

WOMEN TO GO TO CORVALLIS FOR CONCLAVE

"Nutrition in an American Democracy" will be the theme of the Wednesday program at the eleventh annual conference for the study of home interests to be held at Oregon State college, February 25 to 28 under the direction of the home economics division of the extension service.

In recent years there has been a revolution in the science of nutrition just as great as the revolution in other sciences. There is now a scientific basis for understanding and setting dietary standards.

Nationally known nutrition and health workers will be included on this educational program for better understanding of nutritional value of foods and their significance in the proper nourishment of the entire population.

Dr. E. S. West of the Oregon Medical school in Portland, will be the first speaker on "Nutrition in an American Democracy." Dr. Jennie I. Rowntree of the University of Washington will discuss "What is Good Nutrition," and Dr. E. N. Todhunter, head of home economics research at Washington State college, will discuss "Sources of Vitamins from Food Versus Concentrates."

"Dietary Deficiencies" will be discussed by Dr. H. H. Erickson of the Oregon State board of health and "Looking Forward to Optimum Nutrition" by Dr. Margaret S. Fincke of Oregon State college.

All homemakers of Oregon, not just those who are extension cooperators, are invited to attend the four-day conference. Special arrangements have been made for low cost housing and meals will be served by the college Memorial Union dining service.

Rooms in private homes are available at 50 cents a person and at the hotels from 75 cents and up. Meal tickets will be sold at the Memorial Union for $2.95, which will include all lunches and dinners from Tuesday night through Friday noon.

The conference is an opportunity for women of the state to meet and to hear national and international speakers on all phases of homemaking.

Several groups of women are leaving Klamath Falls by automobile Tuesday morning. Anyone interested in accompanying the group should call Winnifred K. Gillen, home demonstration agent, telephone 5213.

West Klamath

WEST KLAMATH—Lucille and Barbara Schiesel, Frances Archer, Jean Holliday and Jerry and Jack Smith spent an evening last week roller skating in Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Espy of White Swan, Wash., spent the week with their daughter, Mrs. L. L. Smith and family. They are returning to White Swan after spending the last three months in California.

The Three-G club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Clyde Phelps. A short business meeting was held and the afternoon was spent sewing. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Those enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Alan Holliday, Mrs. O. B. Thurman, Mrs. Marian Holliday, Mrs. Emmett Baker and children, Mrs. L. L. Smith and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McLean and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith are attending the course in first aid conducted by Mr and Mrs. Brooks each Monday and Thursday evening.

We do not need the gallant armies which are forming throughout the American union. We do not need them this year nor next nor any year that I can foresee. — Winston Churchill, British prime minister.

HIGH SCHOOL News Notes and Comment

By June Michelson

The junior class took in $70.00 from the amateur show Thursday. However, $10 of this was paid out for prizes. The same type of program last year sponsored by the junior class netted $84. The black-list which provides that any student who has had detention or a low citizenship grade may not attend pay shows is apparently having its effect on money-making projects this year.

In this writer's opinion top performances were given by Joana Pritchard, (husky honey-voiced singer who sang "America, I Love You" accompanied by Mrs. Harry Van and received probably the biggest hand of the afternoon; the Brenda and Cobina team (Benjie Kerns, Johnnie Foster) who did a risqué comedy act; and Jacqueline McKee, who sang beautifully "Ginannina Mia" from "The Firefly." Others on the program, all of whom turned in excellent performances, were: Chuck Currier, song; Keith McGillivray, accordion; Barbara Moore, toe dance; Jim Condrey, song; Jack Hanson and Gerald Einarsson, clarinet duet; Anna Lee and Leo Zell, song; Fred Floetke, Tom Scharfenstein, and Stanley McGhehey, trumpet trio; Louise Howie, accordion; Florence Neuffer and Vanona Moreland, song; Marlanne Lion, song; Otilla Costella, piano number; Dona Rae Crump, guitar.

Emil Buzaid, local musician, accompanied five of the artists and also presented one solo. Wayne Chase acted as master of ceremonies.

Prizes for the winners were to be presented at the pep assembly Friday. Judges were Miss Virginia Fick, Miss Margaret Hay, and Raymond Coopey.

KUHS should be proud of the talent displayed during the program. Much credit for the program goes to Frank Ganong, general chairman, Virginia Howard, Keith Howell and Walter Eschebeck, advisors.

Applications for scholarships are being handled by Miss Virginia West, senior advisor. The state board of higher education has announced scholarships available to the following Oregon schools: University of Oregon, Oregon State college, Southern Oregon College of Education, Eastern Oregon College of Education, Whitman, Reed and Linfield colleges and Pacific university.

Those eligible to apply are graduates of high school who are in the upper one-third of the graduate class and need financial assistance. They must be recommended by the high school principal and by a faculty committee on scholarships.

Applications must be made by April 1.

Seniors led the English department with an average of 132.4 out of a possible 200 points in the placement test given to all English students several weeks ago. Juniors followed with an average of 87; sophomores, 74; freshmen, 57.

Highest in each class were: Helen Cox, senior, 199; Anna Lee Zell, junior, 181; Evelyn Hulbert, sophomore, 162; Daniel Kafton, freshman, 137.

The test was an entrance exam from OSC.

A preview of the dramatic department Variety show scheduled for Thursday, the 27th, of next week was given at the amateur show Thursday.

The cast of "The Persecuted Maiden or Coises Follid Again" introduced themselves.

Students having unpaid library fines at the end of this six-week period will not receive report cards until those fines are paid. Monday, February 24 is the deadline.

HIGH TEMPERATURE

Light at a temperature higher than any other artificial heat ordinarily encountered by man is emitted by the tiny hair-thin tungsten filament of an incandescent lamp. The temperature is twice that of molten steel, and high enough to melt asbestos or fire brick like wax in a furnace.

Michigan has had a pure food law since 1895, being the first state to have such a law.

BIG COUGAR SHOT BY RALPH EGGERS

The combination of western backwoods and a modern highway system was worth $50 to Ralph Eggers, owner of the Northwestern Beauty college, last week.

Early last Friday morning Eggers, traveling north on The Dalles-California highway south of Bend, spotted a pair of cougars ahead. On seeing the car one broke away from the road and over a hill but the other ran along the roadside for several yards, then stopped.

Eggers, drawing a Luger pistol from the glove compartment, pulled to a stop near the curious beast, alighted and walked 20 feet before firing a single shot.

The cougar fell without a twitch and so did the State Game commission which paid Eggers a $50 bounty.

The pelt measured six feet 8 inches from stem to stern, not including the tail, and the killer weighed 90 pounds.

Eggers is having the pelt made into a rug.

Man has produced a pressure of 1,500,000 pounds per square inch in his laboratories.
