INJURED DRIVER RESTING AT HOME

A. M. Bradford, 42, driver for the Men's Hand Laundry, miraculously escaped death in a 60-foot plunge down the side of the Sun mountain grade on The Dalles-California highway early Wednesday morning, according to reports. Bradford was resting at his home, 1540 California avenue, Thursday. He is suffering from severe facial cuts, body bruises and possible broken ribs. According to Bradford, he was en route to Chemult on his regular run when he struck an ice-covered piece of pavement and his truck skidded over the grade. The machine crashed down the rocky hillside and came to rest in a pile of huge boulders. The delivery truck was demolished.
