Swanson Wins Church Loop Title

Lutheran Pivot Man Marks Up 119 Points for Score Crown; Frank Moore Second

"Swan" Swanson, lanky Lutheran pivot man, annexed the 1940-1941 individual scoring championship of the Church league with a season aggregate of 119 points for 10 games, according to statistics compiled this week.

The big, loose-limbed Lutheran hoopster barely edged out Maurice Moore, Latter Day Saint's one-man team, by the slim margin of two points. Moore's total of 117 tallies in turn was but two markers better than that of Frank Michaelson, Baptist forward who posted 115 markers for the season.

Others in the scoring column were far behind the three leaders. George Corneil, junior Pelican forward, completed the year in fourth place with an 85-point total, 30 points less than the third ranking man, Michaelson.

Phil Blohm, rugged DeMolay center, easily was the "bad man" of the six-club circuit with 31 personal fouls for an average of better than three per game. He left five contests, half of his team's games, on four violations. Swanson was second in number of personals with 20 chalked up against him.

Honor of being the cleanest player of the Church loop goes to Jones of the DeMolays. He had but one foul against him in 10 games.

Swanson had the most field goals, 57, and Moore holed out the largest number of free throws, 15. Frank Michaelson was second in total field goals with 53 while Blohm was runner-up to Moore in free tosses with 14.

Skiers Rush To Enter Slat Races

Entries for the second running of the Crater Lake Ski club-Roberts Hardware Silver Slalom poured into the Roberts store Friday in two of the three classes and plans progressed toward the Drew-Crater club junior tourney. Both meets will be held in the national park next Sunday.

In only the womens' novice class were Silver Slalom entries slow in coming in and tournament leaders urged that the gals register before Sunday. No entries will be accepted after Saturday night.

Last week only two silver medals were awarded, one in the expert division and the other in men's novice competition. Six bronze pins were handed out, however, and all bronze winners have indicated they will be out to better the 30-second expert silver time limit Sunday.

New entries, including Rapid Robert Morrison, will spark Class I racing Sunday. Rapid Robert, who hadn't gotten over a new pair of skis last week, will probably regain his technique and finish near the top.

In the novice group stubby Harry Grace, who stumbled once or twice in the inaugural, and Bob Sproat, bronze winner, will both be pitching for the 25-second silver goal.

A poster has been hung at Klamath Union high school announcing the Drew competition and letters inviting entries from valley preppers posted, Greer Drew said Friday of the junior meet.

West Side

WESTSIDE — Good progress is being made on the repair and construction work for the irrigation system of the Lakeview Water Users, Inc., according to Harry Sandquist, manager. Work on unit six of the project was begun this week, unit two will reach completion within a few days, and workmen will finish up on unit seven within 10 days.

Unit six is the construction of a 1100-foot flume to replace an old one north of the Lakeview-Klamath Falls highway near Muddy creek. Concrete footings, a creosoted timber substructure, and a metal flume mean a normal life expectancy for this long flume of 100 years. The 303-foot outlet flume at Drews dam, which is unit one, is being constructed of these same materials. Plans are that unit one will be completed in 30 days, and unit six by May 1.

The almost-completed unit two is a 2200-foot canal to replace a 300-foot trestle on north Drews canal. Upkeep on this new section of canal will be practically nothing, and it will have an unlimited life expectancy.

A 2800-foot rock cut in a hill on north Drews canal is unit seven and is an enlargement job. The canal at this point had a capacity of 65 cubic feet of water per second, and this is being increased to 200 cubic feet per second.

The canyon section of the north Drews canal has been a bottleneck in the distribution of water to the area served by the canal—all territory north of Drews creek. Work on units two and seven is intended to eliminate this bottleneck and make most of the canyon section of north Drews canal capable of carrying 200 cubic feet of water per second.

MISSING WOMAN CAUSES CONCERN

WESTSIDE—Friends and relatives of Mrs. Ernie Gibeson (Wanda Mayer), 16, have become seriously concerned the past week over the girl's disappearance nearly two weeks ago. To date no clues as to her whereabouts have been found.

Wanda, as everyone knows her, had come to Lakeview from her home in Plush to get a permanent wave and was to have taken the bus back to Plush Friday, February 7. She got her permanent, but somehow she missed the bus, which was her only way of getting back to take her part as one of the main characters in a play there in Plush Saturday night.

Apparently the last person to see Wanda was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jimmy Wells of Lakeview. Wanda had gone to see if the Wells couple would take her out. When she found they would not, she became angry, declaring she would get to Plush that night some way or other. Supposedly she started walking. But no one has seen her since.

Wanda is the daughter of Adolph (Shorty) Mayer, who lives in Westside. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 112 pounds, and has red hair, blue eyes, and freckles across her nose. When last seen early the evening of February 7 she was wearing a brown skirt, white blouse, brown and white oxfords and a grey wrap-around coat.

Wanda has a brother, Melvin, who lives with his father in Westside, and a sister, Amelia, who lives in Berkeley.
