BOATMEN REPORT ALL WELL AFTER ROUGH TRAVELING

PENDLETON, Ore., July 16 (AP) — Harold Dobyns of Pendleton and Woodie Hindman, Prince Helfrich and George Godfrey of Eugene have negotiated at least part of their dash down the Salmon river of Idaho in small boats, said a card received here from Dobyns as follows:

"Somewhere in the fastness of the Salmon river country, July 12, noon — we have arrived at Sulphur Falls after one of the wildest and roughest rides any man ever took. So far our trip has been without serious mishap. Only one hole in my boat and darned lucky. The scenery is beautiful. The river is absolutely full of salmon and trout. Am sending this note by saddle horse. Spent two hours lining our boats through the falls here."

The four men are in the midst of a courageous dash down the "river of no return," regarded as one of the three most difficult rivers in the United States to travel in small boats.

POLICY MAPPED FOR RED CROSS AID TO EUROPE

Earl Redman, chairman of the Klamath county chapter of the American Red Cross, Tuesday released a statement he received from Norman H. Davis, in answer to various inquiries as to the present policy and activities of the American Red Cross in respect to European war relief.

"It is the policy of the American Red Cross to extend relief where it is most urgently needed providing it has the necessary freedom of action and safeguards for carrying out the distribution of its supplies to the actual victims whether refugees or war-wounded soldiers.

"At the present there are three distinct areas where such need exists and where assistance has been requested: First, Great Britain; second, the unoccupied portion of France; and third, those territories under German occupation.

"With regard to the first, we have set up an American Red Cross committee in England and are sending medical and hospital equipment, clothing and other supplies including food as rapidly as tonnage is available.

"With regard to the unoccupied portion of France, the SS McKeesport, loaded with all sorts of supplies and enjoying safe conduct from the British blockade authorities, is now headed for Marseilles where its cargo will be distributed to the millions of refugees and war-wounded in southern France under the direction of American Red Cross representatives. In addition, a trainload of children's food is now en route to the same region from Geneva.

"With regard to the third area, namely occupied territory, we have been extending aid in Poland with funds contributed for that specific purpose. This program is under American Red Cross supervision, thus safeguarding control over the ultimate destination of supplies. As for other occupied territories, aid to the sick and wounded and to refugees, particularly children, is being extended only in Paris and vicinity under the direction of Wayne Chatfield Taylor, American Red Cross delegate working in cooperation with the American hospital and French Red Cross.

"Beyond this limited activity the American Red Cross is not extending any relief in the occupied portions of France. There are certain questions of policy and inherent difficulties, such as blockade, transportation, delivery and control of distribution, which at the present time are most difficult of solution. The needs of relief which are daily increasing in the areas where we are now operating, and in which we may operate in the future, will require continuing large outlays.

"In this connection, it is well to note, that none of the supplies of the Red Cross have been interfered with by any government, or diverted from the needy for whom the supplies were intended, and the American people can rest assured that we do not intend to engage in any operations not adequately safeguarded and which do not give consideration to the wishes of those who have so generously contributed to the work."

Redman also announced additional contributions to the war relief fund, bringing the total to date to $4432.22, as follows:

Donation in memory of Mrs. Lydia Graham (amount not announced), dance at Fort Klamath $35, Klamath Fish Hatchery employes $3, Czech-American National Alliance $10, J. A. Lambert $5, Shell Oil company $8, Standard Oil company $8, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company (additional) $8, Mrs. W. C. Buick $1, and Edwin Schneebeck $25.

GUARD CALL LONG OVERDUE--WHITE

PORTLAND, July 16 (U.P.)—Maj. Gen. George A. White, commander of the 41st division, national guard, said Monday mobilization of the national guard for intensive training is long overdue.

Gen. White returned today from Fort Lewis, Wash., where he inspected facilities for concentration of his 41st division. He said army chiefs had delayed guard mobilization as long as possible but now were urging it as absolutely necessary for the future.

"There is no use having a compulsory training bill unless some medium is provided for training men selected for military service," Gen. White said. "To favor compulsory service and oppose national guard mobilization is simply to neutralize the first plea."
