WORK STARTS ON WATER SYSTEM FOR PELICAN CITY

Work has started on the Pelican city water extension project. It was announced at the California Oregon Power company offices. Cost of the project, which will replace the private water systems now in use, is estimated at $8800.

The new pipeline, consisting of 2400 feet of six-inch line and 675 feet of two-inch pipe, will provide 23 new services, including 16 residences and seven commercial services.

The project was made necessary because of the undesirable quantity of the old private Pelican City water supplies, made up largely of wells. The water had a heavy iron content.

The project will be completed about the middle of January.

Forecast for the weekend is "cooler and unsettled."
