

CHILDREN TO LEAVE LONDON AS PRECAUTION

anti-aircraft shells and followed by a patrol of British fighters. The air ministry and ministry of home security said four German planes were shot down during the day. Bombs caused "several casualties" in London and "near the Welsh coast," the ministries added.

Intensification of London's preparedness comes at a time when the Nazi air force seems, if anything, to be letting up slightly when promise is held for stronger defenses.

London, meanwhile, counting an estimated 8000 dead and 8000 wounded in almost incessant September air raids, received "official assurances" that a new defense system is being developed to meet night attacks—source of a majority of the casualties.

Far yesterday's toll the British reported 47 German planes downed to 22 British, with 12 British pilots saved. (The German figures were 38 British planes downed and 14 German planes missing.)

British figures on planes shot down during September credited the RAF with a three-to-one advantage. German losses were listed as 1071 planes and approximately 2700 fliers shot down. The British acknowledged the loss of 319 planes and 156 fliers.

WALLACE FAVORS LUMBER REVISE IN OREGON TALK

he would prefer to spend the time shaking hands with the early risers who turned out to see him. He got down from the rear platform and shook hands with many.

Would Modify Lumbering

He then walked down the depot platform to the microphone of the local radio station and again spoke briefly, touching on one issue, forestry. He noted he was in a lumbering community and told of his interest in legislation "modifying lumbering practices so no ghost towns will develop."

Again he mentioned the "senior senator from Oregon" stating that he, too, was well aware of these problems and saying he hoped to work with him again upon their solution. This brought a laugh from the crowd. Wallace returned to his car, shaking hands right and left.

Fellow Iowan

William F. B. Chase, county commissioner, introduced himself to Wallace, an Iowan, saying he "used to live just across the creek in Nebraska."

G. C. Tatman, local labor leader, talked briefly with Wallace, who asked Tatman if the AFL was active here and in the lumber mills.

Receiving an affirmative answer, he asked Tatman: "Are you doing all right?" "We're holding our own," said Tatman.

Gets Steaks

County Assessor Charles H. Mack presented Wallace with a package of venison steaks.

Wallace was met here by several Oregon democratic dignitaries, including Committeeman Latourette, State Chairman Charles Leach, President Paul Plank of young democratic clubs, and Bruce Spaulding, attorney general nominee.

Demo Rally

They joined him on the train. He stood at the rear door as the northbound train pulled out for Portland, where Wallace was to speak Tuesday evening.

Heading the local greeters was Jack Henry, county democratic chairman.

The visiting democratic leaders addressed a rally meeting of democrats at the circuit court room Monday evening. Leach, Latourette, Spaulding and Plank all spoke at the meeting, as well as Commissioner Chase, candidate for reelection, and Chet Langset, candidate for county treasurer.

WILLKIE PULLS FOR PRODUCTION BOOST

nominee said in a prepared speech here.

"Jugular Vein"

"If you stop production—or if as the new deal has done, you discourage and cut down production—you have created unemployment.

"And you have cut the jugular vein of America."

Willkie then outlined these suggestions:

1. "Encourage increased production. That will mean that the present employers will hire more men. But it is not enough . . . What we must have is new enterprises—about 700,000 of them to take care of our needs."

2. "Stabilize our tax structure—put it on a scientific and efficient basis—so that men can predict the future with some reasonable degree of certainty. Enterprises that make a profit must pay a tax . . . proportionate to the profit made. But the tax structure will be on a base that will not discourage new enterprises from starting, from hiring more workers."

3. "Cut out the red tape that now paralyzes this country. . . . simplify the innumerable regulations, cut down the weight of government demands for reports, and, more important, stop the hostile attitude of government toward private enterprise."

"One cry is universal throughout this great broad land," Willkie said. "It is 'Give us jobs.'"

President Roosevelt recognized in 1932, he declared, that unemployment was the country's real problem.

"But in 1940," he continued, "all that is heard from the other side is a thunderous silence."

"There is no more talk about jobs. It was some time ago that the new dealers gave up talking about jobs. They now talk about unemployment—and they say that large numbers of American people will always be out of work—because America is static—has reached the end of its growth—that there are too many Americans."

Mexican Police Shoot Friend of Losing Candidate

MONTERREY, Mexico, Oct. 1 (AP)—Police and soldiers today shot to death Brigadier General Andres Zarzosa, old friend of Juan Andreu Almazan, losing candidate for president, to smash what they declared was a revolutionary plot to seize the garrison, governor's palace and other state and local offices here.

Authorities said they now had restored order and that all was quiet in Monterrey.

Several persons were reported under arrest.

The newspaper Tiempo said military authorities descended on Zarzosa and his adherents after one of the latter, alarmed by the proportions of the reported plot, had tipped off police.

Zarzosa was reported to have entered Monterrey secretly, timing his coup for early this morning.

Zarzosa was commander of the 31st infantry battalion, but had been given leave to help Almazan in his campaign for presidency against General Manuel Avila Camacho, the administration nominee.

Another man with Zarzosa also was killed in the gunfight, and a soldier was wounded.

entered the (Book-Cadillac) hotel.

Woman Held

The girl was identified as Betty Wilson, 19. A dozen stitches were required to close a scalp laceration.

Tracing the source of the missiles, police arrested a woman who gave her name as Miss Doris La Roue, 31, and said she was an employe of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Paul Wencil, chief of detectives, quoted Miss La Roue as saying she had hurled the five-pound metal basket and other objects from her eighteenth floor room "in a spirit of fun."

She was held on a disorderly conduct charge pending the outcome of Miss Wilson's injuries.

Police said a bottle, a wooden chair, a heavy phone book and a bedspread also had been hurled from the window. No one else in the crowd of about 1000 was injured.

Death brought to a close early Monday evening the life of Mrs. J. E. (Sadie L.) Van Camp, 70, for more than 27 years a resident of Klamath Falls and one of its best known matrons.

Mrs. Van Camp's husband, city councilman, died two years ago while in office and since that time Mrs. Van Camp has been in poor health. She leaves many friends to mourn her passing.

One of Mrs. Van Camp's hobbies was flower gardening which she did successfully, having one of the city's most beautiful gardens at the family home on Prescott street in the Shippington district.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Camp were married some 27 years ago. At that time Mr. Van Camp was employed as a workman on the old Winema which operated in Upper Klamath lake waters.

Mrs. Van Camp was a native of Keokuck, Ill., the daughter of John Creighton and Marie Churchill. Funeral services will take place from the chapel of Ward's Klamath Funeral home, 925 High street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Victor Phillips of the First Methodist church officiating.
