

Bundles for Britain Parties Swell Fund

Clever Hostesses Devise Many Ways of Entertaining for British During the Past Week

There were numerous parties during the past week including many affairs sponsored by the Bundles for Britain movement. A great many hostesses paid back their "debts" and completed the chain for their group, sending in dollars and more dollars to swell the growing fund which Klamath Falls women will be happy to contribute to England.

Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. John Houston entertained together on Friday afternoon at their Bundles for Britain parties with a delightfully appointed St. Valentine's tea at the Houston home on Pacific Terrace. Assisting Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Houston were Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Franklin L. Weaver, and Mrs. Lawrence Slater. Pouring during the tea hour, from four to six o'clock, were Mrs. E. M. Igl, and Mrs. Joseph Peak.

Guests were served from a tea table centered with red and white spring flowers. Bidden to the affair were Mrs. Marshall E. Cornett, Mrs. C. P. Van Doren, Miss Eva Burkholder, Miss Virginia Fick, Miss Dorothy Schupp, Mrs. Chester Smith, Miss Marycarol Jones, Mrs. Glenn Evans, Mrs. Frank Z. Howard, Mrs. Claude Davis, Mrs. Lloyd Goble, Mrs. Lester O'field, Mrs. Charles Whisenant, Mrs. F. Cecil Adams, Miss Catherine Gaylord, Mrs. Rose Poole, Mrs. Lucile Warner, Mrs. Avis McCannell, Mrs. Clara Shaw, Mrs. Ruth Turner, Miss Eleanor Pruitt, Miss Ethel Fenwick, Miss Virginia West, Mrs. Victor O'Neill and Miss Mildred Estes.

Mrs. Orville Elliott of Klamath Falls, one of the original sixteen invited to take part in the Bundles for Britain galloping luncheons, entertained Thursday at her home. Guests included Mrs. B. G. Courtright, Mrs. Leonard Katz, and Mrs. C. L. Picatto of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Frank Taylor of Fort Klamath, Mrs. Phillip Cole, Mrs. George Horton, and Mrs. Marvin Nerseth of Chiloquin, and Mrs. Miller Cooper of Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Lloyd Prock was hostess to luncheon and an afternoon of sewing at her home on Second Street Saturday afternoon. Seated about the luncheon table, centered with spring flowers, were Mrs. Howard Pernell, Mrs. Henry Laux, Mrs. Kenneth Clark, and Mrs. Andrew Brink.

On Tuesday Miss Katherine Walton entertained with a theatre party and tea for her guests including Mrs. D. V. Kuykendall, Mrs. L. O. Mills, Mrs. DeLos Mills, Mrs. C. L. Hubble, Mrs. Don Holloway, Mrs. A. N. Beals, and Mrs. George Walton.

Mrs. Don McLucas entertained with an eight o'clock dessert bridge at her home, 902 Mitchell street, Friday evening. Her guests included Mrs. J. Truman Runyan, Mrs. Raymond Yarnes, Mrs. Burge Mason Jr., and Mrs. Harry Bolvin.

One of the cleverest luncheons of the week to complete the Bundles for Britain chain, was that given by Mrs. David R. Vandenberg for city hall and court house officials on Wednesday. Guests included Sheriff Lloyd L. Low, Deputy Sheriff Dale Matson, District Attorney Orth Siemore, Deputy District Attorney Dick Miller, Roger Walsh, of the district attorney's office, Justice of the Peace Joseph Mahoney, Bailiff Frank Ira White, Al Brandt, court stenographer, Chief of Police Frank Hamm, Police Judge Leigh Ackerman, County Treasurer Chester Langsett, Mayor John Houston, Juvenile Officer Gerald Murray, County Judge U. E. Reeder, County Commissioners John Reber and E. E. Benner, County Assessor Charles Mack, and Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg.

Mrs. Richard Smith of Tulelake entertained for twelve guests at luncheon at her home this past week as her contribution to Bundles for Britain.

A delightful luncheon was given at the Rex Manion home Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Manion and Mrs. John Harris Jr., entertained at their Bundles for Britain party. Guests were Mrs. Greer Drew, Mrs. Frank Drew, Mrs. John Coppage, Mrs. Ray Kemp, Mrs. F. W. Peak, Mrs. John Budd, Mrs. Raymond Cooney, and Mrs. Charles V. Rugh.

Mrs. Leslie Rogers entertained for a group at luncheon on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. R. E. Hooker entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Homer Ellis, Mrs. J. K. McAndrews, Mrs. Martin Kiewer, and Mrs. Martin Swanson.

Mrs. Earl Reynolds entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in the Henley district for a group of three including Mrs. Harry W. Bathiany, Miss Lillian Darby, and

O. Dryden, Mrs. O. E. Schupp, and the hostess. In contrast, high score went to Mrs. Bark, second to Mrs. Axel Jacobson, and traveling to Mrs. Dryden.

Klamath Women to Hear Mrs. Scroggie

Interesting English Speakers To Appear in This City During Coming Week of February

Anticipated by a great many women of the city is the appearance here of Mrs. F. John Scroggie of London, England, who will speak at half past two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church. The gathering is sponsored by women of the church, and all women of the city, interested in the message brought by the English woman, are invited to hear her and remain for tea.

Rubinoff Concert Nears

Famous Violinist To Be Heard Here Sunday Afternoon

Klamath Falls is expected to turn out in full force—at least as many as can find seats in the Klamath Union high school—to hear Rubinoff and his violin at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. Tickets were going like the proverbial hot cakes and the slight conservation fund of the Lions club, sponsor group, will be considerably larger when Mr. Dave Rubinoff and his famous violin leave town.

Few towns have aroused the interest of the general public as has Rubinoff, one of the nation's favorites. As one of the first of the outstanding artists to appear here this season, tickets were in immediate demand and Rubinoff and Solistas de Solis, pianist, will play to a generous and appreciative audience.

Student tickets were available Saturday at the Sunnall grocery, it was announced by Mr. Walter Wiesendanger, president of Lions club.

The verse group of the Writers League will meet at the home of Mrs. A. D. Lambert, 642 Pacific Terrace, on Wednesday, February the twelfth.

Mrs. Scroggie comes to Klamath Falls with her husband who is a speaker of note. Mrs. Scroggie is the past president of the United Free Church Council of England, and past president of the League of British women, representing all women of England.

Her topic, "British Women in the Crisis," Mrs. Scroggie will be available for other engagements and those interested may contact the Rev. Smith.

Mrs. Rollo C. Groesbeck is general chairman of the tea to follow the address, the affair to be given in the church parlors. Head of the receiving line is Mrs. A. Theodore Smith, wife of the pastor of the church, assisted by Mrs. George I. Wright, Mrs. Godfrey Blohm, Mrs. R. Macartney, and the Rev. Mr. Smith. Dr. F. John Scroggie will also receive with the group.

Room hostesses will be Mrs. George W. McIntyre, Mrs. George Grizzle, Mrs. Arthur R. Dickson, Mrs. J. F. King and Mrs. Frank Hamblet.

Members of Mrs. Groesbeck's committee include Mrs. Warren Hunt, Mrs. A. M. Collier, Mrs. Charles Joseph Martin, Mrs. Syd Evans, and Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds.

Asked to pour during the afternoon are Mrs. N. B. Drew, Mrs. Burge Mason Sr., Mrs. Arthur R. Wilson, and Mrs. Harry Goeller.

There will be a special meeting of Catholic Daughters of America in Lyceum hall, Monday, February the tenth, at eight o'clock.
