LIBRARIAN GIVES TALK AT MEET OF SOROPTIMISTS

The guest speaker, Miss Mary McComb, gave an interesting program at the Soroptimist club meeting at the Thursday noon luncheon at the Willard hotel, when she illustrated her work in the county's outlying districts by telling some of the stories that she tells the children on her trips with the library van.

Probably the school children were no more quiet listeners than the Soroptimist members as they listened to the story of how the elephant received his trunk in "The Elephant's Child" by Kipling. In a graver vein, Miss McComb told the beautiful legend of St. Christopher, the travelers' saint. She spoke of the dearth of interest in fairy tales and imaginative stories and of her attempts to present these beautiful old tales to the modern child so he may not be deprived of his heritage of legend.

Mrs. Coral J. Sabo, acting as hostess chairman, introduced the speaker.

Launching of the Venture club, the outstanding event for the Soroptimist club this year, was discussed and reports were heard from the committees handling this project.

Plans are underway to attend the Soroptimist convention at Salt Lake City, which opens on June the eighteenth. Several local members plan to attend, including Mrs. Elsie Garcelon, delegate, Mrs. Laura Bertram and Mrs. Ida Odell, president and delegate of the Klamath club. They will leave for the Utah city on June the sixteenth.

Mrs. Sylvia McClelland acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Isabella Van Fleet who is visiting her mother in San Francisco.

Marriage Solemnized

Miss Gaetz Is Bride in North Dakota June The First

Miss Marjorie Gaetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Gaetz of Klamath Falls, became the bride of Mr. Dale Hogoboom, Jr., at a ceremony solemnized Saturday afternoon, June the first, at half past five o'clock in the Olivette Lutheran church at Fargo, North Dakota.

The bride, who has many friends in this city, was attractive in a wedding gown of pearl white satin, and she carried an arm bouquet of blue delphinium and tiny pink rosebuds. Her only attendant was Miss Mary See, her roommate at the University of North Dakota. Miss See wore a frock of dusty rose and carried sweet peas.

Mr. Bud Osborn was attendant to the groom.

The bridal party stood before the altar which was banked with French lilies in white, and decorating the entire church, including the pews, were sprays of purple lilies. Candles and candelabra used at the altar were all white.

A supper at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hogoboom, Sr., for members of the wedding party and relatives, followed the ceremony. Among those present were two grandmothers and a grandfather of Mr. Hogoboom, Jr.

The young couple are making their home at Bismark, North Dakota, after a short honeymoon trip. Mrs. Gaetz, who accompanied her daughter to North Dakota to attend the wedding, returned to her home here Thursday morning.

Another graduate who is well known in Klamath Falls is Miss Sybil Bowne, daughter of Mrs. Stella Bowne, who received her degree this Saturday at the University of Washington.
