

STORM LISTED AS ACCIDENT CAUSE

Seven minor automobile accidents, all resulting from the icy pavement and poor visibility during the weekend storm, have been reported to the sheriff's office. Although some damage resulted to the cars, no one was injured.

Cars driven by Morris House, route 2, box 234, and Thomas Boyd Codrington, route 1, box 434-A, figured in an accident Monday evening at the intersection of highway and Summers lane. Driving in thick fog, the House auto reportedly struck the rear of the other machine.

J. A. Verlings, 160 Lewis street, reported that the car he was driving struck a highway sign at South Sixth street and Altamont drive Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Saturday evening a car driven by L. J. McKenna, Burton lane, figured in a minor accident with another machine whose driver's name was unreported. The accident occurred on South Sixth street.

A minor accident involving a truck driven by Floyd Jones, 524 Main street, and a car driven by Ora F. Arnett, Klamath Falls, occurred Monday at 8 p. m. on the county road at Anderson corner.

At Altamont Junction and the highway, a truck driven by Edna Mae Young, route 1, box 328, and a car driven by Mrs. Eva Peterson, Lakeview, collided in an accident attributed to slippery pavement.

F. M. Marshall, Beatty, and a Mr. Thomas were drivers of cars which figured in a minor accident Monday at 1:30 p. m. on the Walker-Hovey logging road near Beatty. The cars met at the crest of a hill and were unable to avoid a collision due to slippery road.

Louis Love, Junction station, and Lester Johnson, route 2, box 620, were involved in an accident Monday afternoon on highway 66 near Weyerhaeuser junction, caused by dense fog.

FORESTRY BOARDER LIKES SCENERY

PORTLAND, Dec. 13 (AP)—If a choice had to be made between Oregon's timber resources and scenery, Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York would take the scenery.

The member of the joint congressional forestry policy committee told the Portland chamber of commerce "Oregon's scenic beauty is not as well advertised as it ought to be—it should bring a flood of tourist dollars, not to mention its great spiritual value."

The body was discovered outside 100 feet from the doorway. Dr. Osgood concluded that the man, known to have been an asthma sufferer, failed to find the medicine and ran into the open air and collapsed.

LUMBER TRADE OFF SINCE SEPTEMBER

PORTLAND, Dec. 13 (AP)—The lumber market continued to settle in November from last September's buying wave, the West Coast Lumbermen's association reported today.

Weekly orders averaged 20.1 per cent below October. The October average was 23.6 below September. The association said the letdown was seasonal and probably would extend into January.

An association bulletin said, however, "There has been a resumption of building in California since defeat of the 'ham and eggs' proposal. . . . Lumber movements to California, however, have been adversely affected by waterfront strikes in the San Francisco bay area." The weekly average of west coast production in November was 133,492,000 board feet, or 67.8 per cent of the 1926-29 weekly average. Orders averaged 102,675,000 feet, shipments 119,785,000 feet.

Cumulative production in the first 48 weeks of 1939 was 5,954,279,000 board feet, compared with 4,766,165 feet in the same period of 1938.
