According to Carradini's report, R. D. Northcutt of the Daugherty Lumber company was driver of a second car which skidded into his car on a curve. Neither man was seriously hurt.

BONDS LOWER WHEN FEDERAL PROP REMOVED

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—United States government bonds sold lower in the New York stock exchange today with many of them losing as much as $6.25 per $1,000 face value bond, others nearly $10, and six issues sinking under the $1,000 par.

Dealers said the federal reserve system had removed its prop under the issues by failing to buy them in the open market, and was apparently willing to see them seek their normal level.

Sellers were corporations, probably seeking capital from their reserves, often held in treasury loans, a few institutional investors outside of New York, such as trust funds, insurance companies and the like, and a few small country banks.

The system has already quietly reduced discount rates to one per cent from 1 1/4 per cent in six federal reserve districts since the war began, it was announced in Washington today. This means that banks needing funds can rediscount their treasury bonds at par at one per cent interest. The move, bond dealers hoped, would stem selling by the banks.

The assassination of the Rumanian premier and other events in Europe, it was asserted, were viewed by some investors with uneasiness for the implications they might have for this country, and brought out many offerings.

Dealers here said they thought most of the frightened selling had been liquidated and that more normal prices soon would prevail.

Mussolini Paper Urges Allies to Heed History

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ROME, Sept. 21 (AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia today urged Adolf Hitler's adversaries to accept what it called his offer of a limit on Germany's expansion and end the European war.

Many observers believed Il Duce himself had written the two-column article giving this advice.

If the fight continued, Il Popolo warned, other statesmen might find themselves refugees of war, such as Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Premier Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, Premier Juan Negrin of republican Spain, and Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland.

Meanwhile Italy continued her military preparations. Mussolini conferred with Gen. Luigi Negrin, commander of the Alpine troops, on defenses of the frontier.

Il Popolo's editorial recalled an "imaginary dialogue on the Thames" between Haile Selassie and Benes written by Mussolini last December in which both bemoaned their failure to yield to Italy and Germany.

The editor reviewed "The Shades of the Conquered" and continued:

"Last of the series is Beck, a man who found an honorable way of salvation and refused it, considering himself guaranteed, very guaranteed, absolutely armored with guarantees."

Il Popolo then referred ominously to "conversations on the Vistula, the Pruth, the Danube (rivers through or bounding Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia) and said conversations might come tomorrow on the Seine or again on the foggy Thames."

Parties Split On Reactions To F. R. Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Congressional reaction to President Roosevelt's appeal for repeal of the arms embargo cut across party lines today.

Senator Austin, of Vermont, assistant senate republican leader, said he found himself "in very much agreement with the president."

On the other hand, Senator Hold (D-W. Va.) commented: "The president could have said it in a sentence: 'Give me the power and go home.'"

Senator Nye (R-N. D.), a leader of the senate group opposing the president's program, described Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress as "a miserable failure."

"If the speech was intended to demonstrate the need for repeal of the arms embargo it was a miserable failure," he said.

"There was nothing in it to indicate the need for a special session."

Comment of some other senators:

Bailey (D-N. C.): "It was a very fine message. I can agree with a great many of the sentiments expressed."

Connally (D-Tex.): "It was a splendid statement of international policy."

McCarran (D-Nev.): "If I ever was convinced that the neutrality law should not be changed, I am more convinced now."

Herring (D-Ia.): "I shall support the president's program."

Fair Price For PUD Land Slated

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—Dr. Paul J. Raver, Bonneville administrator, said in a radio address last night he would use his influence to get investors a "fair price" when they sell properties to public utility district.

"Bonneville will not destroy or impair a single dollar of legitimate business," he declared.
