Mrs. Weiser suffered a back injury, her husband and child facial injuries and bruises.

A touch of winter greeted Klamath residents as they rolled out of bed and saw frost on sidewalks and on cars which had remained out all night.

The US weatherman reported a minimum temperature reading of 29, lowest of the week.

Forecast for the next few days, according to the official prognosticator, is for "unsettled weather."

SAFETY TALKS BY RANGERS SLATED

A series of safety talks, directed at winter sports fans and especially skiers, are being promoted by rangers of Crater Lake national park over the air. Chief Ranger Carlisle Crouch said Thursday he would drive to Medford to present the snowcast and give another safety talk over KMD at 12:05 p. m. The snowcast is obtained each Friday from the soil conservation association. Ranger W. T. Frost from the park will present the broadcast from the local station and continue with the safety talks.

PANSIES PICKED IN LOCAL GARDEN

"June in January." That's what Mrs. A. B. Wade of Ninth and Oak streets thought Thursday morning when she picked a cluster of pansies from her garden.

Other gardeners in the city have reported fruit trees ready to burst their buds, grape hyacinths poking their leaves through the ground and other bulbs acting in a most peculiar manner for this time of the year. In several Klamath Falls homes over the New Year holidays hostesses exhibited flowers picked from still blooming gardens.

BREAKABLE CRUST ON SNOW AT PARK

Winter sports fans were advised Thursday morning by Chief Ranger Carlisle Crouch that within the past 24 hours an additional seven and one-half inches of snow had fallen making a total of 31 inches on the level. The snow is covered with a breakable crust inasmuch as some rain fell with the snow.

This type of snow, Crouch pointed out, is "very tricky for skiing," and sports would probably not be as good this weekend as last unless a heavy blanket of fresh snow falls.

Visibility at the park was good, it was partly cloudy but fairly clear. Minimum temperature was 27 degrees, maximum 29. The roads are plowed out, in good condition but slippery.

NO ADVANCE SALE PLANNED FOR FINN BENEFIT MOVIE

There will be no advance sale of tickets to the benefit performance of "Intermezzo," presented by the Klamath theatre at the Polican on Tuesday, January 15 for the Finnish relief fund, however, all proceeds from the afternoon and two evening shows will be turned over to C. E. Carlson, relief chairman. It was announced by Mrs. Rose M. Poole.

A plea has been issued by Finnish relief fund committee members asking Klamath residents to attend one of the three performances in order that the local donation to the worthy cause be an outstanding one. Stars of the picture are Ingrid Bergman, Swedish actress who is making her American debut in "Intermezzo," and Leslie Howard, screen favorite. Special features to be presented that night will be announced later.
