

STRANGE DEMO ALLIANCE WINS G. O. P. TAUNTS

The "strange fraternizing" of Democratic State Chairman Claude McCulloch and Mayor Willis Mahoney took the brunt of a few good-natured jabs from Walter Tooze, republican vice-chairman of the state, in his talk at the republican meeting here last night.

"I am reliably informed," said Tooze, "that Mayor Mahoney first achieved political success here by his attacks on Copps. One of the 'corporation lawyers' which he attacked in those days was, of course, Claude McCulloch, an attorney for the power company. I understand that they were about as far apart as any two could be. What is happening now is ample proof of the truth of the old adage 'politics makes strange bedfellows.'"

"Honest, Able, Blunt" Tooze struck out lustily in behalf of Senator Charles L. McNary and Roy Ritter, candidate for congress from the second congressional district. He said that on the current trip he, Tara Bladine and Dave Hoss are particularly emphasizing the Ritter candidacy.

"Our candidate," he said, "is a high type of man—honest, able, blunt. His word is as good as his bond."

He cited the fact that straw polls have shown growing trends toward London, and emphasized the necessity of giving London, as president, a republican house. He urged voters of the second district to contribute their part by electing Ritter.

"Pierce Unreliable, Claim" Congressman Walter Pierce, Ritter said, can go "back to his white-faced calves." He cited instances of Pierce's attempts to play "both ends against the middle" in his efforts to curry favor of both sides.

Pierce, the visitor charged, at a meeting in Pendleton last week of livestock men, who had been seriously hurt by the Canadian reciprocal trade treaty, had declared that the treaty was an infamous thing and showed the country had been "sold out to the Detroit automobile manufacturers." But Pierce, he reminded, voted to give the president the power to make these treaties. Tooze predicted that when Pierce speaks at Hood River, where apple growers are inclined to favor the Canadian treaty, the congressman will praise it to the skies.

Nation Pension Conscious
Tooze said that Townsends hate President Roosevelt, but still are talking of voting for Pierce, who is one of Mr. Roosevelt's "rubber stamps."

Tooze stated that he believed the Townsend movement had accomplished good in that it had made America pension-conscious. He said that the republican party stands for an old age security program that is not pauperizing, like that now on the books, but will return to good citizens, in their old age, a livelihood from a fund to which they have contributed in their working years. Such a plan, he said, would preserve the self-respect of the American people.

Attacks Bureaucracy
Launching into the general political situation, Tooze bitterly attacked the New Dealers for their attitude toward the constitution and the United States supreme court.

He said that the president of the United States, who had sworn on his mother's Bible to uphold the constitution of the United States, had stooped so low that he had said the constitution belongs to the "horse and buggy days." The reason the New Dealers turned to ridicule the republican stand for the constitution, he declared, was that they could not face the argument on the basis of cold facts.

Tooze asserted that the issue of the coming election is whether or not "we are going to preserve the America of individual opportunity, free from unjust governmental interference." He attacked the Frankfurters and the Tugwells of the present administration and leveled an oratorical barrage against bureaucracy.

McKinley Campaign Recalled
He reminded his hearers that in the ancient republics, the build-up of bureaucracies meant the downfall of individual liberty. From bureaucracy, he said, it was but one step to the tyrant—known today as the dictator.

Bladine, secretary of the state committee, spoke briefly, telling of experiences in the McKinley campaign. Hoss, son of the late and well-loved secretary of state, spoke in behalf of the young republican campaign.

Mrs. Ann Earley, president of the Klamath county chapter of Pro-America, announced the luncheon to be given at the Willard Saturday on the occasion of the visit of Mrs. George Gerlinger, urged a full attendance of Klamath county republican women.

J. C. O'Neill, chairman of the county central committee, presided.

Derricks Reach Oklahoma Capitol

The march of the oil derricks goes on in Oklahoma City. Several of them, as pictured above, are springing up on state-owned property surrounding the capitol, later step in the long controversy between city and state. Anxious to preserve the beauty of its capitol grounds, the city had forbidden such drilling, though private operators were permitted to drill nearby. Maintaining that the state should have the benefit of oil it owns, and that companies operating adjoining wells might drain state pools by drilling at an angle, state officials have fought for the right to sink wells on this property.

Tragedy Told

The tragic story of an East-West, "never the twain shall meet" romance was told in a Los Angeles court where Ray Johnson, above, faces charges of slaying his pretty Japanese sweetheart, Mimi Takahara.

A Lift without a letdown

IN THE WEST IT'S Rainier ALE AND BEER

Make parties "go" with ALE!

Let's get down to brass tacks about ale. It is something you offer everyone now, no matter what else you serve, because it doesn't play the tricks that some other beverages do. It warms and cheers, makes any party "go" without a "gone" feeling in the morning. And it gives your guests a choice. With 30 years brewing experience, we offer famous Rainier Ale—vigorous, hale and hearty—Rainier Beer's big brother with a little more muscle, a little more brawn, a little more lift, but no letdown.

Taste its zesty flavor. Enjoy, without hesitation, this sparkling, bubbling brew. No need to go "on the wagon" if you go on Rainier Ale.

PLEASE REMEMBER:
Rainier Ale is slightly more exhilarating than beer. However, as in the case of any stimulant, we suggest you drink it moderately, for you will like it better that way.
