

REFUGEES' PLIGHT IN NORWAY TOLD

(Editor's note: Gunnar Knuts-son succeeded in making his way from Sweden into embattled Norway in the narrow northern region where refugees are fleeing into the interior while German and allied forces draw battlelines near Trondheim, German-held port.)

By GUNNAR KNUTSSON
NEAR NAMSOS, Norway, May 1 (P)—The terrible plight of war refugees who have sought safety in the snow-covered mountains of central Norway is becoming more evident daily as cold, hunger and disease take their toll.

Adequate food and clothing is lacking for the refugees from the Namsos, Namdalen and Steinkjer areas. Among children and older persons illness is occurring with practically no medical aid or medicine available north of Trondheim.

Night Scenes
Tragic scenes are enacted nightly in the region when refugees slip down the mountains into valley communities to poke through the ashes of their homes seeking lost possessions.

Mountain huts, especially in the Namsos district, are so crowded with refugees that they wagons running in panic. Some sought refuge in cellars but most fled helter-skelter into the mountains without pausing to take along proper clothing to protect them against cold of the high altitudes.

The town's life went to pieces. It was reported no civilians were killed by the bombs, but none of the debris has been searched yet and inhabitants said it would be a marvel if no dead are found.

Food Short
Mountain peasants now are sharing their meager possessions with the refugees. Highly valued cows, pigs and even horses being slaughtered for food.

The shortage of flour, sugar and other imported food is acute. These supplies formerly came north from Trondheim which is in German hands. No possibility of aid from Sweden exists because of lack of transportation.

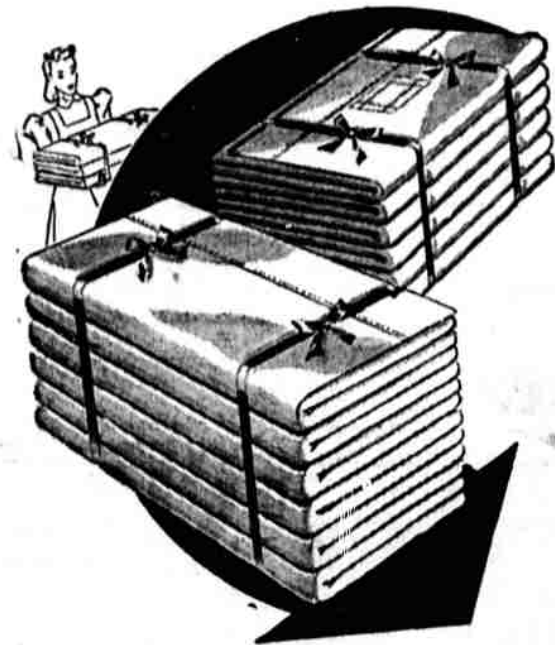

U. S. SUPPLYING NAZIS

LONDON, May 1 (UP)—The United States, through Russian imports, is providing Germany with important supplies of key war materials, Ronald Cross, minister of economic warfare, told the American chamber of commerce today.
