

The Evening Herald

HERALD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Publishers

FRANK JENKINS
MALCOLM EPLEY

Published every afternoon except Sunday by The Herald Publishing Company of Euphrates and Pine Streets, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Entered as second class matter of the postoffice at Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 30, 1906 under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of reproduction of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of reproduction of special dispatches are also reserved.

Represented Nationally by West-Headline Co., Inc.

San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Seattle, Chicago, Portland, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Vancouver, B. C. Copies of The News and Herald, together with complete information about the Klamath Falls market, may be obtained by the making at any of these offices.

Delivered by Carrier in City

One Month	$.75
Three Months	$ 2.25
Six Months	$ 4.00
One Year	$ 7.50

MAIL RATES PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

Three Months	$ 2.25
Six Months	$ 4.00
One Year	$ 7.50

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION

SIDE GLANCES

"Mother, come quick! I've just caught a train robber!"

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) — Mr. Roosevelt's left-labor variety of ghosts is in turmoil seeking revision of the national labor relations board set up to be offered before the Smith investigation sweeps out more of the board than they want to lose.

The legislative end of the ban-against business is being handled by Representatives Ramspeck of Georgia and Cochran of Missouri. The moving downtown spirit in the affair is the nebulous Mr. Tommie Corcoran.

FDR's strategy on the labor board was to change the membership of the board right after the Smith hearings began in order to take the heat off. He was going to get rid of both Edwin Smith and Madden, one of whom, Madden, was to have been escalated to a judgeship. This plan had the support of certain senators favorable to the CIO. He would have appointed two new members and then said, probably in a speech, or at a press conference, or through a third party (Madame Perkins or a congressman as has been done frequently before in certain cases): the board has made some mistakes, but now we have a new board. Let's give it a chance.

The plan went awry probably because the material was not prepared fast enough and the opening blast from the Smith committee came too fast.

German plans of attack for the invasion of Belgium, would indicate on its face that Hitler thought perhaps the British did not believe sufficiently the secret plans which the earlier disabled German aviator had landed for Belgian scrutiny. Salient basic fact behind these heaven-sent discoveries to the British and Belgians is that every military organization in the world, including the Russian, has a including-requiring army aviators to remove before flights from their persons and planes any possible information that would be of value to the enemy.

Second salient fact is that Germany does not want to keep the neutrals in a state of alarm. As long as neutrals are pacified and feel safe, Germany can pry needed raw materials, products, and exchange, etc. from them. It's the British game to keep the blockade tight along the neutral as well as the war front. The British will have to get a better story pretty soon, and it is suggested here that they start finding these secret German plans in the bullrushes. After all Pharaoh's daughter got away with it.

Cozy Slippers Fun to Crochet

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Warm Slippers and Bedsocks Crocheted in Two Colors

Pattern 6613

You'll love crocheting and owning these angora-trimmed slippers and French Zephyr bedsocks with soft roll tops. Pattern 6613 contains instructions for making these in any size; illustrations of them and stitches; photograph of pattern stitches; materials needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts department, Klamath Falls. Be sure to write in any size; illustrations of them and stitches; photograph of pattern stitches; materials needed.

Europe Has a Choice

THERE are two schools of thought in the field of European power politics these days. One group insists that peace is in the offing and that the flowers will bloom in the spring, tra-la. The other faction is equally adamant in its contention that the present lull in the western war is just the calm before the storm, and that action will begin with a vengeance, come the vernal equinox.

General European peace doesn't seem to be within easy reach at the moment. But after the quaint tricks that have been pulled in European politics during the past few years, nothing seems impossible. There's nothing in the world to stop Europe's rulers from having peace, if they really want it. If they asked their peoples, they would get a decisive answer.

Americans aren't supposed to butt their heads into Europe's affairs. We're supposed to mind our own business. It isn't considered good manners to interfere when the man next door quarrels with his wife, even when he starts beating her. Yet, if somebody didn't stop the argument, the entire community would soon get a bad taste in its mouth. After all, Americans do live in the same world with Europe—and we can't help it if we'd like to see the whole thing settled.

Crater Lake Progress

THIS week the Crater Lake Ski club inaugurates a membership campaign. The club deserves success in its effort to develop a strong membership interested in winter sports, either as active skiers or as persons who see the value of a vigorous winter sports program in this area.

The Crater Lake club has made rapid strides this year in the development of its program at Crater lake. Each weekend has seen an increased attendance of ski fans at the park, with 1148 visiting the area last Sunday.

Crater lake offers enormous opportunity for snow sports development. It has the potentialities of a "smash" attraction. It was opened to the public for winter use a few years ago when the "plow out the barriers" enterprise started in Klamath Falls bore fruit and the roads were opened for public travel. For a season or two previous to that, the roads had been plowed throughout the winter, but a barrier had been left at the entrance to keep the public out.

Now, the program at the park has shaped up to the point where a ski lift is to be installed. There are trails for novices and experts, and safety measures have been taken. Crater lake is coming into its own as a snow sports center of major importance, and those who join the Crater Lake Ski club will be helping to bring that about.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

AMONG children and young people, from the ages of five to 24, rheumatic infection is chiefly responsible for heart disease. Figures assembled from a great number of clinics indicate that only 10 per cent of heart disease cases at these ages can be traced to faulty structure of the heart at birth. Another 10 per cent is due to a variety of miscellaneous causes.

This means that fully 80 per cent of the cases in childhood and adolescence is related to rheumatic infection. Deaths from rheumatic heart disease do not occur very often in children under five years of age, and such deaths are not here considered.

Deaths due to rheumatic infection of the heart have tended to decline in recent years. It is interesting also to observe that the rates have been higher in the middle Atlantic and in some of the north central states than in New England. Rates in the southern states are lower than those for the rest of the country.

Strangely, Utah leads all the other states with the highest rate, followed by New York, New Jersey, Colorado, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Massachusetts.

This situation in Utah has been a puzzle for the epidemiologists. We have always believed that rheumatic heart disease occurs most frequently in a cold, damp climate and at low altitude, whereas Utah is not especially cold, or damp or low.

Situations like this in Utah indicate how much more research is needed before medicine can attack successfully the problem of rheumatic heart disease. Actually, we do not know the cause of rheumatic fever or of rheumatic heart disease. The condition is not apparently controllable by any of the new drugs of the sulfanilamide type that have been discovered although they are used in the treatment.

Nowadays it is possible to diagnose the disease earlier and with greater certainty than formerly; that means it is possible to get the patient to rest quicker which helps to save a few more cases.

Experts like O. F. Hedley, of the U. S. Public Health Service, have not been able to say with any certainty why there has been a decline in the death rates from rheumatic heart disease among young people. They suggest that the disease may be getting milder; that diagnosis is better; that widespread removal of tonsils during the last 25 years may have helped the original generation or the changing diet may have had something to do with it.

Enmity of Lewis Considered Asset

By John Garner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP) — Vice President John N. Garner has told friends that he considers the enmity of John L. Lewis his "greatest asset" in his campaign for the presidency. It was learned today.

Garner, who drew the CIO president's ire when he objected to sitdown strikes, was said to have commented that the "asset" has been depreciated somewhat by Lewis' attacks on President Roosevelt and Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt.

During testimony before the house labor committee last year, Lewis denounced Garner as a "whisky drinking, poker playing, labor hating, evil old man." Garner chuckled when he heard these words.

Recently, Lewis has criticized both the president and McNutt, saying that if Mr. Roosevelt won the democratic nomination, he would go down to "ignominious defeat."

"It wasn't very nice of the president and McNutt to try to deprive me of my greatest asset," Garner was quoted as telling friends.

Garner's differences with Lewis were in contrast to the friendliness between the CIO leader and Sen. Burton K. Wheeler. (D-Mont.), also mentioned as a possible democratic presidential nominee.

"We do not mean indefinitely to continue merely waiting for blows that may be struck. We hope the day will come when that job will be transferred to Herr Hitler. . . . There can be no turning back. . . . The haggard and hard-driven party regime which the nazis raised and reared from defeat and which may function for a while with terrible precision, but whether it has the same solidity

Telling The Editor

WHEELER'S CONTRADICTION KLAMATH FALLS — (To the Editor)—The development of a conscience as flexible as India rubber is necessary to success as a politician. He must learn the art of deceit and employ it so cleverly that a gullible public will swallow it and like it. In other words he must be an adroit demagogue, able to expand doctrines contrary to his own convictions with convincing earnestness, and to say without compunction, anything calculated to advance his own political ambitions. He must be a first-class humbug.

The above is prompted by a statement from Burton K. Wheeler, who has his eye on the presidency.

Wheeler does not believe it wise to break the third term tradition, and thinks that Roosevelt would be defeated should he be the democratic nominee, yet Senator Wheeler goes on to say that he will support the president in a third term endeavor.

Why did Senator Wheeler feel it politically expedient to say that he would support the president despite his own personal opposition to the breaking of the third term precedent? Why did he declare that he would act contrary to his honest conviction?

Because Senator Wheeler knows his politics. His declaration of support was bait for the Roosevelt votes in case he himself gets the nomination. Had he merely said that he was opposed to a third term and quit there, the statement might have been construed as opposing the president, but by qualifying it with a softening demagoguery he fixes the thing up in true political style.

Yes, the senator from Montana is personally opposed to third

TO AVOID TAX

The personal vim which house leaders are putting into their economy drive is being furnished by their unannounced intention to avoid the $460,000,000 tax measure which Mr. Roosevelt's budget would have forced on them. They think they can save $460,000,000 in which case the president would have no ground for requiring more taxes in a campaign year.

Their early action cutting $127,000,000 from the first two big appropriation bills and a couple of minor ones, indicates they may reach their $460,000,000 economy goal, but that may not end the argument.

The farm bloc is talking about at least $100,000,000 for parity payments (they authorized $23,000,000 this year) and Mr. Roosevelt is sure to require them to make deficiency appropriations which will increase his budget beyond the $3,400,000,000 limit.

The constant prediction in this spot that no tax increase will be authorized is daily gaining strengthening confirmation, and the whole fiscal issue is likely to wind up in a cloud of vagueness which will not be dispelled until after the presidential elections. Both the president and congress can and will put off the expenditures of the latter part of the fiscal year so a republican can handle them next January if he wins, or they can handle them without election pressure in case they are returned.

SECRET PLANS

Germany continues to drop her secret plans to her enemies upon the persons of disabled German aviators—if you believe the British propaganda minister, which few here do. The latest incident of a disabled German aviator landing in Scotland with new

Churchill Would 'Put to Proof' Hitler's Power

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 29 (UP)—First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill ignored three "We-want-peace" hecklers in a public speech Saturday and declared that the allied powers must "put to proof" the vaunted military power of Adolf Hitler's war machine.

"We hope that the day will come when Herr Hitler will be wondering where he is going to be struck next," Churchill said.

"We do not mean indefinitely to continue merely waiting for blows that may be struck. We hope the day will come when that job will be transferred to Herr Hitler. . . . There can be no turning back. . . . The haggard and hard-driven party regime which the nazis raised and reared from defeat and which may function for a while with terrible precision, but whether it has the same solidity

Ends Today — DAVID NIVEN in "RAFFLES" with Olivia DeHavilland

PINE TREE TOMORROW

IT'S SONJA'S SHOW OF SHOWS!!

SONJA HENTE
More Radiant...Dazzling... beautiful than ever before!

EVERYTHING HAPPENS At Night

LATEST THRILLING ISSUE
"MARCH OF TIME"
"CRISIS IN THE PACIFIC"

Ray MILLAND

STARTS THURSDAY!

OH-H-H-H!

The industry, the industry, with the fact behind their facts!

The cavalry, the artillery and the blundering engineers. Oh, they couldn't lick the industry in a hundred thousand years!

and HERE THEY ARE!

JAMES CAGNEY
as Private Phelan

PAY O'BRIEN
as Father Duffy

GEORGE BRENT
as "WIDE WIG" Deenan

THE FIGHTING 69TH

A picture as untrivial, as unobscure, as the regiment whose name it proudly bears!

WILLIAM REEDY
as "AWARDS" Deenan

WILLIAM REEDY
as "AWARDS" Deenan

PELICAN

ST. OLAF CHOIR

ST. OLAF COLLEGE, NORTHFIELD, MINN.

SPONSORED BY KLAMATH LUTHERAN CHURCH

Pelican Theatre

WED., JAN. 31, 8:15 P. M.

This is your opportunity to hear this world famous choir!

TICKETS MAY BE PURCHASED AND RESERVATIONS MADE AT BOX OFFICE

50c - 75c - $1

ALL SEATS RESERVED

BOX OFFICE ALL DAY MON., TUES., WED.

LAST CHILLY, THRILLY DAY!

"RETURN OF DR. X" WAYNE MORRIS

TOMORROW

HITCH-HIKERS TO HEAVEN!

A LONELY BOY AND A LOVELY GIRL... FIND THEIR JOURNEYS END ON THE WESTWARD TRAIL TO HAPPINESS!

"HEAVEN WITH A BARBED WIRE FENCE" with JEAN ROGERS, Raymond WALBURN, Marjorie RAMBEAU, GLEN FORD, NICHOLAS CONTE, EDDIE COLLINS, WARD BOND.

COMPANION HIT!
In New, Natural Color

THE Gentleman FROM ARIZONA

JOHN KING - J. FARRELL McDONALD
JOAN BARCLAY - CRAIG REYNOLDS
RUTH WELCH

VOX

NOW—Ends Tuesday

FLASH

CALL OUT THE MARINES
CALL OUT THE MILITIA!!
The Doctor had a BABY... and a BABY!

BROTHER RAT
THE BABY

Priscilla LANE
Jane BRYAN
Jane WYMAN
Wayne MORRIS
Eddie ALBERT
Ronald REAGAN
John K. GOOD

PELICAN

LAST DAY * CAGNEY AND RAFT "EACH DAWN I DIE"

TOMORROW

JANET GAYNOR

The sweetheart of "A Star is Born"... as a girl who can cuddle, kiss and cook!

Robt. MONTGOMERY

The star of "Yellow Jack"... as an author who learns about life... and love... from her!

FRANCHOT TONE

Here of "3 Comrades"... triumphant now in the season's gayest romantic hit!

"Three LOVES HAS NANCY"
GUY KIBBEE
CLAIRE DODD
REGINALD OWEN

RAINBOW