

Midland Empire News

ANNIVERSARY OF FARM BUREAU HELD

ALTURA—The tenth anniversary of the founding of the Modoc Farm Bureau, was held here Sunday.

The bureau was formed and the first meeting held on October 21, 1929, just ten years ago. The minutes of the first meeting were read and a pot luck dinner served at noon. A birthday cake with ten candles was cut by the past and present presidents of the bureau.

Those present were: W. J. Dorris, Alturas; R. J. Graham, Davis Creek; D. H. Grove, Eagleville; and the present officer, J. G. Dawson, Davis Creek.

Short talks were given by all and L. J. Austin, secretary of the bureau, gave a summary of the bureau's existence. D. E. F. Auble, Alturas; State Senator D. H. Grove, both of Eagleville; and Alex Johnson, Berkeley, secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation, addressed the large gathering of members from throughout the county that attended the meeting.

LAKE COUNTY SETS RECORDS AT EXPOSITION

LAKEVIEW—Lake county is quite elated over the record made by Donald Hotchkiss of the Lakeview farming area, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pluma Hotchkiss, at the recent Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland. Donald was high point man among the intercollegiate stock judging teams entered by Pacific coast colleges.

Bill Weir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weir, was also a member of the Oregon State college team. The Oregon State college team won third place in competition with the University of Wyoming, University of Utah, Montana State college, University of Idaho and Washington State college.

DORRIS ITEMS

DORRIS—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Milligan left Thursday for San Francisco and Treasure Island. Another influx of about thirty-eight Copco workers came to Dorris Saturday to work on the new line being built from Yreka.

Art Campbell got two deer this season; but one deer almost put him down for the count. While dressing a deer he had killed the early part of October he cut his finger, splintering the bone. Blood poisoning set in from which he only recently recovered.

Mrs. Enoch Israelson entertained the Whist club Wednesday at her home on Third street. Those present were Mesdames Neils Israelson, Fred Starr, Elsie Ramsey, Krelcher, Kelton, John Olson and E. Israelson. Mrs. Ramsey won first prize and Mrs. Starr the consolation prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cross left Dorris Monday to attend the state grange at Chico. Mrs. Fred Blume who returned from Arizona with her grandchildren last week is reported as quite ill.

FT. KLAMATH

FORT KLAMATH—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams and family have moved from Klamath Falls to the George Denton ranch north of Fort Klamath to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ferguson, who have lived on the Denton ranch for the past four years, have moved to the home of Ferguson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zumbun and son Billie were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Orth.

Monday visitors in Klamath Falls were Mr. and Mrs. George Denton and Alfred B. Castel.

Three local youths, including Wilbur Ferguson, James Van Wormer and Ben Angland, left Monday evening for San Francisco, where they spent a few days attending the exposition. They returned Friday evening. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs.

DORRIS WILL HAVE TWO VOTING PLACES

DORRIS—Because of the heavy poll of votes the past several years it has been decided to divide the precincts so that at the November 7th election there will be two voting places. The one at the city hall, designated as Ward 1 are for those in Dorris east of the dividing line and on this board will serve Mrs. Elsie Ramsey, Mrs. Eva Young, Mrs. Gladys Tolbert, Mrs. Margaret Wood, Mrs. Maude Wallis, Mrs. Emmett Varum. Those in Ward 2 and 3 will vote at the Dorris Grammar school, and this precinct will be for those in Dorris west of the dividing line and all outside the city limits. This precinct will be in charge of Mrs. Nina Clark, Mrs. Margaret Hallard, Mrs. Julia Knapp, Mrs. Florence Simmons, Mrs. Mildred Stilwell and Mrs. May Jacobson.

Local hunters have not been bringing back many deer lately, although a number have been out on trips at various times during the past few days. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wimer and son Don, and spent last weekend hunting in the vicinity of Rock creek with no luck. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Belieu returned this week from an unsuccessful hunting trip in the south end of the county. Bob Hriscoe and Delbert Denton succeeded in bagging a forked horn piece after hunting ten days at Chitt springs. R. O. Varum also was lucky enough to get a deer near Bly a few days ago. Orville Schroeder and Roy Deffenbacher were out two days at Rock creek, but did not bring home any deer. Several are planning on taking a final trip during the last few days of deer hunting season, which closes on October 25.

Harold Hevan is having a private garage built, with William Johnson being the carpenter doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ferguson are parents of a daughter, born on October 16 in a Klamath Falls hospital.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

Mrs. E. M. Brattain Sr., of Lakeview, is a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brattain Jr., and sons. Mrs. Brattain and her daughter-in-law made a trip to Medford on Friday.

The local crew of timber fallers employed by the Algoma Lumber company were laid off for the season on Thursday. The camp will be shut down in a few days until logging operations start again next spring. The local Algoma hotel and rooming houses maintained by the company for the loggers will be closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney will again act as caretakers for the winter.

SPRAGUE RIVER

Mrs. Bell Burke and child of Sault St. Marie, Mich., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Passolt, Sr. and brother, Bob.

Mrs. Aileen Croley is employed in the Sprague River grocery.

County workmen are busy building a kitchen at the school this week. The kitchen will be used for social needs, cafeteria and for cooking classes.

The building housing the Hub pool hall and the shoe shop and the Sprague River garage received improvements this week.

Miss Evelyn Bowen who has been a guest of her sister, Mrs. Ivan McKenzie for the past couple of months left Wednesday for her home in Enterprise.

Roy Geinger of Chiloquin, Harry Short of Sprague River and Bill Maust, Shirley Stockard and Walter Hannan of Bly are in the Rockies hunting mountain sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Wylie are driving a new car.

Mrs. Sally Avrit left this week to join her husband who is coach in the high school at Marshfield this year.

Mrs. Paul Fuller is visiting relatives in Idaho.

Mrs. C. C. Heidrich entertained the bridge club Wednesday night. Mrs. Harry Short received high score and Mrs. C. A. Fuller, second. Guests included Mesdames Passolt, Fuller, Croley, Ough, Knox, Short, Parkers and Plephoff from Chiloquin.

OPEN ARMISTICE

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 23 (UP)—Salem merchants recently voted to remain open Armistice day unless definite assurance that Portland stores will close is obtained. Local storekeepers feel that they would rather sacrifice their holiday than see Salem residents take advantage of the one day vacation to do their shopping in Portland.

AT CHURCH

EUGENE, Oct. 23 (AP)—A thief went to church last night but he wasn't converted. The national president of W. C. T. U., Mrs. Ida B. Smith, a speaker at the services, lost her coat!

GOELLER'S

Wallpaper and Paint Store

Successor to

Patterson Paint Store

PITTSBURGH PAINTS

230 Main Phone 1045

3128 S. W.

Washington St.

Portland, Oregon

—IMPORTER OF ORIENTAL RUGS—

Take advantage of this unique opportunity for rug owners and admirers of fine Oriental rugs. For a few days only Mr. Dinhanian will be at Kaufman's store to present his collection of fine rugs. He will also arrange to wash and renew your own treasured rugs.

BEAUTIFUL NEW PERSIAN RUGS

Presented in This Selection

You are cordially invited to inspect them. All are specially priced for this sale from

Renew and prolong the life of your Oriental rugs by having Mr. Dinhanian hand wash and clean them as only a native expert can. The new beauty of color and pattern after this process will amaze you. Mr. Dinhanian will be here and will be happy to advise you on the care of your fine rugs. Mr. Dinhanian is thoroughly equipped to repair and wash all rugs.

PELICAN AT COLLEGE

By JERRY O'CALLAGHAN

As the University of Oregon was fortunate in having Lawrence Tibbett on our campus last Friday evening for a concert, this writer's fraternity was even more fortunate in having Tibbett with them as a guest. Following his concert, where he thrilled 3000 students with his lustrous baritone, Tibbett visited the Phi Kappa Psi house for an informal gathering.

Highlight of his visit was his singing "The Road to Mandalay." From a purely personal view we say that hearing that famous singer pour his full dramatic power into that song was among the greatest thrills of our life. Tibbett's powerful voice depicting the longing of a Cockney soldier for India made an impression on the men in the house that will be with them to their last day.

As he sang, listeners realized Tibbett's entire soul was expressing itself through his song. By the smile on his face as he sang about "The Road to Mandalay," one would know that he was getting the greatest of enjoyment from his work.

Returning Tibbett's favor the entire group joined in singing traditional fraternity songs. One song which Tibbett praised highly was the sweetheart song of this chapter. As it was written by two men who were once in this chapter, Tibbett's praise was deeply appreciated.

After the singing Tibbett joined in a regular college ball session, even outtelling the college boys in jokes. Such standbys as "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Tell Me Old Pal of Mine" were sung as Tibbett entered into the spirit of fellowship.

Sitting in the senior chair by the fireplace Tibbett put all the boys at ease with his smile and informality of manner. His informality didn't extend to his clothes as he was still wearing the full dress suit he had worn at the concert. His reference to his full dress as "work clothes" brought forth much comment from the fraternity men.

Pressure of time brought Tibbett's visit to an end. He departed with a hearty handshake and a cheery smile for all as the young men sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The first serenade, even an impromptu one, is a thrill treasured by freshmen for years. Inspired by Tibbett's visit this writer's fraternity Friday night arranged a spur-of-the-moment serenade. The entire chapter assembled in the back yard to sing for the sorority directly across the "illrace."

A warm sensation ran through us from toe to head as 40 male voices rose in unison through the chill night air. The regular girls of the millrace added a deep harmony to the singing. As the first notes rang the girls stepped out onto their balcony to listen.

The serenade ends. Everything is still. The unending murmur of the millrace is the only sound. Only one with no emotions could fail to feel the spirit of that midnight serenade.

Singing is very popular on the campus. A house noted for its singing ranks high in estimation. Especially in the spring, all fraternities serenade, usually about midnight. These are no haphazard affairs. When organized correctly they are very beautiful.

SENATE ATTACKS WOOL DEALERS ON PRESSURE COUNT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Investigators for a special senate committee investigating wool marketing practices charged today that dealers were withholding information from their grower customers which would enable them to determine whether accounts were accurate.

They told the committee, headed by Senator Adams (D-Colo.), that few growers were aware that there was a "distinct obligation" on the part of the consignee to make available to the grower all transactions that took place in the handling of the fiber.

One of the investigators, Earl S. Haskell, also charged it was a prevailing practice among bankers in wool producing sections to use "pressure" on grower-borrowers to dispose of their wool through certain dealers. These dealers, Haskell continued, then would pay the bankers a commission for diverting the business their way.

Weather

Increasing cloudiness tonight with fog on the coast and light rain on extreme north coast; Tuesday generally cloudy with showers in north portion; cooler in interior Tuesday; moderate northwest wind off the coast.

OREGON—Showers tonight and Tuesday with snow over high mountains Tuesday; warmer in extreme east and southeast portions tonight; cooler in interior of south and east portion Tuesday; fresh south and southwest winds off the coast.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL A. RANDLES

Samuel A. Randles, a resident for the past 12 years, passed away at his late residence in this city on Friday, October 20. The deceased was a native of Boyd's Creek, Tennessee, and was aged 77 years and 18 days when called. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Roy Beal of this city; a brother, J. W. Randles of Louisville, Ky.; three grandchildren, Irene Campbell, Walter and Shirley Beck of this city; a great-grandson, Gordon Campbell, Jr., also of this city. The remains rest in Ward's Klamath funeral home, 925 High street, where friends may call. Notice of the funeral arrangements appear in this paper.

MONMOUTH, Ore., Oct. 23 (UP)—Final registration at the Oregon college of education here showed there were 479 students enrolled, an increase over last year of 8.1 per cent. There are 342 women and 137 men registered.

APPROVAL OF WOOD SPUD BOX ASSURED

REDMOND, Oct. 23 (Special)—Legalization of the wooden box as a shipping container for potatoes in this state seems assured as a result of the hearing held in Redmond, Thursday, at which representative growers, merchants and potato dealers of this district spoke in favor of the proposed receptacle.

No objections to the wooden box were voiced at the hearing, which was conducted by Frank McKenon of the state department of agriculture, Don Peoples, secretary of the Bend chamber of commerce, and P. M. Houk, president of the Redmond chamber, expressed a favorable opinion regarding the idea.

Market Angle Cited

Rasmus Petersen, Plainview grower, said he believed the wooden box offered a good opportunity for marketing potatoes, particularly No. 1's. J. W. Schunk and A. H. Helmholtz, Redmond growers also spoke in favor of the use of boxes. J. R. Roberts of Redmond and Carl Erickson of Bend, merchants, favored use of

IDAHO GRANGERS PROTEST GRAIN RATES TO PACIFIC

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 23 (AP)—State Grange Master E. T. Taylor of Coeur D'Alene said here last night the Idaho grange had filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against all railroads in Idaho, Oregon and California, asking a "reduction on westbound rates on grain and grain products to Pacific coast points."

"Idaho is an export state and suffers from freight rates higher per ton mile than in any other state," Taylor asserted.

He charged also the state was "being discriminated against" by carriers and refiners of gasoline, an "absolute need to Idaho farmers."

The state grange, he added, would do "a lot of thinking and acting" on a program to reduce freight rates when it convenes Oct. 30 at Idaho Falls.

Many groups along with the proficiency of glue clubs.

An old-fashioned torchlight parade, streamlined with autos and a public address system was a feature of last week's freshman class election. Pretty coeds with banners supporting a bloc's candidate were very much in evidence.

PELICAN AT COLLEGE

By JERRY O'CALLAGHAN

As the University of Oregon was fortunate in having Lawrence Tibbett on our campus last Friday evening for a concert, this writer's fraternity was even more fortunate in having Tibbett with them as a guest. Following his concert, where he thrilled 3000 students with his lustrous baritone, Tibbett visited the Phi Kappa Psi house for an informal gathering.

Highlight of his visit was his singing "The Road to Mandalay." From a purely personal view we say that hearing that famous singer pour his full dramatic power into that song was among the greatest thrills of our life. Tibbett's powerful voice depicting the longing of a Cockney soldier for India made an impression on the men in the house that will be with them to their last day.

As he sang, listeners realized Tibbett's entire soul was expressing itself through his song. By the smile on his face as he sang about "The Road to Mandalay," one would know that he was getting the greatest of enjoyment from his work.

Returning Tibbett's favor the entire group joined in singing traditional fraternity songs. One song which Tibbett praised highly was the sweetheart song of this chapter. As it was written by two men who were once in this chapter, Tibbett's praise was deeply appreciated.

After the singing Tibbett joined in a regular college ball session, even outtelling the college boys in jokes. Such standbys as "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Tell Me Old Pal of Mine" were sung as Tibbett entered into the spirit of fellowship.

Sitting in the senior chair by the fireplace Tibbett put all the boys at ease with his smile and informality of manner. His informality didn't extend to his clothes as he was still wearing the full dress suit he had worn at the concert. His reference to his full dress as "work clothes" brought forth much comment from the fraternity men.

Pressure of time brought Tibbett's visit to an end. He departed with a hearty handshake and a cheery smile for all as the young men sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The first serenade, even an impromptu one, is a thrill treasured by freshmen for years. Inspired by Tibbett's visit this writer's fraternity Friday night arranged a spur-of-the-moment serenade. The entire chapter assembled in the back yard to sing for the sorority directly across the "illrace."

A warm sensation ran through us from toe to head as 40 male voices rose in unison through the chill night air. The regular girls of the millrace added a deep harmony to the singing. As the first notes rang the girls stepped out onto their balcony to listen.

The serenade ends. Everything is still. The unending murmur of the millrace is the only sound. Only one with no emotions could fail to feel the spirit of that midnight serenade.

Singing is very popular on the campus. A house noted for its singing ranks high in estimation. Especially in the spring, all fraternities serenade, usually about midnight. These are no haphazard affairs. When organized correctly they are very beautiful.

SENATE ATTACKS WOOL DEALERS ON PRESSURE COUNT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Investigators for a special senate committee investigating wool marketing practices charged today that dealers were withholding information from their grower customers which would enable them to determine whether accounts were accurate.

They told the committee, headed by Senator Adams (D-Colo.), that few growers were aware that there was a "distinct obligation" on the part of the consignee to make available to the grower all transactions that took place in the handling of the fiber.

One of the investigators, Earl S. Haskell, also charged it was a prevailing practice among bankers in wool producing sections to use "pressure" on grower-borrowers to dispose of their wool through certain dealers. These dealers, Haskell continued, then would pay the bankers a commission for diverting the business their way.

Weather

APPROVAL OF WOOD SPUD BOX ASSURED

REDMOND, Oct. 23 (Special)—Legalization of the wooden box as a shipping container for potatoes in this state seems assured as a result of the hearing held in Redmond, Thursday, at which representative growers, merchants and potato dealers of this district spoke in favor of the proposed receptacle.

No objections to the wooden box were voiced at the hearing, which was conducted by Frank McKenon of the state department of agriculture, Don Peoples, secretary of the Bend chamber of commerce, and P. M. Houk, president of the Redmond chamber, expressed a favorable opinion regarding the idea.

Market Angle Cited

Rasmus Petersen, Plainview grower, said he believed the wooden box offered a good opportunity for marketing potatoes, particularly No. 1's. J. W. Schunk and A. H. Helmholtz, Redmond growers also spoke in favor of the use of boxes. J. R. Roberts of Redmond and Carl Erickson of Bend, merchants, favored use of

IDAHO GRANGERS PROTEST GRAIN RATES TO PACIFIC

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 23 (AP)—State Grange Master E. T. Taylor of Coeur D'Alene said here last night the Idaho grange had filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against all railroads in Idaho, Oregon and California, asking a "reduction on westbound rates on grain and grain products to Pacific coast points."

"Idaho is an export state and suffers from freight rates higher per ton mile than in any other state," Taylor asserted.

He charged also the state was "being discriminated against" by carriers and refiners of gasoline, an "absolute need to Idaho farmers."

The state grange, he added, would do "a lot of thinking and acting" on a program to reduce freight rates when it convenes Oct. 30 at Idaho Falls.

Many groups along with the proficiency of glue clubs.

An old-fashioned torchlight parade, streamlined with autos and a public address system was a feature of last week's freshman class election. Pretty coeds with banners supporting a bloc's candidate were very much in evidence.

PELICAN AT COLLEGE

By JERRY O'CALLAGHAN

As the University of Oregon was fortunate in having Lawrence Tibbett on our campus last Friday evening for a concert, this writer's fraternity was even more fortunate in having Tibbett with them as a guest. Following his concert, where he thrilled 3000 students with his lustrous baritone, Tibbett visited the Phi Kappa Psi house for an informal gathering.

Highlight of his visit was his singing "The Road to Mandalay." From a purely personal view we say that hearing that famous singer pour his full dramatic power into that song was among the greatest thrills of our life. Tibbett's powerful voice depicting the longing of a Cockney soldier for India made an impression on the men in the house that will be with them to their last day.

As he sang, listeners realized Tibbett's entire soul was expressing itself through his song. By the smile on his face as he sang about "The Road to Mandalay," one would know that he was getting the greatest of enjoyment from his work.

Returning Tibbett's favor the entire group joined in singing traditional fraternity songs. One song which Tibbett praised highly was the sweetheart song of this chapter. As it was written by two men who were once in this chapter, Tibbett's praise was deeply appreciated.

After the singing Tibbett joined in a regular college ball session, even outtelling the college boys in jokes. Such standbys as "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Tell Me Old Pal of Mine" were sung as Tibbett entered into the spirit of fellowship.

Sitting in the senior chair by the fireplace Tibbett put all the boys at ease with his smile and informality of manner. His informality didn't extend to his clothes as he was still wearing the full dress suit he had worn at the concert. His reference to his full dress as "work clothes" brought forth much comment from the fraternity men.

Pressure of time brought Tibbett's visit to an end. He departed with a hearty handshake and a cheery smile for all as the young men sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The first serenade, even an impromptu one, is a thrill treasured by freshmen for years. Inspired by Tibbett's visit this writer's fraternity Friday night arranged a spur-of-the-moment serenade.