SUMMONS
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Klamath.
Grace Mabel James, Plaintiff, vs. Edgar St. Clair James, Defendant.
To: Edgar St. Clair James, Defendant:
In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the Complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 31st day of August, 1936, that being the last day of the time allowed under the Order for Publication of this Summons. If you fail so to appear and answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to this Court for the relief prayed for in her Complaint on file here-in, to-wit:
For a decree of this Court for order dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment rendering her life miserable and burdensome. For absolute care, custody and control of the three minor children, Edward B. Ashard, Jr., Lucille Effie James, and Robert Clarence James.
This summons is served by publication thereof in the Evening Herald, a daily newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in Klamath County, Oregon, by order of the Honorable Edward B. Ashard, Judge of the above entitled Court, made and entered on the 31st day of July, 1936, which said order requires that this Summons be published once a week for four successive weeks and that the first publication be the 31st day of July, 1936, and the last publication be on the 28th day of August, 1936, and the last day for defendant to answer herein fixed by said order as 31st day of August, 1936.

Beatty Keeps Lion Scars, Not Skin

Though some of the prettiest girls in the circus wiped a tear away, and told Clyde Beatty how much they loved Boss Tweed in life and how much they'd love to have his hide, the lion trainer turned them all down.

Boss Tweed, the handsomest, fightingest lion in Beatty's string, recently passed on to the animal heaven. And as a result will soon be showing his beautiful teeth in the light of the Cole Bros. fireplace at the winter quarters, Rochester, Ind.

"I never had so many requests for a certain lion's hide in my life," said Clyde, "but after all the management comes first. I can understand it because he was the best-looking lion I ever had and he'll make a beautiful rug."

Clyde himself was attached to the cat, but he was giving the skin away, he explained, because he already had several mementos to remember Boss Tweed by.

"This one here," he said, pulling up his sleeve of his shirt.

He paused over the criss-crossing of scars. "Well, anyway, one of those is from Boss Tweed as well as a deeper one in my leg."

"Boss Tweed," Clyde said, "was one of the greatest fighters I've ever seen, in addition to his noble looks. He did some of his cleverest fighting in the Rochester Massacre. That was this spring. When two score of lions and tigers were in the arena for a dress rehearsal. One, on a high seat, reached down to take a cuff at the cat below. They frequently do that without much happening. But in this case the cat on the high seat fell off and landed on the one below. The one below, thinking he was attacked, started to fight. In a second it was a free-for-all."

"In such a fight the lions have two distinct advantages. Their first is their thick mane which prevents the tigers from getting to their throats. Their second is their clannish way of ganging up on a tiger. A tiger will just watch another tiger being attacked. The lions join each other. An animal attendant excitedly raised a gate into the shoot so the beasts could return to their cages. Into the shoot ran three Bengal tigers with Boss Tweed in pursuit.

"For twenty minutes they battled. Boss Tweed killed the three tigers, but himself was almost torn to ribbons. He recovered but somehow he never seemed to be the same. His spirit or his fighting nerve was gone. The other morning I opened his cage door and he was dead. For seven years I trained him, the longest of any of my cats. I was greatly attached to him."

Traveling aboard three special trains the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty circus will reach Klamath Falls Saturday, August 29, at South Sixth street grounds for performances at 2 and 8 p. m. An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a. m.

TULELAKE

TULELAKE, Aug. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. George Frey left Thursday for Roseburg where they attended the state convention of the American Legion and auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Horton, who have spent the summer at their ranch in Poe valley, will return to Tulelake before the opening of school.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith submitted to tonsilectomies at Hillside hospital in Klamath Falls last week.

A lengthy business session was conducted by the Winema club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Waldrip. Mrs. Felix Soderman assisted as hostess.

Reports on the remodeling of the new club room formerly used as a class room at Winema school were made. The building is to be painted at a later date.

Due to the small attendance, a special meeting has been called for Wednesday, August 19, to be held either in the club room or in the school building. At that time a matter of major importance is to be brought up. All members are requested to be present.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon to 13 members and four guests.

Mrs. William Weltkamp and Mrs. Clyde Banks entertained the 31 Bridge club at the home of the former Saturday night. Four tables were in play.

William Kyle has been employed on a painting contract at Summer Lane school.

Robert Fensler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Fensler, who has spent the summer on a cattle ranch at Tuscarora, Nevada, returned home last week and left over the weekend for San Francisco where he will enter the University of California at Berkeley. The young man graduated last spring from Tulelake high school.

The senior Fensler is superintendent of the biological department at Camp Clear Lake.

Thorben and Don Reiben, sons of School Superintendent George Reiben and Mrs. Reiben, who were riding near Grants Pass turned over after a tire blew out, are recuperating from their injuries at their homes here. The trio plan to leave the first of the week for universities in the southern part of the state.

Thorben will resume his studies at Stanford university, Don will enter University of California and young Osborne goes to Davis agricultural college at Davis, California.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Bergman made a trip to Bend Friday by way of Crater lake. They were accompanied by Mrs. Bergman's mother, Mrs. O. T. Garrison, of Baker, Oregon, who has spent
