

Master Masons Are Guests Aloha OES

Mrs. Oliver Spiker, Worthy Matron, Greets Visitors With Impressive Remarks Tuesday

Master Masons were guests of honor Tuesday evening, when Aloha chapter No. 81, Order of the Eastern Star, presented a special program for their pleasure. One hundred and fifty members and visitors filled the chapter room comfortably, and enjoyed the program of music, drills, readings and informal talks.

Mrs. Oliver W. Spiker, worthy matron, welcomed the visitors in a brief but impressive address, closing with this thought: "A Master Mason must of necessity represent the type of manhood which we have respected and loved in our fathers, admired and appreciated in our brothers, and adored in our husbands. When I was a child I heard and remembered a remark to the effect that if a man were to live according to the principles of Masonry, or as a Mason should live, he would be a good man, and a Christian, which is one and the same. A Master Mason must be, therefore, one who has attained great skill in being a good man."

All Masons present were escorted to a position in the west of the chapter room, where they formed a semi-circle, introduced themselves, giving their name and the lodge to which they belong. Miss May Phinney conducted, and Mrs. Clarence Humble, associate conductress, then pinned on the coat lapel of each Mason a tiny, metal flag, Flag of the United States of America, the gift of the worthy matron.

A symbolic drill representing the Masonic "Square," and "Compass," was presented by Mrs. Frank Hamblett, Mrs. Jack Oldham, Miss May Phinney, Mrs. Clarence Humble, Mrs. Charlotte Martin, Mrs. David Goehring, Mrs. George Barth, Mrs. J. H. Backner, Mrs. Howard Listoe, and Mrs. Lawrence Phelps.

A second drill representing the spirit of Joy, Happiness, Prosperity, Cooperation, and Pleasure, was given by Mrs. DeLos Mills, Mrs. Fred Hoagland, Miss Francis Finch, Mrs. Helen Hackland, and Mrs. Clifford C. Voight.

During the drills Mrs. Wallace Uerling sang, "Grand Fraternity," and Mrs. Uerling and Mrs. Leila Laursen sang, "Silver Haired Daddy of Mine." Mrs. LeRoy Erdmann accompanied at the piano for both numbers.

Mr. Lawrence K. Phelps, Worshipful Master of Klamath Lodge No. 77, A. F. and A. M., in behalf of the assembled Masons, expressed their appreciation for the evening's entertainment, and mentioned that two emblems were common to both organizations and present at all the meetings, namely, the open Bible, and the flag of the United States of America.

Mrs. Florence DeMerritt, worthy matron of Prosperity chapter of Malin, and seven of the Malin chapter were present. Mrs. DeMerritt was escorted to a seat of honor in the east.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served in the downstairs dining hall, by a committee under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Henry. Table decorations and arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Leo N. Huls, and were very effective, long strips of deep blue cellophane, silvered snow flowers, and low, red candles moulded in cup shape, were used in the arrangement.

Master Masons present included: Arlet Edsall, Lyle O. Mills, Leo N. Huls, V. Josephson, C. Landis, Fred Hoagland, Clarence Humble, W. F. Brown, Robert E. Defense Is Club Topic

Informative Talks Given at Toastmistress Club Meeting

Said Mrs. W. R. Boyd at the dinner meeting of the Toastmistress club at Mrs. Nord's tea room on Monday evening, "We should help Great Britain in every possible way, short of war. We should remain calm and not become hysterical because a few loud spoken men shout for war."

The dinner topic for discussion, "To what extent should the United States aid Great Britain," was presided over by Mrs. G. Logan Black as toastmistress. A few members felt that this country should give unlimited and wholehearted support, quoting Winston Churchill's remark, "We are fighting by ourselves alone, but not for ourselves."

Mrs. Anne Price expressed the opinion regarding the defense program that congress should not abdicate the power invested in it. Mrs. Hiram F. Murdoch reviewed the lease-lend bill, giving the provisions of the bill, and commenting on the unlimited powers that would be transferred to the president.

At the installation of the new officers, the members were reminded of the article of the bylaws of the club, which states that all officers shall rotate until each office shall have been filled by each member.

In accepting the office of president, Mrs. Walter Brown spoke of the honor accorded her as well as the responsibility of being the leader of a young, progressive organization with the high aims of the Toastmistress club.

Briefly, members reviewed the gains of the past six months and were told by the installing officer, Mrs. W. H. Hibbard, that it is not in "arriving" but in "striving" that true progress is made. Instructions were given in the correct technique used in preparation of a talk.

"You have no right to appear before your hearers with a speech that is ill-prepared," said the club critic, Mrs. Hibbard, in stressing the importance of careful preparation. Members then gave short talks on "The March of Dimes," illustrating points gained.

Venturists Hear Interesting Talk

Mrs. Odell Tells of Early Klamath Days, Shows Valuable Picture Collection

Highlighting the meeting of the Klamath Falls Venture club held in the Willard hotel on the evening of January the twenty-first, was an informative and entertaining talk on "Persons and Personalities of Early Klamath" by Mrs. Ida M. Odell. This was prepared from a valuable store of information gathered over a period of years, all of which has vital civic interest for present day Klamath Falls residents. It had especial interest for Venture club members, as it was the opening program on a study project chosen by them for the coming year—"Our Town."

Mrs. Odell had with her a scrapbook containing a notable collection of pictures of Klamath County's early days. Perhaps the most valuable of these pictures were three taken by Peter Britt in 1874; one of Linkville, and two of Crater Lake. These were the first photographs ever taken of the subjects, and the originals were given to the late H. E. Momyer by Mr. Britt's son. Mr. Britt was an early day photographer of Jacksonville, Oregon.

Among other interesting pictures shown were ones of Klamath Falls taken from the same viewpoint as the 1874 original, one in 1893, one in 1895, and one in 1910. Another photographer illustrates why Klamath Falls is so called, showing a cascade of falls above the present bridge. These falls have never been seen by people taking up their residence here in the past twenty years, Mrs. Odell said.

Through the kindness of Mr. J. O. Hamaker there is contained in this collection a photograph of the engineer who made the first plat of Linkville with his surveying instruments and a New Year's greeting shown on the card.

Other pictures show the arrival of the first train in Klamath Falls, the laying of the first pavement, the oldest house now standing, and stage coaches.

Following the dinner Miss Dora Cameron and Miss Mona Faus were initiated by the president, Miss Margaret West, as new members of the Venture club, using a ceremony prepared by a member of the Soroptimist club, which instructed the new members in the ideals and aims of this service club. They were then presented with corsages tied with ribbons in the colors of the club. Miss Cameron is employed at the United States National bank and Miss Faus at the California-Oregon Power company.

A present to the club of a president's pin, to travel from president to president, was given by Mrs. Rita Whisenant, organizer of the club.

The president announces that an invitation had been received from the Kiwanis club to participate in their luncheon on the following Thursday and view the film presented by the Life Underwriters. This invitation was accepted by the club.

Topics for the next study meeting to be held on the fourth of February were distributed. Among these topics are such questions as: How large was Klamath Falls in 1907? What percentage of the population is foreign born? How many negroes are there? What brought the immigrants to your community? What nationalities are represented and in what proportions? What proportion of the population does not speak English?

Present at the meeting, in addition to the members of the club, the two new members, and the guest speaker, were Mrs. Laura Bertram, Miss Pat Healey, Miss Florence Tetzloff, and Mrs. Ruth Ray, a member of the Venture board.
