Circuit Judge Edward B. Ashurst disposed of all doubt about his political plans Wednesday when he announced for re-election to the position he now holds.

Judge Ashurst issued a statement, published elsewhere in this newspaper in advertisement form, outlining his policies in the conduct of his office and declaring his intention for the future.

The circuit judge is a native of Arizona. He practiced law in Klamath county a number of years after graduation from Willamette university law school and prior to his election in 1934 to the circuit judge bench. He has lived 25 years in the county.

Just before running for office in 1934, he was director of the Home Owners Loan corporation for this district.

His career as judge has been marked by repeated public declarations, mainly through grand jury instructions, against gambling.

Judge Ashurst is married and is the father of two sons, Aaron and Henry. Judge and Mrs. Ashurst make their home on Third street.

The judge is a brother of United States Senator Henry F. Ashurst.

NEW PEST CONTROL INSPECTOR NAMED

The county court Thursday appointed Harold B. Schieferstein as county pest control inspector, as of March 15. His salary will be not more than $150 a month.

Schieferstein has been here several years as a field supervisor under the agricultural conservation association.

In his new work he succeeds Eric Wold, who has taken a position as engineer with the park and monument service, located on the coast of Lane county.

saying their feats were "astonishing and beyond expectations," but reinforcements were lacking.

The public—which reacted to the peace with numb bewilderment—also was lauded by Tanner.

"The home front acted beautifully and the people's morale was praiseworthy," he said, under almost daily bombing attacks and other hardships of war.

Defensively, Tanner asserted: "The surrender is not our fault—it is the fault of our being forsaken by our fellow democracies."

Despite loss through the treaty of all the Karelin Isthmus, Vipuril, all the shores of Lake Ladoga, the strategic peninsula of Hanko on which Russia will put a naval base, and great chunks of land in the Arctic, Tanner said it was wisest to make peace while Finland's defenses remained "unbroken."

"The peace will be a heavy one," he added, "and our future possibilities of defense will be restricted." He added, however, that "Finland will once more arise to be a vital state and its people will find a means of sustenance."

"What kind of peace?" Tanner asked. "A severely wounded nation is surrendering important industrial and agricultural territories."

This, said the foreign minister, creates new responsibilities and makes a new building program necessary. He called for a united nation to carry out the reconsolidation.

which goes to Russia under the treaty, has been called the key to Leningrad's defense since Peter the Great founded Leningrad as St. Petersburg.

BERLIN, March 13 (AP)—Authorized German sources beamed with satisfaction today over the Russian-Finnish peace.

Its terms, they said, were "in just proportion to the sacrifices made and in just proportion to the needs and necessities which certain states in large 'living spaces' have a right to claim."

These sources also expressed opinion that the treaty, as signed at Moscow, constituted no danger to Finnish living space.

Authorized sources further held that conclusion of the peace marked failure of a so-called British-French attempt to extend the area of combat into Scandinavia.

They spoke with greatest disdain of "those buffoons" who thought at the last moment they could use Finland "the same way they used Poland."

"Fortunately," they added, "the Finns proved more sensible than the Poles. The whole affair is anything but honorable for England and France. These western powers totally miscalculated."

News Notes and Comment
By Bill Ganong

Friday, May 5, has been set as the date for this year's senior play, "June Mad." The cast for the performance hasn't been completely chosen yet but probably will be by the beginning of next week. The play is a three act comedy.

The turnouts for spring football and for track are to be held Wednesday, and the various aspirants to the baseball team can be seen playing catch on the lawns at noon, while the tennis team is practicing in the gym.

The ability of the various teams depends to quite an extent on what sort of weather we get in the next two months. If good weather prevails it means that the boys will be able to work in a lot of practice and get into form early in the season, but if we have to start wading through the snowdrifts every morning it means that the teams will get just that much less practice. Last year the track team didn't get in any really concentrated practice until just before the district meet.

Spring football practice is held to allow the coach to size up his material for the next fall season. All boys who are potential Pelican players are urged to turn out.

The long awaited Literary club party is scheduled for Friday night. As it is being jointly sponsored by the Literary club and the Social committee, student body tickets will admit.

Commenting on Bucharest reports that Berlin and Moscow would seek now to oust the allies from their advantageous contracts for Rumanian wheat and oil, Genevieve Tabouss wrote in the Paris newspaper L'Oeuvre that this move would be only the start of a Balkan campaign.

She said Germany and Russia would attempt "to obtain peacefully all possible advantage and to eject once and for all the French-English influence." She called the close of the Finnish war the signal for this effort.

waved a light signal at the oncoming automobile.

Judge Ashurst said to the jury, which heard the trial as far as it went, that "it is not for this court to change the rules of law as given by the supreme court," whether or not he agreed with them.

The Christenson case received unusual public attention due to motions for change of judge and venue, offered by the railroad on the basis of Judge Ashurst's recent remarks in a grand jury address in which he criticized railroads for allegedly attempting to control legislators with "retainers and honorariums."

On Tuesday, Judge Ashurst denied a railroad motion for a mistrial.

Howard McCulloch of Portland and William Kuykendall of Klamath Falls appeared for the railroad in the case. The plaintiff was represented by U. S. Balentine and Clarence Humble.

climax to the slayings, but it would have been impossible to have prevented it. We have had many similar cases before, and it is impossible to tell who is going to do it."

The state board of control, which supervises state institutions, said today it would make no investigation either of the slayings or Hill's death.

"The matter is being investigated by the civil authorities, and the board will go to bat for Dr. Evans at the next legislature to help him get additional facilities," Governor Charles A. Sprague, board chairman, said.

"However, such a tragedy could occur even in the best regulated institutions."

Dr. Evans said the slayings were the result of overcrowding and lack of sufficient attendants. The hospital houses 2700 patients and has a capacity of 2300.

overpowered by sheer weight of numbers and slain.

TRAVIS, the commander, knowing that to remain with his handful and defend the Alamo against Santa Ana's encircling thousands, daily reinforced by more thousands, meant certain death, made the decision to STAY (although it was still possible to slip away in the night) drew the fatal line in the dust, called for volunteers who were willing to stay and fight it out, saw his hero comrades step over to a car (except Bowie, who was carried in his bed) and remained with them to die.

THIS writer defies any American to stand in the Alamo, where all this happened, read the story there set forth with simple but soul-stirring realism, see the momentoes of the struggle that have been gathered together and remain dry-eyed and even of pulse.

It can't be done. Hard-boiled though you may think yourself to be, your eyes will blur, your heart will pound, the blood will rush to your brain and your fingers will curl instinctively as if fastening themselves in a final grip around Bowie's deadly knife while your muscles tense as if to raise a clubbed and empty rifle over your head in the last defense of these men whose indomitable spirits still haunt these walls.

If you doubt what is here said, try standing in the Alamo some day.
