

OREGON SUPPLIES DAM MATERIALS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14 (U.P.)—About 6,000,000 tons of building materials costing $7,686,530 have gone into Central valley project structures so far, the U. S. bureau of reclamation said today.

Of this business in cement, steel, machinery, sand, gravel and other material, California received a 50 per cent share, with total expenditures being spread over 40 states.

Oregon was fifth on the list of purchase breakdowns, with a share so far of $452,000. California and Oregon were the only Pacific coast states in the 10 highest from the standpoint of material furnished.

R. S. Calland, acting supervising engineer of the Central valley project, said seven of the highest states were east of the Mississippi river, with the result that virtually the entire country received direct business from the project.

One of the largest items was cement purchased in California and Oregon.

Use Leftovers But Prepare Them in Proper Manner

If well refrigerated, vegetables left over from Sunday make economical, good eating for Monday. But reheating the leftovers must be done correctly for best results.

"Vegetables should never be reheated by frying, which not only toughens them, but makes them indigestible. They should be placed in top part of double-boiler with a little of the liquid in which they were cooked, or failing that, in a little milk, or with a lump of butter. Cover and steam over hot water until they are thoroughly heated," say the authors of "A Cook Book of Leftovers." Clare Newman and Bell Wiley, who wrote this helpful guide, give a few examples of how to use Sunday's leftover vegetables for Monday's dinner.

ONE DISH VEGETABLE DINNER

(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup cooked lima beans, 1 cup cooked green beans, 1 cup cooked (or canned) corn, salt and pepper, 2 to 4 medium potatoes, 10 slices bacon, 1 cup thick cream or 1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted.

Fry half the bacon and place strips on bottom of a greased casserole. Cover with a layer of thinly sliced raw potatoes and add a layer of mixed vegetables. Season and dot with butter. Repeat with alternate layers of potatoes and vegetables. Lay the remaining slices of uncooked bacon across the top. Pour in thick cream or undiluted evaporated milk. Bake covered in moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for about 50 minutes. Remove top last 10 minutes of bacon.

Leftover green beans can be very dull eating, or they can be interesting. This recipe gives them added flavor and interest:

GREEN BEANS MEXICAN

(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup cooked green beans, 2 tablespoons bacon fat, 1 onion, sliced, 4 cup pepper, chopped green pepper, 1 cup cooked (or canned) tomatoes, drained, salt and pepper, 1 cup tomato juice.

Cook sliced onions in hot bacon fat until delicately brown. Add green peppers, tomatoes and tomato juice. Simmer until thickened. Season. Add green beans and cook until heated through.

Here's a nourishing bean dish for school lunches:

KIDNEY BEANS WITH BACON

Arrange alternate layers of cooked kidney beans, pieces of raw bacon, canned tomatoes and sliced onions in a greased casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 or 40 minutes.

VALENTINE'S DAY

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., (AP) — This Valentine's day is rightly celebrated by the Valentines.

Judge W. Alfred Valentine Sr. and other members of the Luzerne county court used a book "Valentine on Subordinate Courts" as reference in ruling yesterday the county must pay an alderman $1197 in costs.

The book was written by the judge's son, who heard the decision. Another son, Jonathan C. Valentine, an assistant county solicitor, also was in court.
