2. France and England always have opposed Mussolini's policies.

3. When the "Italian people asked for land to work they were offered deserts."

4. "Everything Italian, in domestic policy as well as in the international field, has been ostentatiously undervalued by the French and English."

5. "Democratic Europe, which has deprecated the Italian people, can only be fought. The Italian people have reached the limit of their patience. This war must solve territorial questions for the Italian people which are Nice, Corsica, Tunisia and Djibuti."

6. "The life of the Italian people is subject to French and English control. Italy must insure her independence on the sea."

Too Late

A report that former Premier Pierre Laval, of France, is in Rome trying to reach an Italo-French settlement persisted today, but, as always for the last month, it was denied in French circles.

Both the French and Italian officials remained silent on what negotiations have gone on between them but it was clear from authoritative Italian comment that French concessions were made too late.

The British and French are expected to issue a white paper on the negotiations with Italy whenever she enters the war.

Anti-aircraft artillery encircling Rome is being reinforced, officials disclosed.

Art Treasures

All Italian museums have been closed and emptied of their art treasures which, authorities said, will be packed away in safe places against air attacks.

Italians who formerly lived in Malta were said to be volunteering for service in "action groups" to regain that British island for Italy.

Stefani, official news agency, reported that French authorities in Morocco were seeking "by every means" to suppress "irredentist incidents" which, it said, had broken out around Fez and Maknes, well known center of Moroccan nationalism.

Another Stefano dispatch charged that Italians trying to leave the protectorate were "given the run-around on various pretexts, preventing them from leaving Morocco."

The Rome insurance guild recommended that life insurance policies be limited to 200,000 lire (about $10,000) each.

FARM OFFICIALS MEET IN MEDFORD

MEDFORD, June 8 (AP)—At a round table conference of department of agriculture officials and aides of California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon held here Friday, there was general agreement there should be uniformity of grades and containers for fruits, berries and vegetables between the four states, according to Director J. D. Mickle, director of the Oregon Department of Agriculture.

Director Mickle further stated the group has no authority to make any changes, because any promulgation would be made by executive order or legislation by the legislatures of the four states. He said the purpose of the meeting was to determine what the shippers, growers and consumers desired, and make recommendations accordingly.

The cases of the Idaho potato sack, and the Oregon strawberry box were cited as examples of the conflict in regulations. The Idaho spud sack is acceptable in some states and not so in others. This requires the shipper to have a variety of different sized sacks.

The Oregon strawberry box is not acceptable in California upon the grounds it has a so-called "false bottom." Oregon holds the "false bottom" is for ventilation, not deceit. California will accept them, if a slit is cut in the false bottom.

BASIC SPEED LAW CHANGE SOUGHT

Questionnaires will be sent out to law enforcement organizations throughout the state in an effort to revamp the basic law, according to Leigh Ackerman, sergeant of the Klamath Falls police force, who returned Thursday night from a convention of the Association of Oregon City Police Officers held this week in Corvallis. Ackerman stated the basic law was confusing to both motorists and officers alike and an effort will be made to clarify the law.

Plans were made for the police officers' school to be held at the University of Oregon in Eugene. Beginners' class will be held October 14 to 19, inclusive, and advance classes October 21 to 26, inclusive.

Ackerman was named chairman of the committee on juvenile control to report at the school in October. At the Corvallis session interesting reports were made on the state pension plan and the state civil service plans.

Mrs. Ackerman and daughter, Catherine, accompanied Ackerman on the trip north.

Dorris

DORRIS—The Butte Valley high school had a large attendance for the commencement exercises held in the school auditorium on Thursday evening. The orchestra opened the program with the processional "Over the Top," with Harmon Clark as director. The invocation was given by the pastor of the Nazarene church, Marvin Horn.

Class of 1940 trio presented "Alma Mater" and "Anchors Aweigh." The trio consisted of Dorothy Deaton, Donna Lang and Betty Jean Stahn. This was followed by "Nonette" well rendered by the orchestra which has done very fine work this year.

Bernice Morganroth gave the salutatory address, having as its theme "Why I am Glad to Live in America." The orchestra favored with a waltz medley, "Maytime and Mission Bells" and Ace Clemons gave a very good trumpet solo.

The valedictory "Education" was given by Nora Hammond. And this was followed by the "Launching Song" given by the entire graduating class.

The orchestra gave "Majestic Solo" and Russell Weide favored with a tuba solo.

The commencement address was given by Mark Brawman, deputy district attorney of Siskiyou county, and he held his attentive audience by his personality and the wisdom of his words.

Fernell Sullivan sang "Alice Blue Gown," and the American Legion award was made. Principal Paul M. Goodwin presented the class of 1940 and the diplomas were given out by Wm. Hagelstein of the board of trustees.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Horn.

The class motto is very apropos at this time of war and rumors of war. It is "Out of the Harbor, Into the Deep." The class flower was the red rose. Its colors were blue and gold. An enjoyable evening of dancing followed the commencement exercises.

FRENCH BOMB FACTORIES IN BERLIN AREA

security said "some bombs were dropped but little material damage was done and no casualties have been reported."

One Nazi bomber crashed and burned in east Suffolk. One member of its crew was reported killed, another injured and one captured. The injured flier later died. The captured German flier struggled with police declaring he wanted to keep on fighting.

While anti-aircraft units blazed away at the raiders, the royal air force bore the weight of British support for her French ally.

The air ministry said last night that RAF bombers ranged the full length of the German lines and behind the lines in northern France, setting fires at a large oil refinery south of Hamburg, smashing one end of a main railway tunnel south of Aachen and smashing at German-held airdromes, rail lines, marching troops and motorized columns.

Air raid alarms echoed last night in 10 English coastal counties—Cambridge, Norfolk, Essex, Suffolk, Kent, Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire, Lincoln and Hertfordshire.

FRENCH PROUD OF AERIAL CANNONS

PARIS, June 8 (AP)—The French are proud of the aerial cannon and their famous 75's, field pieces which fire shells about three inches in diameter, for their performance against the Nazi tanks.

The aerial cannon are bolted to plane motors on each side and fire through the propeller radius, a throwback to the World war which brought forth the machine-gun synchronized to shoot through the propeller blades. These are fixed guns, aimed by pointing the plane.

The new aerial guns, firing explosive projectiles instead of merely bullets, were perfected in France by French, Swiss and American engineers.

The shells, exploding on impact with the tops of the tanks, rend the comparatively thin armor plate there and are said to kill all the crewmen.

Before each batch of shells is approved engineers fire test samples through sheets of paper. If the slight impact with the paper fails to detonate the shell the whole consignment is refused.

Germany at one time was offered rights to production of such cannon and shells but turned them down on the grounds they had not been perfected.

Reports made from the delegates indicated that there has been an increase in membership in every local represented. Many of the locals reported they were in the process of negotiating contracts.

Delegates from Susanville, Calif., reported that they were confident of winning the forthcoming runoff NLRB election between the CIO and the AFL.

Liner Wrecked in Cristobal Harbor

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, June 8 (AP)—With water in her bow up to the anchor line, the 7,216-ton Chilean liner Copiapo was towed today to an anchorage just off the Panama canal channel after striking the west breakwater at the entrance of Cristobal harbor.

The ship's 110 passengers and her crew were rescued without injury. A passenger, Dr. Adolfo Villaneuva Lazo, a Peruvian delegate to the Washington Scientific congress, said panic followed when the ship struck but that all passengers were taken off by launches and tugs.

Some of the passengers were American women en route to join their husbands in the Panama Canal zone.

DORRIS BLAZE CALLS LADDIES TO RESTAURANT

DORRIS—On Monday evening the Firemen's board held their regular bi-monthly meeting in the city hall. As usual, three members of the board supplied the feast for the social hour following the meeting. This week the hosts were Joe Young, Joe Shelley and Les Chase.

The Dorris fire laddies had a real test for the gas masks they purchased some time ago when they answered the alarm for the Tavern cafe at 6 o'clock last Saturday morning. When they tried to enter the building the smoke was so thick they had to fight through it to within five or six feet of the flames that were shooting 10 feet high before they could even see the glare.

The motor of the frigidaire had overheated during the night and set fire to the surrounding woodwork and walls. The early morning opening by the proprietor, Glenn Welch, was a shock when he discovered the place filled with smoke. The prompt response of the volunteer firemen was all that saved the place. After the excitement had cleared away it was found a hole had been burned in the floor and some of the woodwork, but there was no water damage done by the crew so that Mr. Welch was able to have "business as usual."

From just a fire truck and length of hose, purchased a few years ago the Firemen's board have built one of the most efficient fire equipment a city of the size of Dorris could boast of. By giving an annual check which has become more popular as each passes, the men have been able to buy masks, axes, hose and other necessary equipment.

expansion were regarded as falling definitely in this category of interest.

The visit to Moscow of Lithuanian Prime Minister Merkis, accompanied by a foreign office expert and a military representative, gave added weight to reports that the soviet was seeking to broaden her Baltic security program.

(Reports from Italy indicated an improvement in Italian diplomatic relations which was expected to result in the return of Soviet Ambassador Augusto Rosso to Moscow. Russia recalled Gorchelin because of anti-soviet demonstrations in Italy during the Finnish war, and Rosso subsequently was summoned home.)

Internal Affairs

This would be in line with Russia's professed role of a nation interested primarily in her internal affairs, and concerned in the international situation only as it reflects on these affairs.

The background of Russian suspicion of Italy and recent assertions of soviet circles in London that Berlin and allied interests in the Black sea and the eastern Mediterranean are parallel also fit in with this new watchfulness over German conquests.

The soviet circles here have indicated a distrust of the motives of capitalist Britain in the latest British and French attempt to make friends with Russia. But they also have made plain that if the allies prove by deeds that they really are sincere, there would be no reason why these governments should not be on very good terms.
