No New State Taxes

(The Oregonian)

A STATE budget, in balance with estimated revenues, will in due time be presented to the legislature that convenes in Salem today. Reminder may not be necessary, but it is here again, that any departure from the budget that demands the levy of new or additional taxes would be out of keeping with the times.

Lawmakers and the country in general are under notice that the tax needs of the national government will be heavy. The national budget is not in balance. Outlays in the next fiscal year will be more than double the revenues now in sight.

All of the tax resources that have been penetrated by the state, with the exception of general property, will be called upon by defense for additional federal levies. Income taxes, liquor taxes, corporation taxes, gasoline taxes, are due to be lifted by the national government.

There is, it is true, a provision in the constitution which deprives the legislature of power to attach an emergency clause to any measure regulating taxation. Time is therefore assured for invoking a referendum by petition.

Not Much Talk of Pensions Slated for Coming Parley Of Legislature at Salem

SALEM, Jan. 13 (AP)—The new session of the legislature will be the first in several years in which pensions haven't been a major order of business. That is because there hasn't been much agitation for changes in present pension laws.

Some pension groups probably will ask for substantial increases, but the legislators have shown no disposition to boost taxes to pay for them.

The budget for the two years beginning July 1 provides that $11,524,993 be spent for pensions, compared with $10,119,588 during 1939 and 1940.

The governor will submit to the lawmakers a plan to provide retirement pay for state, county, city, and district employees. The effect of the plan would be to give the employees retirement pay similar to those employees in private industry who get benefits under the federal social security program.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Certain guiding counselors in defense are trying to get Sidney Hillman, the associate director general of defense, to undertake a pep campaign to promote the utmost energy among defense workers.

This is the prime need now to stimulate production, according to reports that have been made to OPM. (Office of Production Management.) Mr. Roosevelt tried to do it by rattling the saber in his fireside chat and message to congress.

The man at the machine now has the future of the country wholly in his hands. Some of them know it and are swinging into their work as if every lick is a blow at Hitler—as it is.

After all the gains labor has made in this country in the last few years are the real stake in this battle. If labor does not put this defense drive over, it can forget about wages and hours and conditions of work.

Mr. Knudsen-Hillman (with the possible exception of Mr. Hillman), whose views I am unable to present, is working to get industries to step up their contracted delivery dates on defense materials.

Mr. Knudsen-Hillman (although not speaking for Mr. Hillman), has expressed satisfaction with the way the defense program is going in his private talks with congressmen.

ICKES AGAIN

Your old chum, Harold Ickes the INT. SEC., is getting ready to bloom again on his favorite subject. For some reason he does not want it known yet, but he has succeeded in convincing a publisher a book should be issued over his signature further exploiting the fact that there were more voters for Roosevelt than newspapers.

She Mrs. Roosevelt was right when she said the republicans did not applaud her husband's speech enthusiastically, but as one republican member put it (in recognition of the solemnity of the occasion):

What To Eat in Winter—And Why
Mr. duBois, a former food chemist for the government, is a nationally recognized authority on diet.

By WILBUR L. duBOIS, M. A.
Vitamins are essential to normal nutrition and are found in most foods in their natural state.

Vitamin A keeps you physically fit.

but their presence is a rather recent discovery and their duties still are being uncovered.
Vitamin A is necessary for normal growth, to sustain weight, prevent anemia and keep up muscular strength and physical well-being throughout life.

Where do we find it?
Milk, butter, egg yolk, and yellow and green vegetables such as escarole, kale, spinach, parsley, beet greens, chard, dandelion and turnip tops are important sources.

Patience, scientific research lies behind this discovery of facts about nutrition. Here's the story of vitamin A.
A scientist named Voit fed young white rats on a diet composed of pure protein, carbohydrates, fats and minerals in the right proportion for normal growth. But the rats failed to develop normally. Instead, they quietly passed away.

Speaking of good luck—there's only one Friday, the 13th, in 1941 on which to have bad luck.

Apparently there was something in the butter that was necessary to growth. Something that was not in the lard. This substance was called "vitamin" and listed as "A." It has since been isolated and its chemical nature determined.

Markets and Financial

LIGHT SALES PUT LEADING STOCKS DOWN

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—A handful of rails, utilities and specialties successfully contested light selling in today's stock market while numerous leaders nodded at slightly lower levels.

Prices were uneven at the start and efforts to work up a definite trend thereafter generally were unavailing. Fractional irregularity persisted to the close.

Transfers for the full session approximated 500,000 shares, one of the smallest 3-hour turnovers in more than a month.

Stocks ahead now and then included Great Northern, Pennsylvania, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Continental Oil, Goodyear and Montgomery Ward. Celotex preferred went into new high ground for 1940-41. Both classes of certain-teed improved.

Backward were Bethlehem Steel, Inland Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, American Smelting, Texas Corp., International Harvester and American Can.

Bonds and commodities were mixed.

WHEAT VARIES BUT CLOSES PEG HIGHER

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Wheat prices fluctuated nervously over a 4-1 cent range today, dipping at one stage as much as 1 cent, but the market closed slightly higher than Saturday.

An increase in the receipts at some terminals, particularly at several interior markets in the southwest, caused some of the weakness. Good demand, however, came from the mills and other interests involved in flour or cash grain business as well as from dealers who were restocking lines sold last week.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 higher compared with Saturday, May 8-17, July 8-14. Corn unchanged to 1 lower, May 8-14, July 8-14; Oats 4-1 down.
