Dinner Club Has Meeting

Toastmistresses Entertained at Thursday Affair.

Quoting Joseph Strauss' poem on the "Redwoods" Mrs. W. H. Hibbard described the magnitude of California's giant trees in her talk, "Impressions of the Redwoods," at the dinner meeting of the Toastmistress club, Thursday evening at the Elk hotel. She read: "The greatest of earth's living forms, Tall conquerors that laugh at storms; Their challenge still unanswered rings Through fifty centuries of kings."

Mrs. Paul Buck selected "Living in the Out-of-Doors" as her topic of discussion under the general subject for the evening, "Nature—Some Phase of the Out-of-Doors." She illustrated her talk with inspirational experiences from her recreational work as a Girl Scout leader. She pointed out that "some people do not have the ability to see beauty" and stressed that however drab the condition of ordinary living might be, there were always the compensating beauties of nature.

Introducing her audience with a few sentences spoken in the original language of the Warm Spring Indians, Mrs. Logan Black then recounted dramatic incidents from her childhood as a daughter of a missionary teacher among those Indians.

Mrs. Ruth Temple, as toastmistress of the evening introduced the speakers.

Mrs. W. H. Hibbard, club critic, then gave her criticism. She announced that each speaker would receive written criticism and would be graded on a percentage basis, according to delivery, voice, audience contact, and subject matter.

Mrs. A. J. Voye, as "Word Engineer" would grade pronunciation and enunciation.

Grading on language and vocabulary would be given by Mrs. Paul Buck. Mrs. Hibbard said that the criticism sheets could then be filed for future reference.

During the dinner hour the president, Mrs. Voye, conducted a brief business session. Members then responded to roll call with a quotation from literature. The dinner chairman, Mrs. Hibbard introduced her subject, "Influence" and impromptu discussion disclosed interesting phases.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, July the twenty-fifth. The subject of the evening will be "Ambition." The feature speakers will be Mrs. Clifford C. Voight, Mrs. A. C. Erickson and Mrs. Walter Brown. Guests are welcome and prospective members may visit twice before they are voted upon as members.

At the close of each meeting members vote for the best speaker of the evening. Mrs. W. H. Hibbard was given this honor at Thursday's meeting.
