Principal speakers will include Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Drummond, Medford, returned medical missionaries who served many years in India; Dr. Walter Myers, Portland, state field secretary; Ray Zack, Indian missionary stationed on the White Swan reservation near Yakima, and Miss Bernice Jay, state social chairman.

Sessions will be presided over by Hugh Kafton, Klamath Falls, district president, with the opening registration at 7 o'clock Friday evening to be followed by the initial service.

The annual banquet with 100 guests expected will be served at 6:30 Saturday night in the church annex by the Ladies Aid. Officers of the union will be elected during the dinner hour, with installation scheduled for Sunday evening.

HIGH SCHOOL

News Notes and Comment by June Michelson

Judge Arthur Hay, from Lakeview, who is the father of Miss Margaret Hay, English instructor, spoke to the freshmen English classes who are now studying "The Lady of the Lake."

Judge Hay told of going to school and growing up in Scotland. Education is a major problem in his country.

Scottish children, according to Judge Hay, study about four nights a week until 12 o'clock and to about eight or ten o'clock on other nights.

Students are not given tests by their teachers, but by government examiners. Admittance to colleges is gained by the showing made in tests, not by our credit method. Sometimes a year of coaching is required before the difficult examinations can be passed.

Most families, Judge Hay pointed out, send only their brightest child to college. For instance if there are six children one will be sent through college and the other five will work to make it financially possible for the one to go.

Judge Hay spoke to the classes of Miss Hay, Miss Amy Severson, and Charles Woodhouse.

In order that teachers and parents might become better acquainted, the Parents and Patrons club will hold its annual "open house" meeting Thursday evening, November 28.

Guy Bates, assistant music director, will present a musical program.

After the meeting, parents will be given sheets, showing them which teachers to visit.

On the committee arranging the meeting are: Mrs. Rachel Good, chairman of the public relations committee; Miss Margaret Hay, Mrs. Beulah Mushen, refreshments; Al Sinclair, Charles Woodhouse, publicity.

Newly elected Science club members include: Bob Holmes, president; Arnold Selby, vice president; Mary Ellen Long, secretary treasurer; Wanda Gentry, Krater reporter; Geneva Obrist, publicity manager.

Report cards will be distributed Wednesday, November 27. The last six weeks of the semester will begin Monday.

Monday evening, December 16, is the date set for the annual music concert. Charles Stanfield and Guy Bates will be in charge.

OREGON VILLAGE SPLIT BY SPAN CONDEMNATION

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 21 (UP)—The strange plight of a village split in two by the condemnation of a bridge across the Santiam river was presented to the Marion county court Tuesday by village leaders of Gates, Ore. The Marion and Linn county courts recently condemned the bridge as unsafe for traffic. Now housewives are unable to get across the stream to do their shopping on the other side. School children must travel an extra 20 miles to cross the river to get to school. Communication and commerce between the two sides of town are virtually severed. The court took the appeal under advisement.
