SOCIAL SECURITY FORMS RECEIVED

Official forms for taking applications of persons entitled to monthly payments under the federal old-age and survivors insurance program of the social security act are now available at the Klamath Falls office of the social security board, Wesley Hayes, local manager, announces.

"These forms are very simple and are designed to speed up the clearance of applications both in the field and at Washington headquarters where final approval is made," Hayes said. "Furthermore, this office will provide all assistance necessary in executing the application and no outside help is required."

The application for a primary benefit to a worker who is now 65 or more includes only eight questions. If the retiring worker has a wife of age 65, she will also file an application which includes only seven questions. The benefit to the dependent wife is one half that paid to the husband. A similar form would be filed by a dependent child of the worker if the child is under age 18, or under 18 and attending school.

The amended social security act also includes monthly benefits for the surviving widow and children of a worker who dies after December 31. Forms are available for these benefits, but no application for such benefits can be accepted until January 3. If a worker dies previous to that time a lump sum payment will be made to the widow or near family relatives.

The local social security board office is located at 611 Medical-Dental building.

FEDERAL AGENTS INVESTIGATE HOME OF RED AT BEND

PORTLAND, Dec. 13 (AP)—Federal agents visited Bend yesterday to investigate the business and life of Nicholas Dozenberg, held in the county jail here for New York on charges of passport irregularities.

It was indicated they might seize motion picture films which Dozenberg, known in Bend as Nicholas Dallant, often showed to friends. Dozenberg, claimed by Thomas F. Fitch of the department of state to be a ranking communist, operated a grocery store in the central Oregon city where he was arrested Saturday.

aw shucks.... shoot the works give him a SUIT!

TIMELY CLOTHES

Give him the one gift that inspires poise, pleasure and pride, and watch the package produce a fourteen carat grin when he opens it Christmas morning... Lady, he'll love you forever!

Long after the gadgets are gone and the doodads are done, the gift of a suit, topcoat or tuxedo will still be giving service and the man in your life will be thanking you every time he wears it. Get the family in a huddle and combine your resources to make this grandest gift success possible.

Our staff is manned by experts who can help you with the size, style and pattern and we won't let him wear it if it doesn't fit. Alterations, of course, can be made when convenient to him. And do come in while there is plenty of peace and elbow room.
