Visitor From Milwaukee—Donald E. Derrah of Milwaukee, Wis., is expected to arrive in Klamath Falls to spend a week or 10 days at the home of relatives; Mrs. W. A. Bishop, Frank Derrah, and L. J. Derrah of St. Francis park. Donald Derrah is employed in the Milwaukee office of the United Air lines. He will leave Milwaukee by plane Saturday morning and after a four hour stop over in Portland that will be spent at the home of his uncle, Edward Derrah, he will continue on to Medford arriving there at 11:30 Saturday night. He will be met there by his cousin, Joe Derrah, and they will drive to Klamath Falls.

Through Midwest—Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Gebhardt of Olene have just returned from an extended trip of two months visiting Mrs. Gebhardt's mother, Mrs. Anna Birk and family of Stockbridge, Wis., and with Gebhardt's sister, Mrs. Harold Hill of Greenfield, Ind., and friends in Hamilton, O.

To Michigan—Keith Argraves has left by train for Lansing, Mich., where he will take delivery of a new car for a Klamath Falls man. While absent Argraves will visit relatives in Chicago and Sterling, Ill. He will drive home over the southern route.

In Hospital—Mrs. Avis Young, 3321 Vine avenue, is a patient at Hillside hospital where she recently submitted to a major operation.

Visits Here—W. T. Frost, ranger in charge of Crater Lake national park, spent Saturday in Klamath Falls conferring with Don C. Fisher, in charge of the park offices here.

Model Boy Gets Jolt
Late that Sunday afternoon over at the local Y of the little Indiana city, two high school fellows were debating the basket ball program. As one turned away, the visitor handed the other a newspaper clipping that carried a Gospel message with "Paid Adv." at the bottom. (Paid for by business men.) "Huh! Do they let you run that sort of thing in the papers?" There was contempt in his voice.

The visitor confessed to it and in a moment learned what had offended the chap. The copy charged us all with being sinners in God's sight. A few questions brought out the boy's good opinion of himself. He was the model young man, so it seemed. His friends and the high school all sang praises in to his willing ears. By his effort, the young people had bought a lot and set up a tennis court to keep the young chaps off the streets. He knew for sure that his good deeds had made him solid with God, his Maker. All was well with his soul for time and eternity.

First, the stranger showed him out of the Bible that in God's eyes all are sinners and lost, with Christ dying for such as will be saved. He used—"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him—Christ—the iniquities of us all."—BIBLE. Then there was pressed home—"What will you do with Jesus Christ?" There in the quiet of the late Sunday, with the shadows of evening pressing in, this son of one of their first families asked an occasional question. Repeatedly, from this point and from that, the visitor worked into the heart of the Gospel, ending always with—"What will you do with Jesus Christ?" There must have been half an hour of this and finally after a long pause came—"I'll take Him." And would he then and there tell God? He would. First a word, then a pause. Again a word and another long moment. A manly prayer, it was and from the heart and as he finished, the thing happened. He grabbed the stranger's hand and shook it with—"This is the greatest day in my life." His face and voice told it. It was a moment of moments. The Holy Spirit had spoken—"The Spirit beareth witness with our spirits that we are the children of God."—BIBLE. After that a heart to heart visit followed. And so the petted son had become a sinner and out of that a child of the Most High God.—BY PERMISSION FROM THE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORLD.

SIGN EXPRESSES DISGUST FOR SPRAGUE ROAD

years ago the county court and the Indian service entered into an agreement for expenditure of $50,000 on building the road, with the understanding that the county would undertake maintenance of completed sections. This agreement, the petition states, has led to considerable misunderstanding as to how much money the county can expend on maintenance.

In 1940, it is stated, the county spent $2014 on maintenance work on the Sprague road, and it is expected between $4000 and $5000 will be spent the coming year. It is claimed the per mile expenditures for maintenance are greater on this road than any other.

The petition also states that when the state highway commission recently rejected a proposal to have the Sprague River road made a secondary state highway, the state authorities asserted it would take $600,000 to bring the road up to standards where they would accept it. This, according to County Engineer Frank Howard, is about five times the amount of the entire county road budget for a single year.

Military significance of the Sprague River road was emphasized in the petition. It was pointed out that the Dalles-California highway is receiving increasing use for military purposes, and the Sprague River road is a logical by-pass for the Dalles-California. Last year's dike break at Algoma was cited in this connection.

The petition claims that the Klamath reservation has been slighted in road expenditures by the federal government. The Klamath reservation has received from $15,000 to $20,000 a year for road work, whereas some of the scab rock reservations in New Mexico and Arizona have received huge sums, the petition asserts.

County Engineer Howard said the petition, along with a file of complete information on the history of the Sprague River road, is being sent immediately to senators and congressmen.

AFRICAN ARMY ASKED TO STAY OUT OF FIGHT

ALGIERS, French North Africa (via Vichy), Feb. 1 (AP)—General Maxime Weygand in a broadcast today warned against "false rumors and loose criticisms," and said the authorities would take "extremely rigorous sanctions to put an end to lies."

In a talk addressed to the population of North Africa, he said that people who wanted to appear well-informed, even though their patriotism was unquestioned, were weaving a web of lies which might paralyze the national revolution of Chief of State Philippe Petain.

VICHY, France, Feb. 1 (AP)—The radio in German-occupied Paris announced tonight the formation of a rival committee to Chief of State Philippe Petain's "national union" group of 51, and violently assailed "the men of Vichy."

The Paris committee, it was stated, will stand for complete collaboration with the Germans. Petain's committee, formed this week, and headed by Henry Du Moulin, director of Petain's office, is intended to construct a new party of national revolution and cement "spiritual union" of all France.

the 1938 California democratic primary. Downey succeeded him in the senate.

McAdoo was a colorful figure in Washington official and social circles for more than a quarter of a century.

In 1935, at the age of 72, McAdoo was married to Miss Doris Gross, 26-year-old public health nurse. This was his third marriage.

His first wife, Sarah Houston Fleming, died in 1912. She had borne him six children. Two years after her death he married Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson, in whose cabinet he served as head of the treasury. Two daughters were born to them. She secured a divorce in 1934.

McAdoo led the stampede for Franklin D. Roosevelt during the 1932 democratic national convention, when he announced that the California delegation would swing from John Nance Garner to Roosevelt.

He first won national fame as the man who organized, financed and administered the company which built the first tunnels under the Hudson river. As secretary of the treasury he helped frame the federal reserve act.

SCHOEFFEL TO BE INSURANCE SPEAKER

George W. Schoeffel, home office branch manager of the Oregon Mutual Life Insurance company of Portland, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Life Underwriters association of Southern Oregon scheduled for Monday noon, February 3, at Hickman's.

Schoeffel is an interesting speaker. He was graduated from college in the school of journalism, served as a newspaper reporter and edited a paper in Peoria, Ill. Schoeffel entered the life insurance field as an underwriter, became a supervisor, and later a general agent. He is now in an executive position and active in the Portland chamber of commerce and chairman of that organization's forum. He is head of the University club, an active Rotarian, past president of the Portland Life Underwriters, and contributes to national publications.

According to interested persons here Schoeffel is in demand as a public speaker. The local association brings Schoeffel to this city as one of a group of influential life insurance men to aid in developing this organization. A good attendance is urged for Monday's luncheon. Members are asked to bring guests.

added, the axis powers would have to contend with disease, famine and troublesome minority groups at home.

"Did you ever hear of a conqueror quitting, especially when there still was some loot to be had?" Knox interposed.

Always Danger
When Nye asked whether there was any danger of an attack on the United States through Canada, the naval chief replied: "Any danger? There is always danger. A base in Newfoundland would put bombers in range of Detroit."

Nye asked if an axis victory in Europe would make the defense of this hemisphere a "hopeless one."

"It would be an exceedingly dangerous one," Knox replied.

NAVY REVAMPS FORCES INTO THREE FLEETS

four-starred flag aboard the battleship Texas as a full admiral commanding the Atlantic fleet.

The status of the Asiatic fleet, commanded by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, remained unaltered by the reorganization order issued weeks ago by Secretary Knox. At that time Knox said that the changes were primarily administrative.

The fighting forces afloat thus were reorganized into three combat groups for the first time since a similar grouping was abandoned in 1922. All will be under the general command of Admiral Kimmel.

The reorganization changed the status of the former patrol force in the Atlantic to that of an Atlantic fleet, giving the force greater importance without materially reinforcing for the time being the approximately 125 warships off the east coast.

Conforming to its policy of secrecy regarding warship movement, in effect since the European war started, the navy declined to disclose the present position of the Texas.

Corsetiere
Virginia Cornell, nationally known figure analyst, will be at Wards February 3 to 8.

"Miss Cornell is famous for her knowledge and treatment of figure problems," Ann Lander, head of Wards corset department, says, "so we've invited her to spend a few days here. The fashion magazines all say the new spring dresses will be very slender and straight, so women are going to have to give special attention to their foundation garments this year. Since no two figures are alike, the same corset obviously won't do for every woman."

"Miss Cornell analyzes figure 'problems' and not only advises which foundation garment will fit best, but which will do the most for your figure."

CONTRACTS GIVEN FOR COUNTY GAS

The county court has awarded the 1941 county gasoline contract to the Associated and Standard Oil companies, at a bid of 13.73 cents a gallon, inclusive of state tax.

It was stated that neither company had had a county contract for several years. A number of companies submitted the 13.73 cents bid.

The contract for Diesel oil was divided between Fred Heilbroner and the Richfield Oil company at 7.75 cents a gallon.
