President and Congress

CONGRESS has adjourned, ending the first session since President Roosevelt's ascendancy to office in which the legislative branch showed a tendency to assert its independence of his power. The president lost one major battle, and did not get all he wanted on certain other fronts. The fight over the second New Deal policies, which did not gain full sway in this session, will probably be continued in the next.

ENCOURAGEMENT to trailer tourists, but discouragement to permanent dwellers in the houses on wheels, has been the apparent purpose in most of the legislation on trailers which has been devised by states and municipalities in the past two years.

Increasing trailer travel has brought a good many headaches to the authorities, due chiefly to the parties who attempt to live permanently in trailer houses. It was the problem of that type of trailerite that brought about the recent enactment of a trailer ordinance in Klamath Falls.

Eighteen states, including Oregon, have passed laws regulating trailer camps. Typical regulations provide minimum areas for accommodation and for sanitary facilities. The Klamath Falls ordinance supplements in the state grange also endorsed the recoint of the state grange in recommendation and for sanitary facilities. Tourist trailerites, however, are welcomed by most progressive communities, such as ours. This mode of vacationing is becoming increasingly popular, and it vacationing is becoming increasingly popular, and it would be short-sighted not to encourage visitation by traveling trailerites. No doubt private initiative will continue to improve facilities for accommodation of trailers. Pierce's Erstwhile Friends

TWO erstwhile journalistic supporters of Congressman Pierce, as well as others here, are muttering against him because of his strange activities in connection with the appointment of Claude McColloch to the federal bench. Judging from the reaction to that incident, on the part of both friends and opponents of Mr. McColloch, Mr. Pierce's recently acquired popularity in the Klamath attorney's appointment. When the hearing was held, he failed to show up, and refused to attend when called on the telephone by the judiciary sub-committee.

The Golden Text was, "Let this mid be in you, which was also in Christ, Jeans" (Phill: 25).

By BODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON, Aug. 23-Senator Hugo Black of Alabama

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—Senator Hugo Slack of Alabama is a loyal, unquestioning follower of the administration and owes his supreme court appointment largely to his subservence to Roosevelt. So goes the patier.

The facts are something else again.

And in the big outstanding fact of which perhaps Roosevelt limined it is in the president has awang completely around from primary tenets of his original political economic philosophy to the policies advocated in 1933 by Black. Vital policies which Roosevelt refused to accept when Black treed them then are now among the brightest jewels in the new dezi store window.
