

LUMBER TRADE IN 1939 GOOD, MILLMEN SAY

SEATTLE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The West Coast Lumbermen's association looked back today on the year 1939 and called it a good one.

Pointing out that the December market saw a recovery from the curtailed buying which followed the "buying hysteria" of September, the association went on in its monthly report to say: "For west coast lumber, 1939 brought the best market since 1930. Net orders for the year totaled 6,699,000,000 board feet, as compared with 5,458,000,000 in 1938 and 5,911,000,000 in 1937.

The year's production also topped the records since 1930, with a total cut of 6,427,000,000 feet—substantially more than in 1938 and slightly more than in 1937.

Looking ahead to the coming months, the association said business usually follows the curve of general business and that home building, still on the uprise, gave an occasion for optimism.

"The forecasts of statistical agencies indicate a continued, gradual rise in home building; a decrease in public construction; a partially offsetting increase in private, commercial and industrial construction. No appreciable effect of the war upon the lumber market is yet apparent.

"West coast lumber expects to go on making its bread and butter by harvesting its trees for the building of homes in the United States."

Of the December-November comparison, these figures were given:

Production—Weekly December average, 118,168,000 board feet; November, 133,492,000 board feet.

Orders—Weekly December average, 115,444,000 board feet; November, 102,675,000 board feet.

Shipments—Weekly December average, 113,489,000 board feet; November, 119,785,000 board feet.

At the end of the year, the industry's unfilled order file stood at 482,187,000 board feet, with gross stocks of 930,000,000 board feet. The orders for the entire year were broken down as follows: rail, 2,787,019,000 board feet; domestic cargo, 2,528,802,000 board feet; export, 421,671,000 board feet; local, 962,091,000 board feet.

Chief of Health Cites Low Death Rate During 1938

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the U. S. public health service reported tonight that the nation's death rate during 1938 was the lowest in history and that our general health is good but he warned that precautions must be taken to keep out epidemics which usually follow in the wake of wars.

His annual report covering the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939, said that the mortality rate for the 1938 calendar year dropped to 20.6 per 1000 persons compared to 11.2 in 1937 and 10.7 in 1933, the previous low.

SECOND MAJOR VICTORY WON ON EAST FRONT

halt the red invasion, with 5000 square miles, one 48th of Finland, in Russian hands after 40 days of fighting.

The Russian command, emulating ski patrol tactics which the outnumbered Finns have used with slashing success, was said by the Finnish high command to have lost the outstanding engagement in the guerrilla fighting that has prevailed over the weekend.

The high command communique reviewing Saturday's operations said that in the Sala sector of the central eastern front "an attempt by an enemy ski detachment to outflank our troops was defeated.

"The bodies of more than 300 enemy dead remained on the field, together with 14 machine guns and other material."

(Dispatches reaching Stockholm from the Sala sector highlighted the rigors of warfare there in the icy wilderness just above the arctic circle.

(A Finnish patrol was reported to have come upon a Russian outpost, protected by barbed-wire in the drifted snow. The Finns were amazed at the silence of their enemy's guns as the patrol inched closer. The Finns, it was said, finally closed in on the silent outpost and found the entire force 150 men, frozen to death.)

AID PROMISED FOR TULE LAKE PROJECT

but at the last minute it was cut out by request from the White House, along with something like forty millions more that had been agreed to, and the budget agreed to by the legislature. Just one of those things I could not help. Neither could any other member of congress.

"We are going to do our level best to put this back in the appropriation committee. We hope to do it. Whether we can remains to be seen. We have the laboring oar.

"I thought after the congress was in session, two or three weeks from now, I would go down and have a really personal talk with the president, and show him the necessity of taking care of the dust menace which is so seriously affecting thousands of the good citizens of Klamath county. If I can get him to see the necessity, then he can pass the word to his budget officer, and the road will be open. There is a terrific drive being made to keep down appropriations for civic activities, and increase them for the army and navy.

"When I saw that the budget did not mention the sump appropriations, I was one of the most disappointed men in Washington.

"Sincerely yours,
"Walter M. Pierce, M. C."

He served as justice of the peace at Crescent for the past two years and for more than five years has been affiliated with the northern Klamath county mills as millwright and carpenter. JUDGE'S SPEECH DRAWS INTEREST Political interest continued Monday directed on the speech of Circuit Judge Edward B. Ashurst, to be delivered at 7:15 p. m. at the circuit court room, with the county grand jury out to hear it. The judge, however, evidently intended that his audience should include more than the seven jurors, who were called in for a night session, the first of its kind held here in years.

Judge Ashurst has indicated his remarks will touch on matters of interest to people "engaged in railroad transportation" and that he will praise recent utterances of Governor Sprague.

557 JUVENILE CASES LISTED IN PAST YEAR

The Klamath county juvenile offices handled 557 cases in 1939, according to the annual report compiled by Phyllis Corbett, juvenile worker, for Circuit Judge Edward B. Ashurst.

New cases handled totaled 299 and 258 were held over from the previous year.

Delinquent and predelinquent children cases aggregated 234.

Of the cases handled by the juvenile worker, approximately 60 per cent were boys and 40 per cent girls. Indian children represented about 23 per cent of the total.

There were 47 circuit court hearings in the year, 34 being delinquent cases and 13 dependent. In her December report, Miss Corbett shows that there were 53 Klamath juveniles in the custody of state or state-aided institutions in that month. Sixteen children were in private homes within the county, and 10 were in custody of the Boys and Girls Aid society of Portland. Twenty-three juveniles were on parole and 13 on probation.

MACK HERD STILL TOPS COUNTY LIST

Report of Tom Fitzgerald, tester for the Klamath Dairy Herd Improvement association, just received at the county agent's office, shows that Earl Mack's herd is still in the lead, this herd of 36 Jerseys averaging 648 pounds of milk and 35.4 pounds butterfat for the month. The report shows that four herds were on test numbering 240 cows, which produced 128,258 pounds milk, containing 5,544.2 pounds butterfat for the 30-day period. Thirty-seven cows produced over 40 pounds of fat. Average production for the entire association was 534 pounds milk and 24.4 pounds fat.

High cow for the month also was in the Earl Mack herd, a Jersey producing 1265 pounds of milk and 73.4 pounds of fat. Second high cow was also in this herd with production of 1376 pounds milk with a content of 71.6 pounds butterfat.

DON HAMLIN WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

Don F. Hamlin, democratic nominee two years ago for district attorney and mentioned this year in connection with the circuit judge race, on Monday declared he has no intentions to run for any political office in 1940.

Hamlin made the following statement:

"In recent issues of The Evening Herald and The News regarding political developments, my name was mentioned as being a possible candidate for circuit judge.

"It is my wish to definitely settle any rumor of this kind.

"Since my campaign for district attorney last year, I have confined myself strictly to my law practice and such is my intention during the political year of 1940.

"I, therefore, wish to state that I shall not be a candidate for circuit judge, nor for district attorney, nor for any other political office, regardless of the wishes of well-meaning friends.

"Dated January 8, 1940.
"DON F. HAMLIN."

LETTER OPPOSES SECURITIES TAX

Ruth Olds Bathiany, Klamath Falls city treasurer, received a copy of a statement which H. E. Riley, commissioner of finance of the city Portland and state chairman of the Municipal Finance Officers association, has issued to city treasurers throughout the state.

In reading over the letter which has to deal with suggestions of U. S. Senator Brown, that the federal deficit could be balanced by taxing state and municipal securities, Mrs. Bathiany said she was in hearty accord with Commissioner Riley and felt that "the cities have carried such heavy burdens the past few years that they would be unable to carry on under additional taxation."

Following is Commissioner Riley's letter:

"It has come to my attention that U. S. Senator Brown has suggested that the federal deficit could be balanced by taxing state and municipal securities. Senator Brown made the statement in Washington, D. C., yesterday that such a tax would raise a half billion dollars in the next fiscal year.

"This is ridiculously absurd, in view of the estimates of the federal treasury department experts, who have estimated that the maximum amount that could be derived from this source at the end of a fifty-year period would be only $200,000,000.00.

"State and municipal officials dispute this estimate and state that it is high considering the present issues outstanding and the policy of governmental bodies to retrench and not issue bonds in the future.

"U. S. treasury officials themselves have said that revenue aspects are relatively unimportant. Senator Brown is either not informed or wrongly informed. The majority of his own committee does not support his view. Surely the now overburdened taxpayer on city property should not have real property taxed to support an unbalanced federal budget."

FINNISH RELIEF BOARD TO MEET

Members of the Finnish Relief Fund committee, appointed last week by Mayor Clifton Richmond, will meet promptly at 7 o'clock tonight in the mayor's offices in the city hall.

Plans will be made for a benefit, it is understood. Chairman of the committee is C. E. Carlson, active in Scandinavian circles here.
