

Mannequins Set New Hairdo Styles at Big Fashion Show

By ALICE HART

There's no better way in the world to tell what's really new in hair-do's or what the new trends in makeup and grooming are than to watch the models who wear the smartest clothes in the smartest fashion shows.

Not even women on the various "best dressed" lists inaugurate styles in coiffures and make-up. It's common practice for the designing staff of a good shop to decide how the models are to wear their hair as well as which ones are to wear the new clothes. Hairdressers cooperate in carrying out the designers' ideas. Result: each fashion show provides good beauty ideas that even the "best dressed" find worthy of emulation.

From recent fashion shows, including the all-important fashion futures, we conclude that:

TRY WIG OR CHIGNON

False hair is news for evening. (Wear a wig, preferably an ash blonde one with your new black evening dress, or a red one with a gown in one of the new, widely touted greens. Or pin up the ends of your long bob and cover them with a chignon. You can twine strands of fruit or bits of vine leaves in it. The models do. Or wrap a thick braid around your head. It does not necessarily have to match your own hair.)

Bangs will be back with a bang. (The Powers and Conover models are wearing them. And such smart women as Ika Chase, actress, radio commentator and author, and Ina Claire, one of the most fashion-minded women in the theatre, already have adopted them.)

Pompadoours are higher than is all a matter of finding a hair-dresser who will study your profile and figure out a way to tilt the pompadour toward one side. The natural-looking make-up is the smartest. (Gone are drooping, glamor-girl mouths, heavily beaded lashes and the flour-barrel look which was neatly achieved by using a heavy foundation, no rouge and great quantities of light powder.)

Hunched-forward shoulders come under the heading of bad posture. Nothing else.

THE GLAMOR GIRL IS DECREED OUT

It's not smart to be languid or to assume "I'm so bored with it all" poses. (The so-called glamor girl is out. A new type, the Vitamin Girl, is in.) The Vitamin Girl stands, sits and walks in a manner which proclaims that her blood pressure is normal — not definitely on the low side. She is not a half-fellow-well-met-slap-you-on-the-back type, but she isn't a weak, tired, studiously feminine little thing who can't do anything except stare at you. She likes sunshine and she isn't afraid to be seen in his bright, revealing rays. She has brains as well as beauty. And women as well as men like to have her around.

34 PERSONS FILE FOR CITIZENSHIP

Thirty-four applications have been filed for final naturalization papers and the roster is virtually complete for the April hearing. C. A. Hendrickson, assistant county clerk, said Friday. Holdovers and absentees from last October's hearing are expected to swell the total for the final swearing-in ceremonies to near the 50 mark.

Mix Veal With Vegetables To Fill Out Budget Meals

A pound of veal steak will travel much farther along the budget highway if accompanied with several vegetables and flavored with seedless raisins. Slow cooking is part of the secret of this extended veal treat.

CASSEROLE OF VEAL AND VEGETABLES

One pound veal steak cut in 1-inch cubes, 4 cup washed rice, 4 tablespoons fat, salt and pepper, 1 cup sliced raw potatoes, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup sliced onions, 4 carrots, sliced, 4 clove garlic, 1 cup seedless raisins, 2 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Saute veal and rice in melted fat until well browned. Place in bottom of casserole, season with salt and pepper, cover with layer of sliced potatoes, season again, then add celery and onions, more seasoning and a layer of carrots and raisins. Add water and Worcestershire sauce. Cover the casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 2 1/2 hours.

If you like to try fancy dishes occasionally, this amazing combination of fruit and spices will please you. Makes a trump surprise for luncheon parties.

PINEAPPLE HAM SANDWICHES

(Serves five)

Two and one-half cups chopped cooked ham, 1 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple (10 slices), 25 whole cloves, small cooked sweet potatoes, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup pineapple juice, cranberry jelly.

Mix ham, crumbs, onion and egg together. Shape in five patties and put each on a pineapple slice in a greased utility dish. Cover with a second pineapple ring studded with cloves. Arrange cooked sweet potatoes around the pineapple ham sandwiches. Heat butter, sugar and pineapple juice and pour about half of it over the food. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes, basting occasionally with the remaining hot pineapple juice. Just before serving place a cube of cranberry jelly in the center of each pineapple ring.

Menu
