

KLAMATH STORE THIRD IN OREGON

The opening of the Sears modified type of department store in Klamath Falls next Thursday will consummate plans the national merchandising firm put in motion many months ago.

It was a long time before a satisfactory site could be decided upon and negotiations for the chosen location were finally concluded late last fall when F. B. McConnell, secretary of Sears and assistant to the president, announced that officials of the company had signed the rental agreement for the property with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grimes and Mr. and Mrs. George Biehn of this city.

Situated at 133 South Eighth street, the store site Sears occupies fronts 120 feet on Eighth street and has a depth of 87 feet on Klamath avenue. The entire building will be used for sales purposes, offices and general utilities. The adjoining one-story building, which contains an area of approximately 10,000 square feet is being used as a warehouse with ample space for free automobile tire and battery servicing facilities. This service for motorists is operated as a part of the regular tire, battery and automobile accessory division of the company.

The new store represents the third step Sears, Roebuck and company has taken in the expansion of its Oregon retail service. The company at present is serving the cities of Portland and Salem.

Possibilities that Sears business in Klamath Falls may be pushed uncomfortably close in sales totals to that of several of the company's older stores of the same type were foreseen by T. R. Thompson, manager of the new store.

Many thousands of dollars worth of merchandise is purchased annually by Sears from Oregon manufacturers. Now to this revenue is to be added the sums Sears will expend through Klamath Falls' regular trade
