

257 JUVENILE CASES HANDLED IN SIX MONTHS

During the first six months of 1939, 257 juveniles were referred to the juvenile department of the circuit court, according to the report of the juvenile office. Of these 25 were re-opened cases.

The juvenile officer made 64 trips in the county and traveled a total of 4521 miles in city, county and suburbs during the period. Hearings were given 27 juveniles in circuit court as follows: feeblemindedness 1, dependency 11, delinquency 15.

Of the 15 delinquency cases, nine were placed on probation to their parents, one to the Klamath Agency, one committed to Louise home, one to the Salvation Army White Shield home, one to St. Rose Industrial school and two to the Oregon State Training school. One of the boys placed on probation was later committed to the training school for breaking terms of his probation, and two Indian girls who had repeatedly broken probation were committed to the Industrial School for Girls after intermediate institutions had refused to accept them again, the office reported.

Of the 11 dependency cases, two were committed to the Boys' and Girls' Aid society, one to St. Mary's Home for Boys, two to Christie home, one to the custody of the Klamath Agency, two to the juvenile office to place in suitable boarding homes and three were placed with relatives and friends.

Wards of the court numbered 18 at the end of the six months, and were housed in accepted boarding homes in the county, nine being financed by the Public Welfare commission, three by the state, three under supervision of the juvenile office in free homes, two by parents, and one by Klamath county.

Numerous cases not otherwise reported were brought to the attention of the juvenile office by County School Attendance Officer Seely, and many cases were cleared up by Seely which would otherwise have required attention of the juvenile office, the report stated in praising the cooperation of the school office.

BARBOUR'S RODEO STOCK OFF FOR FORTUNA ROUNDUP

Mac Barbour's famous string of rodeo stock, including bucking broncs, Brahma bulls, Mexican steers, calves and racing stock, left Klamath Falls Thursday morning for Fortuna, Calif., where Barbour will serve as arena director of the Fortuna roundup. From there Barbour will take his string to Walla Walla, then to Lakeview, and later to the famous Pendleton show.

With the stock went Jerry Ambler, winner of final monies in bronc riding here, and Del Smith, another performer and two boys who will work in the Fortuna, Walla Walla, Lakeview and Pendleton shows.

CAR REMOVES TREE, BREAKS ROCK WALL

H. O. Williams, route 2, box 45, Klamath Falls, took a corner a little too fast, according to J. M. Jensen, 241 Michigan avenue, and removed a part of a rock wall and a tree growing in the Jensen yard. Williams told Jensen, who in turn told city officers, that he would repair the damages which were incurred in the accident.

FOOD FOLKS YOU KNOW

CARL ARTHUR
Carl Arthur is the genial-faced man behind the counter at the Central market, 906 Main street. Carl knows meat from hoof to horn (or ear, as the case may be), and he has a penchant for keeping the appetites of his customers satisfied.

Carl came to Klamath Falls from Hollywood about seven and a half years ago, but previous to that he lived in Butte, Montana about 20 years. Carl said he wasn't interested in going into "pictures" and didn't like the film city in spite of all the attractions so he welcomed the opportunity to come here.

He is greatly interested in cartooning and up until the past few years, creating with pencil and pen was his chief hobby. His main enjoyment now is his car and motoring; hardly a holiday passes that he isn't out driving somewhere with his family.

While still in Montana, Carl "crossed the burning sands of the desert" and became a Shriner. His membership was transferred to the local Hillah temple in which he's an active member.

MAN PAYS $20 ON DISORDERLY COURT IN POLICE COURT

Frank Walker, Klamath Falls, paid a fine of $20 on a drunk and disorderly charge when he appeared in police court Friday morning. According to Police Judge Carl K. Cook, Walker created a disturbance in a Klamath Falls restaurant Thursday night, made known his desire to fight, and later resisted officers and ran from them.

Spencer Radcliff, charged with violation of the basic rule, forfeited $5 bail in police court Friday. Radcliff was arrested at South Sixth and Spring streets Thursday.

Three warrants were issued against tardy motorists, bringing in $2 each to the city coffers. Nine traffic ticket holders appeared in court. Three drunks and one charged with vagrancy appeared in police court Friday.

TULELAKE PAIR IN YREKA JAIL

YREKA, Calif., July 21—Two prisoners from Tulelake are in the Siskiyou county jail. Earl Johnson, Tulelake, is held in lieu of $500 bail on a charge of drunken driving as a result of an accident a mile north of Tulelake involving Johnson's car and one driven by A. Kraft.

Ronald LeClaire is held on a charge of forging the name of W. F. Hooper to a $30 check. Hooper is a prominent Tulelake farmer.

THREE ACCIDENTS REPORTED FRIDAY

Three minor accidents were reported Friday to the office of Sheriff Lloyd L. Low. J. W. Sanders and Truman Wilcox were drivers of cars which crashed near the Lakeview junction. Paul Hunsaker and Fred Stobins reported a mishap on Klamath avenue back of the courthouse.

At Kesterson junction cars driven by Donald F. Hagg of Klamath Falls and Grady Glover of Arkansas came together.

'MILLIONTH' VISITOR DUE IN KLAMATH

Miss Olive Beede, millionth visitor to the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland building and exhibits at the Golden Gate International exposition, who was presented with a scenic tour of the Wonderland region and many other souvenirs, will arrive in Klamath Falls Wednesday afternoon, July 26 en route to Diamond Lake where she will spend a week as a guest of the Diamond Lake Resort company. This gift was presented to her by George L. Howard, manager.

Miss Beede is chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. Edith Beede of Antioch, California. Olive Beede is 19 years old, pretty, and a state college student. They will be met at Dorris, where they will arrive as guests of the Pacific Greyhound lines, at 11:45 a. m. Wednesday by a Klamath Falls committee. They will be overnight guests of S. W. Percy of the Hotel Willard, member of the Klamath county council of the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association.

Thursday the committee will take the guests for a sightseeing tour of Klamath Falls and vicinity, through Crater Lake national park, and to Diamond Lake where they will spend their week vacation. Later they will visit Medford, Ashland, Yreka and other cities and scenic spots of the Wonderland on their return trip.

On their way to Klamath Falls they will be greeted and entertained by committees in Corning and Red Bluff, Tehama county; Redding, Dunsuir, Weed and Dorris.

Lowell Scientists Ponder Possibility of Life on Mars

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., July 21 (AP)—Scientists at Lowell observatory whose big telescopes are trained on the planet each night believe there is some basis for popular theorizing that Mars is inhabited.

Mars, for the study of which this observatory is noted, is of particular interest now, for on July 27 it will be the closest to the earth since August, 1924. The eccentricity of Mars' orbit, which ranges in relation to the earth from 26,000,000 to 43,000,000 miles, provides astronomers with a periodical "close-up" not afforded by any other planet.

In speaking of the possible existence of martians, Lowell scientists qualify their comment, geologic and atmospheric conditions that human beings as we know them would have great difficulty in subsisting there.

Yet Mars at one time was in a position in the cosmos similar to that of the earth today. Consequently, in the opinion of many astronomers, descendants of people who existed there might have gradually, over a period of probably millions of years, had to adapt themselves to changing conditions.

To live on Mars now, a people would have to be capable of adaptability to a wide temperature range, some say as much as 100 degrees, within a 24-hour span.

They would have to be able to subsist on a much smaller consumption of water than earthy humans, for observations show vast desert areas on both hemispheres, an absence of elevations exceeding a few thousand feet and no great bodies of water.
