

ROCK DYNAMITED TO MAKE GRAVE

It fell to the lot of Henry L. Horton to drill holes for the dynamiting of rock in Mauden cemetery for the grave of young Claude Chester Hunter, 16, who died Friday night in Klamath Valley hospital from injuries sustained earlier in the week in an automobile accident.

By Schortgen's side was his son, Don, who was Hunter's pal. When funeral arrangements for the young boy were being made it was found that solid rock lay below the surface of the cemetery ground and it would be necessary to blast a hole in which to lower the youth's casket.

So Schortgen, who is the one they call on around the city hall to do everything from issuing $100,000 building permits to soothing irate neighbor ladies, was the one to whom they gave the task of blasting out the rock so that his son's friend would have a final resting place.

HEALTH UNIT MEETS WITH NEW OFFICER

The first meeting of the Klamath county health unit with Dr. Peter Rozendal, recently appointed Klamath county health officer, was held in the unit offices Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The proposed year's program was discussed and Dr. Rozendal discussed county health problems with the members.

GRANDMOTHER'S BIBLE

By EARL WHITLOCK

She needed no higher critics to choose the passages for her reading. She read what came alive for herself. She found a Bible within the Bible which consoled and inspired. If you have ever wondered why she got so much out of it, look at the parts most thumbed by her old fingers—the 23d Psalm, the 13th Chapter of Corinthians, the 53d Chapter of Isaiah, the 14th Chapter of John and similar passages. These comprised HER Bible.

The Bible is not read as much as its enormous sales would indicate. It is easier to buy a Bible than to read it, easier still to expect someone else to read it. And this means that too many people miss the magnificent sweep of its marching phrases which have been the inspiration of so much of our greatest literature, music, painting and architecture.

If we would learn to think of it as "Biblia"—its original Greek name, meaning "books"—instead of as a single volume, perhaps we would more readily realize that we can and should choose for our own repeated reading those passages which most uplift us.

Much that is crass and shifty, petty and vulgar, mean and drab, would leave our national life, if the Bible were more widely read.

Next Monday, Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on BI-FOCALS. Bring your Bible and read it while seated among the flowers in Memory Garden.

Telling the Editor

FOR SWIMMING POOL. KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—There is a group of us here who feel that certain proceedings in connection with the recreational and playground movement are being rushed with unusual and undue haste before the council.

I am sending a letter to the council today which expresses the sentiments of this group. A copy of this letter is enclosed herewith, and we would appreciate it very much if you could publish it in Monday's paper. The matter is to be acted upon by the council Monday night.

In this connection we feel that this would be a very opportune time to secure a municipal swimming pool for the children of this community and if you feel the same way we would appreciate very much if you could throw your influence back of it.

If we do not center on one main project there is apparently going to be a great deal of dissension. I think all classes would rally to a municipal swimming pool for the children.

Yours very truly,
MAUD HOSLEY,
623 High St.

Mrs. Hosley's letter to the council:

To the honorable mayor and common council of the city of Klamath Falls, Oregon. Gentlemen:

On May 20, 1938, the voters of the city of Klamath Falls approved a levy by the city for recreational purposes. The ballot title was as follows:

"Shall the common council of the city of Klamath Falls, Oregon, be authorized to levy a rate of taxation of one-half mill upon each dollar of all taxable property in the city of Klamath Falls, Oregon, for the purpose of creating a fund to be used for constructing, operating and maintaining playgrounds and recreational centers, and playgrounds or combinations thereof, acquiring land and real property by purchase or otherwise; creating a special fund to be known as 'Municipal Recreational Fund'; amending all tax limitations contained in the charter of said city insofar as said levy is concerned."

While a few of the electors who voted for this measure may have had in mind that the money would be used for other purposes, the large majority of all who voted for it understood that the money was to be used primarily for the benefit of the children of this city and only incidentally for the benefit of adults. The word "playgrounds" certainly indicates something for children. At least it would indicate that the primary purpose was for children. Furthermore the radio addresses made at the time of the election and the hand-bills distributed indicated that the main purpose was to provide playgrounds and recreational facilities for the children of the city.

The council is now being urged to divert this money to the purchase of a tract of ground to be used primarily for a ball park for adults. A certain group is demanding immediate action. Although the tract in question has lain dormant for a great many years and there is a definite real estate slump at the present time, it is urged that there is danger of losing this tract if it is not purchased immediately. Although committees from the various civic organizations were appointed to investigate the matter and report back to the council, and the mayor himself assured us that there was no hurry and that no action would be taken for at least six months, nevertheless suddenly there comes the immediate demand and haste to close this particular deal. Very naturally under the circumstances a great many of the taxpayers of this city feel that this is just another case of high-powered sales pressure.

While those sponsoring this movement intimate that the proposed tract will also be used for recreational purposes for children, a great many people feel that this is merely a side issue and that the interest of the children is being used to camouflage the real purpose, which is for a softball court for adults.

The softball court for adults could be made a self-liquidating proposition, and we should not have to draw on our playground fund for this purpose.

We have been trying now for approximately 10 years to find some way to get a municipal swimming pool. This would seem to be our real opportunity. The children of this city are entitled to have a place to swim free of charge if possible or at least at a nominal cost. As the writer understands it, the city of Portland has seven municipal swimming pools where the children of that city may enjoy swimming privileges. All over the United States municipal swimming pools are being rapidly developed. As a measure of health and safety every child should be taught to swim. The knowledge of swimming is very apt to save his or her life in some emergency in the future. Unfortunately we have no place in the immediate vicinity of Klamath Falls where the children can safely enjoy free swimming. The Upper lake is clogged with a green scum and with more or less dead fish along the shores. The Klamath river is unsafe because of the city sewage emptying into it. The physicians of our community have repeatedly warned that it is not safe to swim in the canals.

To use the proposed tax money for the purchase of the tract which is now being urged on the council it would take all of the money available from this levy for a period of approximately three to five years just to pay for the bare ground and the taxes against it. If the money is diverted for that purpose it will mean that we have lost our opportunity to get a municipal swimming pool.

Can we not join now in a movement to get our long-looked-for municipal pool? Can we not drive straight to the mark and have this swimming pool in operation by the season of 1939? It should be centrally located, and we do not need a lot of ground. Perhaps the city already has property which would be suitable. We will find that we will be able to get donations on all sides to help out in the construction of such a pool. There is already in the offering an offer of natural hot water that would take care of this feature. This may not materialize, but you will be surprised at the interest that will be taken if this movement is put in operation.

There is not a more wholesome recreation for children than swimming. We all look back on the "Ole Swimm'n' Hole" with the happiest of memories. We owe it to the kids of this community to see that they are privileged to carry the same memories out of their childhood.

I feel that this matter should not be rushed through but that we should hear from a great many other members of this community before final decision is made.

Yours truly,
MAUD HOSLEY.

CONGREGATIONAL YOUNG PEOPLE ATTEND NEW CAMP

The Congregational conference of Oregon has purchased a new campsite which is to be used by the Congregational young people for the first time this year. This camp is known as "Camp Adams" and is located between Colton and Molalla about 25 miles northeast of Salem.

Accompanying Rev. and Mrs. E. V. Haynes of the church here as delegates to the camp are Louise Mitchell, Lois Dixon, Eleanor Graham and Richard Pex. Pex is traveling by train and will be picked up in Salem Wednesday afternoon by the party.

The camp begins with the evening meal Wednesday, July 27, and close August 3.

PRISONER HURT IN CLASH WITH POLICE

John E. Harriott, about 35, in Hillside hospital suffering from a fractured jaw which he allegedly received in a clash with "Red" Melhorn, Klamath Falls police officer, after he had been booked Saturday night on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Harriott put up $25 bail, according to his attorney, David R. Vandenberg, before he was taken to the hospital, where his jaw was found to be badly broken. He is employed as a checker for Weyerhaeuser Timber company.

At police headquarters a report was made out by arresting officers who said that Harriott "sassed" them before he was taken to jail. At the hospital Harriott was said to be "resting easily," although it is understood that his head will be in a cast for several months.

This mild radio loud salesman, who mounted a sound truck with a hillbilly band and struck out after "those professional politicians" long after seasoned foes had started stamping the hinterlands, commented:

"The secret of success in business is ability to cooperate. I think the same principles of business can be applied to government. I have no idea of being a dictator. I expect to get along well with the legislature."

Stout and Irish Paul J. Kilday, 38-year-old San Antonio attorney backed by Mayor C. K. Quinn's political machine, whipped Maverick, new deal mainstay, by 425 votes. Quickly came reports Maverick would demand an investigation and recount.

Pension issue

O'Daniel and Kilday campaigned on pension issues. So did 25-year-old Lindley Beckworth, a state representative, to crush Sanders. The youngster shouted promises to work for pension increases; declared his loyalty to President Roosevelt. Trailing him was Smith county Judge Brady Gentry. Two hundred votes back, almost out of runoff contention, was Sanders.

Attorney Ed Gossett, another old-age pensions advocate, led Rep. W. D. MacFarlane, who recently got a warm greeting from President Roosevelt in Texas. Gossett almost had the necessary vote for a majority in late, incomplete returns.

He contended a more economic and non-political administration would result in more assistance to the aged.

The Chetco river and Galice creek fires in the Siskiyou forest were still out of control. The first had swept 25,000 acres and the second 2500 acres.

Fires in Wheat

Several serious fires have been caused by the dry weather in Oregon's wheat country.

In British Columbia firemen reported they were "holding their own" against the 100,000 acre blaze on Vancouver island, 109 miles north of Victoria. The fire was burning steadily in merchantable timber but was not spreading early today.

FLOOD DROWNS FOUR IN TEXAS

SAN SABA, Tex., July 25 (UP)—The flooded San Saba river which inundated hundreds of acres of crop land, drowned four persons and marooned many others began to rise again after standing stationary for several hours.

Authorities warned persons living along the river to be prepared for the "worst flood ever to ride the San Saba," which ordinarily runs as a mere trickle. The stream was flooded by cloudbursts in its watershed.

Two Floods

The San Saba and Brady Creek converge a few miles above here and authorities feared that when the crests of the two flooded streams meet hundreds of additional acres would be submerged. An emergency flood relief committee took over control of the town of San Saba, the business section of which was under water.

14 On Roof

Fourteen persons, including women and children, were marooned on top of a barn ten miles west of San Saba. A rescue boat which tried to reach them was forced back because of the swift current and the lack of light.

R. L. McConnell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said another boat would be sent out for the refugees at dawn.

"The water is lapping at the eaves right now," he said. "The barn is substantial and probably will hold, but if the water rises much it might sweep them off before we can get to them."

40 YOUNG CYCLISTS TO PEDAL WAY TO CRATER LAKE RIM

CHILOQUIN — Railroad employees here learned Friday that a group of forty young people traveling via train and bicycle, headed by the American youth hostels, will arrive in Chiloquin July 31 and detrain to make the sidetrip to Crater lake park on bicycles.

The party is en route from their homes in Northfield, Massachusetts they will reach Chiloquin on train 19 at 6 p. m. and go to Crater lake where they will spend the night and the following day, returning to Chiloquin in the evening where they will attend a theatre and will entrain at 6 a. m. August 2 to visit San Francisco's bay bridge and other points of interest in California.

Last year a party of 25 youths stopped at Chiloquin and bicycled Crater lake.

LAW CHANGED ON SALE TO INDIANS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25 (AP) Carl Donough, United States district attorney, said today an amendment to the laws regulating the sale of liquor to Indians eliminated the necessity of offering the cases of first offenders to the grand jury before prosecution.

The new law limited penalty for the first offense to not more than a year in prison and $500 fine. After the first offense, the penalty is limited to not more than five years in prison and not more than $2000 fine.

The previous law did not segregate the number of offenses and imposed a maximum of two years in prison and $300 fine.

PILOT ROCK, July 25 (AP)—Injuries received when a 500-pound hay stacker struck him in the head, crushing his skull, were fatal to Alton Hileman, 28, Gardane, Ore., Saturday.

BODIES SOUGHT

The father was fishing a short distance away around a bend in the river. Two fishermen witnessed the tragedy from a distance but were unable to reach any of the three victims. Sheriff's deputies sought the bodies today.

KNEE CAP BROKEN IN FALL FROM RIM

Nell Brinland, 37, employed at the San Orino construction camp on the rim of Crater lake, was brought to Klamath Valley hospital shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning by fellow workers after he narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death in a fall from the crater's edge.

Brinland, according to his attending physician, fell 25 or 30 feet to a ledge below, where he was rescued by companions. He suffered a badly fractured knee cap and other cuts and bruises.

FALSE ALARM

ASTORIA, Ore., July 25 (AP)—Astoria's earthquake of Saturday was marked up in the minds of local residents as a false alarm after it was learned Saturday night that a 10,000-pound dynamite charge had been detonated in a quarry blast.

TURKEYS CONDEMNED

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25 (AP)—A quantity of turkeys prepared for the Portland market were condemned Saturday by city inspectors who said they had died as a result of the heat wave last week and were unfit for consumption.

Tobacco growers know "inside" reasons for preferring Camels

These planters tell what they know about Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos

"At the warehouse sales," says Leon Mullen, experienced planter, "Camel buys the choice grades of tobacco. That's the reason why most of us men who grow and know tobacco smoke Camel cigarettes. We certainly appreciate the difference in the tobacco Camel buys."

"Almost every one of my fine baskets of tobacco went to Camel buyers last year," says G. A. Langley, who knows tobacco growing from every angle. "Better tobacco means better smoking," he adds. "That means Camels to me—and to most other growers too."

Alton Barnes, a planter who has grown and graded many a fine crop, says this about Camels: "Year after year the choicest lots of my tobacco have gone to the Camel buyers. Naturally, we growers select the best tobacco for our own smoking. So we choose Camels."

"I know from experience that Camel buys choice tobaccos," says Mr. Cecil Claybourne, veteran planter. "Many's the time they've paid more to get my finest lots of tobacco. Yes, most of us planters smoke Camels. We sure find a difference in their finer tobaccos."
