MAKE-UP

By EARL WHITLOCK

On every newspaper, there is some one man whose job it is to "make up" the paper. He chooses from the great mass of news that reaches his desk, the one item that tops all others in importance, and marks it for the heaviest display on the first page. After that, he places the other less important bits of news in subordinate positions.

Now a daily choice and final make-up are not alone the jobs of newspapermen. All of us have to do them. We all have, each morning, certain blank spaces to fill. Various and sundry things come up during the day which we may find important, merely interesting or worthy only of the waste-basket. And the way in which we evaluate these events marks us as surely as its make-up marks the newspaper.

The world soon learns what we consider valuable and what we deem worthless.

Now a paper can change its make-up by its "make-up" editor. So also it is a hard task to redesign a life and to put a new and finer set of values into operation. But sometimes it has to be done. And how a soul grows in the doing!

Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on The Gentle Graftor.

THE KLAMATH VETERAN

Activities of the Spanish-American War Veterans, The Disabled American Veterans, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, The American Legion and Their Auxiliaries.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

The foundation for the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization of comradeship and service was laid nearly 40 years ago. On September 28, 1899, a handful of soldiers, returned from the Philippines, met in a dimly-lighted little hall in Denver, Colo., and formed the nucleus of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

This year the organization is celebrating its fortieth anniversary, with 250,000 members, each going about his work with a pocketful of application blanks. National officers have set the goal for 1939 at 100,000 new members and are offering those really worthwhile prizes for these securing members. The national commander says "any eligible overseas veteran who is not signed up and June 30 will just have to make himself invisible, that's all."

Fellow post 1333 will meet next Thursday evening, January 12, and after a short business session will move en masse to the basement of the city library where, it is rumored, the women's auxiliary will provide for the inner man.

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This is life eternal, says Jesus,—is, defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself,—the knowledge of Love, Truth, and Life" (p. 419).
