

MR. DONALD ROGERS

MR. RICHARD NASH

SOCIETY

By Lois Stewart

MR. FRED PETERSON JR.

Home Again

WHAT! NO BELLES! NO SMILING BRIDES IN TRAILING WHITE! No debutantes! No chubby cherubs!

Indeed not. Today's page is dedicated to those three intrepid explorers of these United States of America — Mr. Fred Peterson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson of Summers Lane; Mr. Richard Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nash, and Mr. Donald Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers, all of Klamath Falls.

The three left the middle of the summer to do just what the bear did when he went over the mountain — to see what he could see. Leaving San Francisco they motored by way of Salt Lake City, on to Chicago, then up into Canada. From there to Niagara Falls, to Boston and to New York City where they stayed for several weeks, saw a few Klamath Falls people and incidentally the New York World's fair.

Then on south where they spent Thanksgiving having an out-of-door dinner and a swim at Miami. From Florida the three drove through the old south and spent Christmas day in Albuquerque, New Mexico. They arrived home, toasting their toes by home firesides, January the tenth.

Voted the most fascinating stop on the trip — New York City and the fair.

Voted the most beautiful place in America—upper New York state and western Massachusetts. It was early fall and the eastern groves of trees were a riot of reds, yellows, browns and bronze.

Voted the worst roads in the country—the off-the-beaten path they took through Death valley in southern California.

Voted the grandest place in all the world — Oregon!

Mr. Rogers, Mr. Nash and Mr. Peterson are Oregon State college students who chose a year's travel in preference to a year's perusal of books. Now they are open for engagements on that timely topic, "See America First."

A BUSY SOCIAL CALENDAR IS SCHEDULED for Klamath Falls people that do things! Looking over the list of events, which includes many worthwhile benefits, there are parties galore ranging from bridge to ping pong.

This Saturday was busy with the Doernbecher benefit at the Willard, followed by the President's birthday ball at the armory.

This coming week the outstanding events include the three lectures of The Kibitzer at the Willard and sponsored by the Reames Golf and Country club auxiliary; the appearance of St. Olaf choir at the Pelican theatre, and the Lioness benefit bridge party at the Willard next Saturday, February the third.

The Finnish benefit dance planned for Saturday, February the tenth, is of interest to a great many people and next on the program is the Easter Monday benefit party given by the Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

The Hawaiian tea in the parish house, another Guild event, is planned for April the seventeenth, quite a while away, 'tis true, but of interest nevertheless.

St. Valentine's day will see many informal parties as it is a perfectly delightful time to entertain in the opinion of many hostesses.

All pictures by Kennell-Elle.