SOMETHING ABOUT FUNERAL PRICES

By EARL WHITLOCK
Recently conducted surveys in our profession, show that the average Funeral Service in America, this past year, cost a shade under $250. And if this is the AVERAGE, you will at once realize that many, many funerals cost far less than this figure.

I am not making the suggestion that, at time of bereavement, one should be guided entirely by the desire to economize. After all, one has to live with one's memories. And memories that are stamped merely with the idea of savings effected, instead of with recollections of beauty and dignity and adequacy—such memories might make most unpleasant companions throughout the years.

I have mentioned this established AVERAGE funeral cost just so that you will understand that, even for much less than the average price, you may be served here fittingly and reverently and with all the resources at our command. "Enjoy Memory Garden and the beautiful flowers."

Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on "July 4th—Re-dedication."

Visiting Here — Mrs. John G. Pelton and daughter, Harriett, residents of Waupaca, Wis., are visiting in Klamath Falls with Mrs. Pelton's sister, Mary Stewart. Mrs. Pelton is a former resident of this city, and before her marriage was Marjorie Stewart. She left here in 1913 after being employed for several years in the First National bank. The visitors will be here for a week or two.

Returns Home — Bernie Rawlins, garage man, has taken home from the Hillside hospital Monday. He is recovering satisfactorily from head injuries received in an accident at his garage recently, but will be confined to bed at 914 Donald street for about a week.

Flies to Medford — Jack Lambert, member of flying club No. 2 at the Klamath Falls airport, left the local port Monday morning for a round trip to Medford. A Medford plane, one of the flying club planes of that city, dropped in for a short stay Monday at the local port.

Win Honors — Among 151 University of Oregon students who won places on the spring term honor roll call were a number from Klamath Falls, including Robert B. Chilcote, Richard D. Blickenstaff, and Aida Brun.

On Vacation — Byram Luce and Ben Reed are expected home July 1 from a vacation trip spent on the coast. Luce is head of the Cascade Abstract company and during his absence Mrs. John Beal is in the office.

Returns Home — Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Henderson and two daughters, Jean and Ann, returned Sunday evening from Diamond lake where they have been since Friday.

To Diamond Lake — Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gross and Mrs. Gross' father, Mr. Westerson of Astoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gardner, spent the weekend at Diamond lake where they enjoyed fishing.

Adventists Sale — Women of Seventh Day Adventist church will sponsor a home cooked food sale all day Tuesday at the Safe way store, 836 Main street.

Here on Business—Jim Patterson of the Jess Valley Peat company, Calif., was in Klamath Falls Monday attending to business matters.

Bosworth to Medford—H. P. Bosworth, division manager, California Oregon Power company, left for Medford Monday morning on a business trip.

Visit Lake—Hal Morgan, Bob Sprout Jr., Dalton Henderson and Fred Burgoyne were among Klamath Falls people who spent Sunday at Lake o' the Woods.

Move into Home — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robustelli have moved into their new home on Union street which was recently completed for them.

W. E. WEEKS OF SAFETY BUREAU DIES IN TACOMA

The death of a trainman known throughout the Pacific northwest was reported in Klamath Falls Monday by G. C. Murphy of the interstate commerce commission, who was making a business visit here at the Great Northern offices.

He said that W. E. Weeks, safety appliance inspector, bureau of safety, interstate commerce commission, who has been a representative of the commission in the Northwest for the past 29 years, passed away suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Tacoma, Wash., on June 13.

He was associated with George B. Winter, with whom he had conducted investigations of all serious railroad accidents in the northwest for 29 years. He was widely known among trainmen of the Klamath basin.

JOB for JUNE GRADUATES

By A. H. EDGERTON
Director of Vocational Guidance.

University of Wisconsin
AS a result of a nationwide occupational trend, study of more than 144,000 positions actually filled by school and college graduates, it is predicted that the best jobs of tomorrow will go to the well-adjusted and versatile. It was also found that the individual most in demand is one who can get along successfully with other persons, control his emotions, likes and dislikes.

More skill and knowledge no longer suffice. Employers insist that social facility is now an indispensable factor in occupational success. Such short comings as poor self-control, dishonesty and lack of dependability must be conquered if one is to succeed. Two words, "adequately trained," will spell the difference between employment for thousands of young men and women this year. This does not mean merely that they must be skilled in technical processes of occupation, but it does mean that they must possess fundamental knowledge on which processes are built and that they must be able to adjust and adapt themselves to changing conditions.

Today employers tend to scrutinize the general training and special fitness of the most likely applicants even before arranging employment interviews. Other things being equal, those well trained through broad liberal studies and the basic thinking processes now have some advantage over more narrowly trained individuals whose early specialized preparation has sacrificed general education and background.

With millions of men and women out of work employers are more exacting in demands than ever before. They are seeking workers who are capable of growing on the job. Nearly all employment offices report that requests for applicants are becoming increasingly definite. Practically all help wanted orders specify particular educational preparation and special qualifications needed.

With occasional exceptions employers are prone to seek individuals who are capable of keeping a jump ahead of changing requirements. Chances for employment promise to be better this year than they have been since 1930 for qualified men and women, but the day of the narrow specialist is passing in many occupations.

Some of the occupations in which opportunities exist today and which promise even greater opportunities in the future can be divided into two classifications: those in which prospects are limited, and those which offer a wealth of opportunity.

In the limited class are aviation, radio, small farming, mining, engineering, acting, metropolitan journalism, library management, fine arts, architecture, law, medicine, music, social work, teaching, etc.

Expanding possibilities are to be found in metallurgy, accounting, banking, farm management, retail selling, skilled trades, commercial designing, business administration, salesmanship, industrial and scientific research, city management and planning, dietetics, industrial chemistry, etc.

Many employers call attention to promising opportunities in enterprises dealing with creative ideas and work in science, art, mechanics, literature, electricity, merchandising, management, finance and the like which capitalize on personal growth, courage and character. They are generally small or medium-sized concerns rather than a few large companies. Some state there are greater opportunities for freedom, independence, satisfaction and growth, for example, on a small town weekly than on a metropolitan daily newspaper.

Others point to small, growing experimental laboratories or manufacturing firms in preference to organizations of long standing.

CAR HITS HORSE
R. E. Detrick, Bly druggist, reported to Sheriff Low Monday that his car struck a horse on the highway. He said he was slamming a door on the car when the collision occurred. The horse when last seen was moving on its own power.

Clarence Adams, 620 Spring street, reported a South Sixth street crash between his car and one driven by Almond Alfred Dolman of the Klamath Forest Protective association.

PRESIDENT SIGNS INDIAN MEASURE
WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed into law today legislation to authorize the interior department to approve sale of lumber and other forest products obtained from Indian reservations. Previously, only Menominee in the Red Lake Indian reservation in Wisconsin and Minnesota, respectively, could make small, sporadic sales.

TOES ELIMINATED
Ancestors of the present-day ostrich had more than two toes. But too many toes are a hindrance to swift running, so the useless members gradually disappeared. Now the ostrich has a foot that is designed for both speed and power.

Chickens with wonderfully colored plumage can be reared by adding artificial dyes to their food, according to experts.

METHODISTS RENEW APPOINTMENTS OF KLAMATH PASTORS

Rev. Victor E. Phillips, pastor of the First Methodist church of Klamath Falls, and Rev. B. V. Bradshaw, supply, Klamath Indian mission, will continue to serve in these capacities according to word received here Monday from the Oregon Methodist conference now being held in Portland. Rev. E. J. Ashenbrenner, was appointed to the Lakeview-Paisley district.

Rev. Melvin T. Wire, formerly of this city and now pastor of the Ashland Methodist church, was transferred to Roseburg to succeed Dr. Louis Magin, retired. The Ashland pulpit will be filled by Rev. George W. Bruce of The Dalles.

The conference tempered a resolution against supplying aid to the allies Saturday after hearing Layman Earl Mott of McMinnville say the dictators of "anti-Christ principles." The conference substituted "aggressive" for "belligerent nations" but refused to delete a phrase.

ELLER RETURNS FROM CONCLAVE
R. D. "Hod" Eller, illustrious potentate of Hillah temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, returned Saturday night accompanied by Mrs. Eller and son, George, after attending the national Shrine convention in Memphis, Tenn. Eller and two other Oregon delegates were present during the ceremonial.

The Ellers motored home through St. Louis, Denver, Yellowstone National park, Cheyenne, and Spokane.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24 (AP)—Lizzie, largest elephant at the Philadelphia zoo, died today of old age. Josephine, another of the local zoo's elephants, is the official mascot for the republican national convention, which opened today.

THE SPIRIT OF 76
by JOHN CLINTON
Don't tell me autos don't know what you're planning to do with 'em! Right now my Hispano-Plymouth's out in the drive fairly itching to get going on a fishing trip.
The Union Oil Station on the corner just brought it back after a Stop-Wear lubrication job. No wonder the old crate wants to run. It knows we're going fishing!
It steers as gently as your son's red wagon, and it shifts like a Notre Dame backfield, and that little squeak that's almost driven me nuts has become "the little squeak that isn't there!"
On top of all this, they dusted the bus off, cleaned out the fuz in the back seat, washed the glass and dressed the sidewalls of the tires. Wow! I can hardly wait to get out on the highway.
If you think I'm exaggerating, you try it. Try a Stop-Wear Lubrication job. It costs no more than a bit-of-mis greasing, but you can really feel the difference in the way the car rides. They use factory check-charts, and the men who do the work are trained to do it. They even keep a card file to tell them when it's time to call you up and have it done again.
So, if you've a couple of week-ends up your sleeve, or a date with a trout, then do what I did and have the car Stop-Wear-ed! It makes a whole of a difference when you're way up in the mountains to know that it's in top condition.

THIS IS BUICK'S BIGGEST YEAR
So this one must be good!

WE'RE not telling you this 1940 Buick is the best we've ever built—you're telling us!
Never in our history have we built so many cars as we have this model year — not even in the flush days of the twenties.
Now why is that? Because of the big Dynaflex engine that's the only power plant balanced after assembly? Because of the soft-and-easy BuCoil Springing ride?
Because of size? Because of style?

Because of size? Because of style? Because of form — appointments — ruggedness — value?
We'll let you decide. But there's food for thought in $895 low as . . . . . for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation, based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories are extra—but that still adds up to delivered prices that are mighty low for the best Buick we ever built.
*Prices subject to change without notice.
