RADIO BALLOON REMAINS FOUND BY SHEEP DOG

SILVER LAKE—Out in the desert 12 miles southeast of Silver Lake Adin McCall and his dog, Zip, nosing about in the sagebrush, found a tangled mass of red china silk and fragile white rubber fastened to a puzzling box about the size of a portable typewriter.

It proved to be the remains of a balloon and parachute sent up by the United States weather bureau station at Medford, 250 miles from here. The box attached to the balloon contained an instrument which acted in the air as a radio broadcaster of the temperature, pressure and moisture of the air through which it passed. After ascending to a height of 12 miles the balloon burst and the box floated to earth on the parachute.

Following instructions printed on the box, McCall mailed the instrument to the United States weather bureau at Washington, D. C.

SILVER LAKE HIT BY SLIGHT SNOW

SILVER LAKE—Winter paid another delayed installment to northern Lake county this morning with a meager inch of snow and a few dilatory flakes still sifting down. Freakish is the word old timers of Silver Lake are using to describe the unusually warm weather that has lingered through January. In many cases it has been unnecessary to feed hay to livestock.

Cattle are thriving on last summer's bumper crop of weeds and sheep are doing v " on the desert where there is enough snow to furnish moisture for them. Ranchers, however, are dubious over lack of snow in the mountains to provide water for irrigation, on which their next season's hay crop depends.

Poll of Legislators Shows Little Interest in Measure For Solon Reapportionment

SALEM, Jan. 23 (AP)—A poll of legislators showed Wednesday there is little interest in reapportioning the legislature, although two bills to do so have been introduced in the house and another is in the offing.

Many legislators said they don't want any bitter fights this session, and almost any reapportionment proposal would be sure to bring one on.

"Multnomah county is satisfied with its representation, and most other counties are, too," Speaker Robert S. Farrell Jr., said.

There are indications that the house won't be changed, and it is likely that only two senate changes will even be considered.

Several senators said they favor splitting the district embracing Klamath, Deschutes, Lake, Jefferson and Crook counties, giving Klamath county a senator of its own and giving a senator to the other four counties.

To do this, two other districts would have to be consolidated. Some senators said they would favor consolidating Jackson and Josephine counties, which now have a senator each.

Rep. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Multnomah), who said his bill hasn't a chance of passage, sponsored a measure to give Multnomah county increases in both houses at the expense of upstate counties. He said it would give every county its proper representation according to population.

A bill to give each county at least one representative, but leaving Multnomah county's delegation unchanged, was introduced by Rep. E. W. Kimberling (R-Grant). It would not affect the senate, and would have to be approved by the voters in the form of a constitutional amendment.

A proposal by Sen. Lew Wallace (D-Multnomah), also requiring approval of the voters if the legislature should pass it, would make few changes. It would base representation two thirds on population and one third on area.

MONTANA INDIANS SEEK LAW REPEAL

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 23 (UP)—Indian leaders, some wearing long braids, appeared in the halls of the Montana assembly Wednesday on a two-fold mission—to seek repeal of a law they said interferes with tribal religious ceremonies and to request recognition of rights of Indians to public welfare benefits.

A delegation from the Crow reservation headed by Frank Takes-the-Gun asked legislators to legalize use of peyote, said to be a narcotic, in religious ceremonies. Others in the delegation, all members of the native American Church of Montana, were Simpson Singe Good, Oliver Loin Shows and Thomas Tobacco.

Peyote was used as a sacrament in religious rites of the church, Takes-the-Gun explained. Peyote beans were imported from California or Arizona, but a state law passed in 1923 prohibited transporting them across the state.

Sen. Dan W. Maddox, R., Big Horn, said he had been requested to introduce a bill that would permit use of the drug on reservations, where federal law so permits. A similar bill was defeated at the 1939 session.

GERMAN AVIATORS LAND IN CANADA

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 23 (UP)—Hundreds of German aviators shot down while attacking the British Isles were moved across eastern Canada on heavily guarded trains Wednesday night to an inland concentration camp.

The prisoners, some grim, some laughing—were landed at this port Wednesday as Canadian soldiers stood with fixed bayonets. Each man was searched as the captives entered three waiting trains.

On the docks they marched past piles of munitions and military supplies from the United States marked, "Rush—for England."

Guards sat in each railroad car watching groups of 50 prisoners, and four guards were stationed in each vestibule. Special defense guards were detailed at every station along the line.

Army Doctor Claims Force Of 'Super-men' Possible By Scientific Diet Supervision

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Jan. 23 (AP)—An army doctor predicted Wednesday that he could hand-pick a force of "super-men" by scientific dietetic supervision in the mess hall.

Should they lose their weapons and the shirts off their backs, the "tiger" in them would make the men into a battering, bare-fisted brigade.

Col. Albert P. Clark, head of the Fort Lewis base hospital is the nutrition authority who paraphrased the Napoleonic precept to the interpretation: "An army fights on its stomach."

"If I had the opportunity to personally select 5000 men from the 48,000 we expect to have in this area by spring, and feed them a specially prepared diet which included increased mineral and vitamin content, I would have a small army of unbeatable men within six months," said the colonel, who is the surgeon in charge of the entire 3rd and 41st divisions at Fort Lewis and Camp Murray.

"They would be super-men—men that would fight with rocks and their bare fists if they lost their weapons. They would be a superior type of shock troops, which seem to be so successful in modern winning armies."

"Hopped up" only through an improved diet, the troops would be as superior mentally as physically, the colonel prophesied, and they would be capable of acting resourcefully alone as well as in a group.

Colonel Clark said most draftees benefited from the army diet, but that there has been no attempt to stress experimentally the potency potential of rations concentrating on vitamins, calcium and other minerals.
