closely many presidents and had been impressed with their sense of responsibility and asserted that no president had "rushed this country into war."

"In the light of that," Stinson said, "while congress could take the risk of naming the countries, I think that they could safely rest the responsibility of that with the present president of the United States."

"Fantastic and preposterous" was Stinson's description of a suggestion that the lend-lease bill was so drawn as to permit purchase by this country of the British and French navies.

Tinkham read to the secretary a newspaper story which quoted unnamed persons as saying the bill purposely was drawn that way.

President Roosevelt at his press conference a bit later, said a provision to let the war and navy secretaries buy war materials from friendly nations was put in the bill as a precaution.

In a world of change, he told reporters, every 24 hours something might turn up to make it necessary to add to American defenses. Advising against jumping at conclusions, he said the provision was just a precautionary measure for American defense.

PAIR FACE GRAND LARCENY CHARGES

Joe A. Vincze, 27, and Henry Vincze, about 22, brothers, are in the county jail facing a charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of two truck tires said stolen from a machine parked near an old millsite on Topsy grade. Both men have been in difficulties with county and city police according to the latter. Arrests were made by city officers.

Joe Vincze claims the tires were part of a wage claim paid to him. They were later identified by Ted R. Webb of Keno as his property. They were allegedly sold by the Vincze brothers to an automobile dealer for the sum of $16. Joe Vincze has previously been indicted on a bad check charge, according to the district attorney's office.

Counter Proposal May End Strike

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 17 (AP)—Conciliation efforts to prevent a strike set for next Tuesday at the Ryan Aeronautical company apparently rested today with the firm's reception of a counter wage proposal being drafted by CIO United Automobile Workers.

BRITISH MAKE DAY ATTACK ON PORTS

the British said little damage of military importance was inflicted as British machine-guns chattered from rooftops and windows at the low-flying raiders.

A royal air force communique said "a very heavy raid was carried out by a very large force" of German Junkers dive-bombers and Italian fighting planes on Malta and that "civilian property suffered considerably."

The RAF also reported a repeat raid on the new German air base at Catania, Sicily, in which grounded Nazi planes were blown to bits and fires set which were visible 50 miles away.

Carrier Attacked
Hitler's high command reported Nazi dive-bombers renewed their efforts to sink the British aircraft carrier Illustrious, already crippled in a furious attack off Sicily Jan. 10, striking at the 23,000-ton vessel as it awaited repairs at the port of Valletta, Malta.

The Nazi high command said "several direct hits" were scored on the Illustrious, and informed German quarters declared the craft was now so badly damaged she would probably be knocked out of the war.

"Furthermore, numerous bombs struck the Malta arsenal," a Nazi communique said, "and a merchantman was struck directly by the heaviest calibre bombs."

Bristol Raided
British authorities said "serious fires" were started by Nazi incendiary bombs in the raid on Bristol but a fire officer declared 60 of the 100 blazes were "put out in less than 10 minutes."

In London, where two air-raid alarms sounded before dawn, 200 soldiers and rescue workers dug all night long with the aid of screened lights to remove more bodies from the rubble of a London men's hostel, bombed Wednesday night.

All four floors of the lodging house were known to have been occupied when it was hit.

So far, 45 men have been rescued alive; but while the search continued, officials said no faintest sign of survivors had come from the debris for many hours.

ped to the bottom of the bore. It could not be raised, but when drilling was resumed it was found to have made a perfect union with a strata of rock.

Between $6000 and $7000 collected bit by bit by the commission was required. The town had just been incorporated and a new city council was acting on city problems. The commission still willing to act, but faced with the necessity of raising additional dollars to continue operations, turned the completed project over to the city. Possibility of raising funds through a bond issue was the quickest solution to the problem.

With the shoulders of Mayor Lou Booth, Councilmen Clyde Barks, George Reiben, Otis Roper, A. A. Rodenberger and City Clerk Harold Roath under the wheel, voting at a special election in September 1938 resulted in an almost unanimous vote for a $28,000 bond issue, sold last fall.

Lack of a city map which should have been drawn and recorded at the time of incorporation slowed up proceedings, and other multiple details heckled the city fathers.

Councilman Clyde Barks and George Reiben resigned. J. W. Carlisle and J. T. Gropper stepped into their shoes. The council for the past two years has met weekly to iron out complications. Outside counsel was hired to assist the city attorney, Charles Lederer, Alturas, and the city engineer, Charles K. Hussey, has made repeated trips here.

Three pumps, a seven and one-half horsepower electric, a 10 horsepower electric and gasoline, and a 15 horsepower gasoline motor pump will insure uninterrupted service. Nineteen fire hydrants have been installed. Completion of the system insures a lower fire insurance rate.

The 28 municipal improvement bonds of $1000 each will retire in 20 years. Public response to use of the system has been above expectations of the council; it was announced this week.

Chlorinated water has been forced through the system, the storage tank has been cleaned and drained, and the process repeated. By Saturday night it is expected that water drawn from the taps will be ready to use.

Mr. Hussey was expected to arrive Friday for a final checkup and for samples of the water for analysis.

Water will flow also from a pump in the Legion hall during the evening program and members of both the water commission and the council will receive bottled samples.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 under the direction of Marvin Logan, local chef. The Gay Nineties orchestra from Klamath Falls will be presented and several spot numbers are to be featured.

Master of ceremonies will be Alex Clements, Stockton, past president of the chamber, who was closely affiliated with early proceedings on the project. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements are Clyde Barks, chairman; Eddie Gresham, Johnny Cortez, William Seigler and R. M. Prior, present president of the chamber.

Members of the city council are Mayor Lou Booth, A. A. Rodenberger, J. T. Gropper, Otis Roper, J. W. Carlisle and City Clerk Harold Roath.

Charles K. Wiese was chairman of the water commission, serving with Earl Ager, Fred McMurphy, Leland Oley, M. R. Laird, Tulelake, and Elmer Balsiger, Klamath Falls.

A dance, with Shepherd's orchestra, Klamath Falls, furnishing the music will complete the entertainment. A charge of 75 cents will include both dinner and dance.

been no industrial strife at the Canby operations during past years and that this is the first formal NLRB hearing in which Big Lakes at Canby has been involved. Employees there have not heretofore been organized.

Only a small maintenance crew and a few lumber shippers are on hand at the mill now, Vove testified. The plant runs at full capacity during the spring, summer and fall, from April to November. The lumber president further testified that about 75 per cent of the mill employees are skilled or semi-skilled labor.

Clark stated that the CIO desires to be included on the ballot if an election is ordered.

It was agreed by all parties that employees empowered with the right to hire and fire should be excluded from the bargaining unit.

In similar hearings conducted in this area in recent months, petitions for separation have been granted at the Shaw Lumber company operations at Tionesta, Calif., at the Lamm Lumber company, and at Pelican Bay Lumber company.

KLAMATH SURE OF SENATOR, CLAIM

Hayden of this city was named mailing clerk.

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
SALEM, Jan. 17 (AP)—While the rest of the legislators rested for the weekend, members of sub-committees of the joint ways and means committee stayed at their desks today to begin work on appropriation bills.

Members said they expected their work to be comparatively easy because Governor Sprague's budget is balanced. They also said they know exactly how much revenue will be available because no tax measures are expected to be passed.

Ahead of 1939
The first item on the list of appropriation bills was the appropriation for state institutions. Sub-committee members began interviewing institution heads today.

The joint ways and means committee will begin sending appropriation bills to the floor in about two weeks. Last session, it was two months before the committee had its bills drafted.

Awaiting Code
A flood of measures is expected to deluge the lawmakers early next week. Many members have been holding back their bills until the supreme court approves the new codification of Oregon laws.

Several errors were found in the code, so three of the 10 volumes had to be reprinted. The court met today to approve the code, and it was expected the new code would be available when the legislators return Monday.

If the code isn't ready Monday, both houses will use the 1930 code. All bills which amend old laws must contain the code number of the laws to be amended.

Most of the committees will begin consideration of bills next week, with public hearings to be held soon on the amendments to the unemployment compensation law.

Nearly all legislators expressed a determination to end the session within 50 days, and a few of them have hopes of going home in 40 days. They get $3 a day for 40 days, and nothing after that. The 1939 session, longest in history, lasted 68 days.

Both houses adjourned for the weekend yesterday, to ponder two controversial measures.

To the four proposed amendments to the unemployment compensation law, introduced yesterday by the AFL, the CIO said it would add another proposal Monday.

The CIO bill would make the three unemployment compensation commissioners elective instead of appointive and would restrict their administration, now shared by the industrial accident commission, to the unemployment department.

The other controversial measure is the proposal to add to western Oregon's representation in the legislature, reducing eastern and southern Oregon apportionments.

SALEM, Jan. 17 (AP)—A bill to license collection agencies and put them under more definite control of the state real estate commissioner than at present was in the house legislation and rules committee today for introduction Monday.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Allan G. Carson (R-Marion), was requested by the state real estate commissioner.

The bill provides that agencies should account monthly for funds collected.

OFFICERS RETURN FROM CONCLAVE AT HOOD RIVER

Police Judge Leigh Ackerman, recently named president of the Oregon Association of City Police Officers in convention at Hood River, returned to Klamath Falls at midnight Thursday accompanied by Sergeant Paul Robertson of the city police force. Ackerman termed the roads in "very bad winter condition."

"We have outlined a heavy program for the year and have made a few changes in the police officers' school including the handling of more practical problems that officers meet each day," Ackerman stated. He said police officers were particularly interested in legislation this year, and especially in the regulation of automobile traffic, allocation of liquor license money to the cities, and state employee pension act.

This is the first time the honor of such a high office has come to a man in southern Oregon, Ackerman stated.

PORTLAND, Jan. 17 (AP)—A long illness claimed the life yesterday of Francis M. De Witt, 88, one of Oregon's oldest native sons.

SOLDIERS STOP AT FAIRGROUNDS HERE

Seventy-eight officers and men of Company F, 47th Quartermaster's regiment, were scheduled to arrive here Friday afternoon to spend the night in the exhibit building at the county fairgrounds.

The company is on its way south from Fort Lewis, Wash., traveling in trucks.

Don Lane, staff member at the chamber of commerce, went to the fairgrounds to offer any assistance possible in quartering the army unit.

GILCHRIST FINDS SCOUT SUPPORT

Fine response among those interested in the Boy Scout movement in three communities of southern Oregon and northern California was the report brought back by Scout Executive Dwight Gilchrist upon his return Thursday night from a trip made for the purpose of organizing new troops.

Gilchrist announced that troop committees are being organized at Willow ranch, south of Lakeview; at Likely, south of Alturas, Calif., and at Bieber, Calif. The committees will lay groundwork for the projected scout organizations.
