

MRS. HAWKINS TO HEAD SEAL SALES

Mrs. Burt E. Hawkins who has accepted the position of Christmas seal sale chairman for 1940 for the Klamath County Public Health association, and Mrs. Agnes Bryan, principal of Mills school and membership chairman of the association, were elected official delegates to attend the state meeting of the Oregon Tuberculosis association at the monthly board meeting Tuesday evening at the health department.

The state meet is scheduled for April 2 and 3 at Bend with a number of interesting programs planned for the two days. The hope was expressed by officers of the Klamath association.

"Little Symphony"

The last of the winter series of musical evenings sponsored by the Klamath Cooperative Concert association will be held Saturday evening, March 23, in the Klamath Union high school when Barrere's "Little Symphony" will play to a capacity audience.

Barrere Hailed As One of World's Best Flute Players

Georges Barrere, who has been acclaimed the world's premiere virtuoso of the flute and who will appear here with his Little Symphony on Saturday night, March 23, at Klamath Union high school auditorium under the direction of The Klamath Cooperative Concert association, was born in Bordeaux, France. When a small child, he was taken to Paris by his parents, where he was brought up and educated. At the age of 13 he entered the National Conservatoire, studying first in the flute class of Henry Altes, later under Paul Taffanel. At the age of 19 he was graduated, winning first prize, after years during which he had combined arduous studies with positions at the Folies Bergere as first flute and at the Concerts de l'Opera as second flute. That year, too, he organized the first chamber ensemble of woodwinds, the Society Moderne d'Instruments a Vent. Appreciating its artistic importance, the government subsidized it and Barrere was made an officer of the French Academy. This organization was the seed of the Little Symphony which is famous throughout America today.

After filling various posts in the Colonne Orchestra and the Paris Opera, and teaching privately and at the Schola Cantorum, in 1905 Georges Barrere was invited by Walter Damrosch to come to this country to join the New York Symphony orchestra. Barrere accepted and remained with the orchestra practically without interruption until its merger with the Philharmonic in 1928, when he resigned in order to devote all his time to his solo engagements and work as conductor of his Little Symphony, and his activities with the Barrere-Britt "Concertino."

Much of the Tuesday night meeting was devoted to discussion of the association's next large project, a membership drive, scheduled to open on May 1, National Child Health day. The drive, to be conducted under the direction of Mrs. Bryan, has set a goal of 4000 new members.

Dr. P. H. Rozendal, county health officer, announced that all equipment for the dental clinic has been received and is ready for installation at the health department. Funds for the clinic, the first of its kind to be conducted here, have been donated by the health association, the city school district, the Soroptimist club and the now disorganized Pelican club that had a financial balance remaining when it ceased activities several years ago.

Coe Glade Widely Known for Interpretation of "Carmen"

Anticipation is keen as music lovers look forward to the appearance of the first grand opera to be heard in Klamath Falls when the San Carlo Grand Opera company presents Coe Glade in the title role of "Carmen" on Monday night, March 23, at the Pelican theatre. The opera comes here under the sponsorship of the Klamath Basin Cooperative Concert association. Tickets are available at both the chamber of commerce and Pelican theatre.

Coe Glade, the best of Carmens of the opera stage, is an American, born in Chicago. At the age of 18 Fortune Gallo sent her on tour with his San Carlo Opera company to study operatic roles; an unusual practice in the business of opera, as it necessitated the added expense of railroading and living expense of the young girl's mother as well. However, the astute grand opera producer soon learned that his judgment was correct as the unusual quality of her voice and exotic beauty of person, fascinated patrons of the opera house and critics predicted a great future for the young mezzo-soprano.

After two seasons with the San Carlo opera, Miss Glade was engaged for star roles with the Chicago Civic Opera company and was soon widely known as the greatest "Carmen" of the opera stage. Today, her sinuous embodiment of Carmen is not unknown in all parts of the country for wherever Bizet's "Carmen" is given Coe Glade is called to portray this most difficult of grand opera roles.

Fortune Gallo has engaged the exotic and glamorous prima donna to sing "Carmen" exclusively this season. Her characterization of Bizet's gypsy is a woman beautifully human and touchingly brave, even though, without doubt, shamelessly elemental in her preferences. Miss Glade believes Carmen should be queenly in carriage although she is frivolous in character—one to whom factory life meant as little as the love of men, yet with all her taunts, gibes, seductive arts and challenging graces—always in the grand manner. She thinks that Carmen died as she lived, bravely and without shame or misgiving.

"Carmen"

Coe Glade, the operatic beauty whose dark-hued voice has made her famous as the greatest of today's "Carmens," comes to the Pelican theatre Monday night, March 23, with the San Carlo Grand Opera company under the direction of the Klamath Cooperative Concert association.

STUDENT IGNITES ALCOHOL FUMES

SEATTLE, March 21 (UP)—When Theodore Beck Jr., 14-year-old grade school student, came to manual training class today he saw a partly-filled gallon can of denatured alcohol. He applied a lighted stick to the fumes just to "see what would happen."

The ensuing explosion ignited his clothing. Instructor William R. Kelly dashed into the room and extinguished the flames. Beck was taken to a hospital where authorities said he was in critical condition from body burns.

"It was my own fault," the boy observed sadly. "I was trying to be smart."
