

JURY PONDERS EVIDENCE FOR OVER 4 HOURS

of November 19, when two men came to the house where he was sleeping with his wife, broke into the back door, got the defendant out of bed, and later pursued and threatened him.

When Kirk shot John, the defense counsel asserted, he did what any reasonable man would do—he shot in defense of himself against two men who were threatening bodily harm.

O'Neill warned the jury not to compromise its verdict, stating that "this man is either guilty of first degree murder or he isn't guilty of anything."

On one occasion, Court Reporter Al Brandt was called upon to read the record in connection with the attorney's arguments. Van Vactor had said that Kirk had said nothing of a pistol in direct testimony, but the record was read showing that in answer to one question he had said he saw what he thought was a gun in the hand of John just before he shot.

Argument

There was some argument between O'Neill and Van Vactor over the appearance of Gladys Kirk as a state rebuttal witness. O'Neill said he had not called Mrs. Kirk as a defense witness because there was nothing she could add to the jury's knowledge of the important elements of the case. Van Vactor replied that if the defense had "thought it would do them any good, they would have had Mrs. Kirk here if she had had both legs broken."

The young Indian woman came into court on crutches, dragging in a cast a leg that was recently broken in an automobile accident.

In a low, throaty voice she answered a series of questions propounded by Van Vactor with the purpose of refuting statements made earlier by Kirk. She testified she "got drunk" on the night Copperfield and John came to the house, and could not recall many of the incidents of that night.

British Losses In Africa Low, Report Shows exact figures of which are kept secret.

The war secretary said the British losses covered the period from Nov. 30 to Feb. 11, including the capitulation of Bengali on Feb. 6, which he said "completed the capture or destruction of the whole Italian army in east Libya, estimated to exceed 150,000 men."

Equipment Better

Speaking of the speed of the African campaign, Margesson said "these operations are a prelude to greater struggles with our principal enemy."

Since the withdrawal from Dunkerque last June, Margesson continued, the problem of equipment has been eased and "we are now able to form new divisions." In addition "large reinforcements of equipment have been sent to the middle east" along with "material aid to our allies," he declared.

Asserting that "the danger of invasion is a very real one," Margesson said the British "are endeavoring to improve our defense from day to day."

He also disclosed that the dispatches of General Lord Gort on the French campaign and the final retreat from Dunkerque will soon be published. Lord Gort commanded the British expeditionary force in France.

New Cub Pack Being Formed at Fremont School

Formation of a new cub pack at the Fremont school proceeded Thursday following Tuesday night's meeting of parents and interested parties at the school, according to word from scout leaders.

A second meeting will be held next week for actual organization of the boys. It was believed approximately 15 boys would comprise the charter group.

AFL Calls Box Meet in Eugene

A meeting for the purpose of promoting the wooden box campaign in the industry and discussing a uniform wage agreement has been called by the Northwest council of the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers union, for Saturday and Sunday, March 7-8, at Eugene, Joe Boyd said Thursday.

Present will be Peter Terzich, editor of Seattle's Union Register, who has just completed a survey of working conditions in northwest box factories, and Kenneth Davis, executive secretary of the council.

The Northwest council was formerly known as the Oregon-Washington Council.

Weygand Home To Report on African Scene

VICHY, France, March 6 (AP)—General Maxime Weygand, commander of the French forces in north Africa, arrived by plane this afternoon for his first face to face consultation with Chief of State Marshal Petain in five months.

He was accompanied by two officers. All wore civilian clothes. Weygand went immediately to the Parc hotel, where Petain has his headquarters.

The government announced last night that Weygand had arrived in Vichy, but today it explained that this premature announcement was issued deliberately as a "blind" intended to cover his real movements.

An official announcement today said Weygand came "to report his inspection tour of French African possessions." He left Vichy for that trip October 5.

The wording of the announcement would seem to indicate that Weygand's stay here would be short.

the movements of consular officials.

In a previous announcement, the state department said the closing of the consulates was requested "for reasons of national policy."

Phrasing of the department's announcement indicated that similar action might be taken against other foreign consulates.

In the case of Germany, however, the United States has not been forced to close any consulates in that country. Germany has required the closing of American consulates in some German-occupied countries.

Italy has more than 60 consulates or consular agent offices in the United States.

The American consulates at Naples and Palermo were ordered closed by the Italian government along with all other foreign consulates in those cities on the ground that they were within military areas.

Whether they have already been closed has not been learned here yet but it was planned to transfer the personnel to the Rome embassy.

The Italian government also has restricted the movements of American correspondents.

KPCA OBSERVES 7TH ANNIVERSARY

The seventh anniversary of the organization of the Klamath Production Credit association was observed Wednesday, March 5, according to Lee McMullen, secretary and treasurer. McMullen observed that when the association opened it was necessary to borrow money and several months later the first loan was closed. At the end of the first year the association had loaned $711,000 to 139 farmers and stockmen in the Klamath basin including Klamath and Lake counties.

The first year showed a profit of $1780, in contrast to the end of the seventh year where an entirely different picture results. During that period the association has served more than 500 farmers and stockmen and loaned more than $12,000,000. Earnings of more than $137,000 have been set aside as a reserve. The firm is a local farmer owned and operated financial institution set up for service and not individual profit, according to McMullen.

President of the KPCA is William Kittredge who also served as the first president of the association. E. M. Hammond, one of the original board is vice president, and A. R. Campbell, William Lane, Ed Geary and Ned Sherlock were original directors. Also a member of the present board is Lee Holliday.

SEATTLE READY FOR BLACKOUT FRIDAY NIGHT

SEATTLE, March 6 (AP)—High officers of the army, navy and air corps will converge here tomorrow night for what is believed to be the first blackout of a major American city since New York doused many of its lights for a 1918 submarine scare.

From Vancouver, B. C., where war is a national reality, will come a delegation to witness the 15-minute preparedness test.

Top-ranked representatives of the nation's military will be Maj. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce of Fort Lewis, with six officers of the ninth army corps staff; Maj. Gen. John F. Curry, commander of the northwest air district, and Rear Admiral C. S. Freeman, commandant of the 13th naval district.

Army and navy airplanes will circle the city to make a photographic record of the blackout's effectiveness. On the streets of this city of close to 400,000, even a cigarette in the dark will be a violation of regulations. Cars must be parked with lights out and only emergency traffic will be allowed.

An army of 10,000 or more volunteers has been recruited to enforce the blackout. Mayor John E. Carroll, in appealing for public cooperation, said there would be no prosecutions for houses where lights showed but there would be for any motoring violations.

While wardens patrol by land, boats will do the same by bay and lakes. The maze of arrangement details include guardians for every fire alarm box in the city to safeguard against false alarm pranks.

Traffic lights which are independent of the master switches will be doused individually. Heavy paper bags will be slipped over some.

Experts have volunteered to handle electric display signs that work by complicated time clocks. Hundreds of similar problems have been hurdled by the committee which has been planning the event for weeks.

A warning will be sounded at 10:30 throughout the city and over all radio stations. The

BATTLEFIELDS ON BULGARIAN LINE CLEARED

Vienna with Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering.

Turkey pressed defense preparations as her officially-controlled press called on Russia to halt Germany's march ever deeper into southeast Europe.

With Adolf Hitler's armies now massed within 100 miles of the Dardanelles, Turkish newspapers declared:

"Unless Russia has decided to commit suicide, she will not let Germany come near her life-giving arteries. The Dardanelles are as important to Russia as to Turkey."

The Dardanelles, linking the Black sea to the Mediterranean, provide a Russian outlet to the western world.

Government quarters in Bucharest acknowledged that Rumania had received a communication from Moscow—a message which high diplomatic sources declared was a virtual ultimatum to Rumania to cede naval bases on the Black sea to Russia.

If true, two sharply divergent explanations arose:

1. Since Rumania is German dominated, it may have been a thinly-veiled warning to Germany to beware of jeopardizing Russia's Black sea interests.

2. Or, cession of Rumanian Black sea bases may have been Russia's "price" for giving Germany the green light in the occupation of Bulgaria.

At the time nazi troops set off for Bulgaria, Rumania mobilized a million reservists and dispatched them to the Russian border to replace German units withdrawn.

One theory expressed then was that, in her role as "protector" of Rumania, Germany would have been embarrassed by the presence of German troops on the soviet frontier if Russia made further demands on Rumania.

Matsuoka left the French embassy at 6 p. m. (4 a. m., EST). It was said complete agreement is likely "within a few days."

The present armistice in the border warfare between the French colony and Thailand is scheduled to expire tomorrow, but it probably will be extended.

Japan's mediation plan, which had been presented as her last offer and the minimum acceptable to Thailand, is supposed to have required the French to agree to cede large areas of Laos and Cambodia provinces to Thailand.

Under the CAA appropriation, runways will be paved, drainage installed, boundary, range and beacon lights set up, and other work done to permit the landing of fast military aircraft. The army engineers are construction agents for the project.

The CAA work, however, will not alter the status of the Klamath airport as a public field. It can be used for commercial lines and private flying. The construction will permit the landing of commercial planes which cannot at present use the field on an all-year basis.
