a picnic on Bear creek the Fourth.

Accident Occurs in Southend Area

MALIN, Ore.—One slight accident was recorded during the two-day Fourth of July celebration here. Otherwise the holiday passed with no disturbances.

John Groves, Merrill, received a broken collar bone when thrown from the rear seat of a motorcycle used in exhibition stunts. With a companion, Groves was seated on the rear of the vehicle which started suddenly throwing him to the ground.

BEATTY OBSERVES FOURTH OF JULY

BEATTY, Ore.—About 500 gathered at Beatty last week end for a Fourth of July celebration.

The program for each of the three days consisted of a baseball game, followed by a rodeo each afternoon and dancing in the community hall in the evening with Indian stick games through each day and night.

Among those who established camp in Beatty for this occasion were many Pitt River Indians and others from California, who joined with the Klamaths, Modocs and Piutes for a real old-fashioned good time.

Listed on the sports program each afternoon were the riding of cows and calves, bulls and steers, horse races, bronc riding, foot races, relays, tug-of-wars and tire rolling.

The broncs used in this rodeo were real outlaws, their names proving truely descriptive: Red Pepper, Black Devil, Canary, Blue Heaven, Fort Klamath, Rattlesnake, Black Demon, Depression, Casket and Dragon. Very few of the riders were able to stick these horses, among them being Bob George and Chrisman George.

Besides the saddle horses were a dozen bareback horses, a couple of dozen cows and calves, and a dozen bulls and steers.

There was no contest riding, the riders prefering day-riding, with a $2.50 fee per mount.

The bucking horses were furnished by Ben Watah, Bart Shelley and Tony Brown. The relay string belonged to Charley Walker, who took first prize; to Calsey Duffer, who took second, and to Nathan Copperfield.

In the foot races Alvin Beal took first place in the 100-yard dash, time 11.5 seconds, and Sam Harris took second place. Sprague River won from Alturas in the men's relay foot race.

Sprague River was also the winner in the baseball games, winning two from Beatty and one from Sycan.

In the evening there was an Indian feather dance in the community hall. Among the men who danced were Doctor Sam, Bob Foster, Dutch Wine and David Jacobs, and the women were Della Bliss, Mattie George, Susie Chocktoot, Mattie Paddy and little Jennie Paddy.

Those who furnished music for the community dances were Manuel Mose, Abeline Weeks, Buster Dickens, Quincey Baker, Thomas Smith, Ruby Butler and Maryetta Hutchinson.

Altogether this proved to be a most happy occasion, and a "safe and sane" celebration. There were no accidents, no injuries and no fighting. There was only one arrest, that of a Mexican for sale of wine to Indians.

The committee announces that plans are already underway for another celebration next year, bigger and better than this. The grand stand, which was newly built this year, will be enlarged.

Those comprising the committee in charge were Parker Hubbard, chairman and secretary; Winnie Foster, vice chairman; Thomas Smith, treasurer; David Chocktoot, Towey Brown and Henry Shadley.

BEATTY

BEATTY, Ore.—Mr. and Mrs. Daly Givan of Bly were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison on Sunday, June 28.

Albert Rhoades and Joe Wickham left by automobile on Sunday afternoon for Los Angeles.

Frank Schmitz, Opal Palmer, Dora Boye and Tim Brown drove to Portland on Wednesday, June 24, returning to Beatty on Tuesday, June 30.

Rev. and Mrs. B. V. Bradshaw returned last week from attending the annual session of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, where Rev. Bradshaw was re-appointed to the Klamath Indian Mission.

Mrs. Charles Harvey returned to her home in Lakeview after a visit with Mrs. John Simmons.

Mrs. Ben Murphy of the Beatty hotel spent Sunday with her husband below Sprague River, where he is running a band of sheep.

Katherine Steinerson of Klamath Falls is a house guest of Miss Mary Jean Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Casey and Veston Casey attended the Fourth of July picnic at the Pankey home at Sprague River.

Rev. B. V. Bradshaw left on Tuesday, June 28th, for Madison, Wis., where he is attending a Fellowship of Indian missionaries at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison and family spent last week in Klamath Falls, taking part in the Fourth of July celebration. Jack Harrison was the time-keeper for the rodeo, and his horse took first prize in the roping contest.

Mrs. Frank Schmitz spent Sunday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Garner Lundy.

A special service was held at the Methodist church on Sunday evening, when Mrs. B. V. Bradshaw gave an illustrated lecture, "The Farmer's Best Crop," accompanied by illustrated hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "The Ninety and Nine". The lecture and hymns were illustrated by beautifully colored stereopticon slides.

Among those from Beatty who attended the celebration at Klamath Falls on the Fourth were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pound and daughter Oelo, Mrs. Frank Schmitz and Opal Palmer and Dora Boye, and Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons and Mary Jane Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Henson of Klamath Falls were weekend guests of Mrs. B. V. Bradshaw at the parsonage.

Irwin Anderson left on Tuesday for a few days visit at Medford.

Mrs. Frank Schmitz accompanied by Opal Palmer took Mrs. Mary Jane Merritt to the Klamath Agency hospital. Mrs. Merritt has been quite ill for the last two weeks.

Charles Wicklander, state deputy grange master, of LaGrande, Ore., with Mrs. Wicklander and two daughters were visitors at the parsonage on Tuesday. They are to be in the county this week, visiting the granges, which are having meetings during this time.

Gutzon Borglum, who carves mountains, returned home to find some sculptures wrecked. He had been gone only a few months, so it could not have been erosion.

Ten Years Ago

In Klamath

THE electric storm which broke over Klamath Falls at an early hour this morning was followed by a drenching rain which covered the greater part of the county, materially relieving the forest fire situation, according to Jack Kimball of the Forest Protective association.

The stubborn Aspen lake fire was almost entirely put out, but will require patroling for many days owing to the danger of smoldering logs again being fanned into flames.

BEND, Ore., (AP) — Crater Lake national park broke all previous records for attendance on the Fourth of July weekend when 5,077 people visited the lake, according to the report made by Will G. Steel, park superintendent. Fourteen hundred and thirty-four automobiles were counted.
