

MATTRESSES TO BE MADE IN PROGRAM

The Klamath county program planning committee, in conference with the county court, county home extension committee, county welfare director, county agricultural conservation committee, and representatives of the extension service and farm security administration, on Saturday, discussed the proposed mattress-making project. William L. Teutsch, assistant director of extension, Oregon State college, explained that this was a project desired to dispose of surplus cotton by helping deserving people help themselves to secure a well-made mattress.

Mrs. Azalea Sager, state home demonstration leader and state leader of this project, stated that the cotton was furnished by the agricultural adjustment administration from surplus supplies of the south, that the extension service, farm security administration, and agricultural adjustment administration were charged with carrying out the program in individual counties, under the direction of the home demonstration agent as county leader. Mrs. Sager further stated that all applications for mattresses must be passed upon by the county agricultural conservation association committee and if approved, applicants will work under the direction of trained leaders in making their own mattresses. Centers for working will be established in the county.

Total cost to the recipient for such materials as thread, tufts, needles, etc., will aggregate 75 cents per mattress, which is the only cost outside of time. Mattresses are of standard size and of excellent quality, costing, according to Mrs. Sager, approximately $39 on the market at present day prices. The assembled group approved the project by unanimous vote and estimated that from 600 to 800 mattresses might be made here by low income rural families who can qualify under the program for free materials. Rural families, under regulations, are classified as those residing in the country or in communities of not over 2500 population.

As a result of this meeting, a carload of surplus cotton, enough to make 480 mattresses, has been ordered by the AAA. The extension service will start immediately training of project leaders and will be ready to start the program of actual mattress-making in Klamath county either late in February or early March. The farm security administration will cooperate in the training of leaders and carrying out of this program.

Application blanks will be available in the near future at the agricultural conservation association office, farm security office and extension service office, all on the second floor of the Federal building, Klamath Falls. Information on the program can now be secured from these agencies and requests left for blanks when available.

SOLO FLIGHTS MADE BY STUDENT PILOTS

Two more members of the Klamath Falls C.P.T. program have taken solo hops in the local flight training class at the airport, bringing to three the total number who have completed the required time and successfully gone "upstairs" alone.

First of the class to solo was Raymond (Smoky) Sacher, who made his lone flight last week.

Robert Jasbring is No. 2, having successfully completed a solo flight last Saturday. No. 3 is Alan Moccabee Jr., who soloed Sunday.

Most of the other members of the class are nearing the required time of eight hours. Some have been delayed by bad weather but are making up the time by flying twice daily when possible.

MORE CARPENTERS NEEDED FOR WORK AT PASO ROBLES

More men—all skilled carpenters—are needed at the national defense cantonment program at Paso Robles, Calif., it was made known here Monday by C. D. Long, business agent for the local carpenters' union. Long made an appeal for from 15 to 20 carpenters to report at the local labor temple if interested in the work. They must be members of the AFL.

STATE POLICE TO PICK UP LICENSE PLATE OFFENDERS

Authorities Tuesday said state police have started to pick up motorists who have failed to order 1941 license plates and that offenders are subject to fine in justice court.

It was pointed out that the law makes no allowances for delay in ordering plates although proof, in the form of a money order or temporary license sticker, that an order has been placed will be accepted.

Thirty-three Portland motorists Monday were fined $1 each in a Portland court.
