

SHASTA RANGERS ARRANGE PROGRAM

District Ranger Mel Barron of the Dunsuir Ranger station, Shasta national forest, has worked up a special Conservation Week program to be given in practically all of the towns in Siskiyou county within the forest where high schools are located. The main feature of this program is sort of a "Dr. I. Q." quiz whereby individuals are selected from the audiences and are given a chance to answer the questions over a public address system. There are different sets of questions for different grades of students all the way from the youngsters in grammar school up through the high school students.

Various service clubs, American Legion, and other organizations have put out about $10.00 per community which will be given away in the form of nickels to those answering the questions correctly. Also, there is a list of "jack pot" questions which

Troops Do Everything but Swim on Land

At Ft. Ord, Cal., the 33rd Infantry goes in heavy for landing party exercises even though they lack a transport, an ocean or beach. Here they scramble down nets from a scaffolding, "going over the side," to a small boat ready for a landing. The "boat" simulates high sea conditions through a pitching motion imparted by ropes and pulleys.

GENERAL MOTORS SHOWS PROGRESS

NEW YORK, March 13 (U.P.)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, reported Wednesday the corporation already has received $683,400,000 in national defense orders and is "steadily expanding" its activities in this field.

Sloan revealed in a special "progress report" to stockholders that only a relatively small volume of war materials was delivered to the British, Canadian and United States governments in 1940.

However, he said, "important progress" has been made in the past four months toward putting armaments on a mass production basis.

More than half the war orders received, Sloan disclosed, are for aviation motors and equipment, including $190,100,000 for Allison liquid-cooled engines; $91,200,000 for Pratt and Whitney air-cooled, radial engines; $62,400,000 for parts and sub-assemblies required for the new twin-engine North American bombers, and $7,000,000 for airplane controls and instruments.

In addition, he said contracts have been received for $16,500,000 worth of shells, cartridge cases and fuses; $61,400,000 of machine guns; $62,800,000 of special military trucks; $89,000,000 of diesel engines, and $37,300,000 of miscellaneous items, including fire control equipment, landing gears and tank gun mounts.

General Motors Canadian plants, Sloan added, have contracts for $65,200,000 of trucks and other military vehicles, as well as shell fuses, from the British and Canadian governments.

Menasco will soon place a 6-cylinder, supercharged, in-line, geared aircraft engine on the market. The engine will have a take-off rating of 430 horsepower.

During 1939, 125 American aircraft establishments made products valued at $279,496,844, which is an increase of 86.7 per cent over 1937.

Visitor Finds Klamath Has Changed Much Since 1889

Klamath Falls looked a lot different to L. C. Hoffman, a current visitor here, when he went through this area in 1889 driving a band of horses from central Oregon to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman are visiting their granddaughter, Mrs. Elwood McKnight.

He recalled Wednesday that there were about a dozen houses clustered on the banks of the Link river when he came through with the horses 52 years ago. He remembers the hot springs off to one side of the little town, then known as Linkville.

Hoffman is now a retired business man of Condon.

Same Question 50 Years Later

SOUTH VIENNA, O., March 13 (AP)—Fifty years ago Clark Jones walked into Elmer Marsh's barber shop and asked for a shave and a haircut.

"Goin' somewhere?" asked Marsh.

"To my wedding," answered Jones.

Yesterday Jones walked into the same barber shop and asked the same barber for a shave and haircut.

"Goin' somewhere?" asked Marsh.

"To my 50th wedding anniversary party," answered Jones.

Ohio Senate Red In Face Over Crossing Law

COLUMBUS, O., March 13 (AP)—A bill passed by the Ohio senate would permit motorists to cross a railroad track only under these conditions:

When the crossing gate is lowered;

When the danger signals are flashing, and

When an approaching train is plainly visible and is in hazardous proximity to such crossing.

It's all a mistake, made in drafting the uniform traffic code, measure designed to promote safety on the highways.

Red-faced members of the senate today asked the house of representatives to correct the error.

EXONERATING THE MISSUS

ASTORIA, Ore., (AP)—Frank Nelson blamed the little woman's cooking because that duck he shot was as tough as leather.

Then the biological survey replied to his letter about a survey band on the duck's leg.

The fowl had been caught and banded seven years ago—and it was full grown then!

everyone has an opportunity to answer. The prizes for this latter part are gladiola bulbs wrapped in red cellophane.

Other features of the program include a playlet put on by the enrollees of Camp Mt. Shasta, as well as songs and music. Also, two reels of motion pictures taken within and adjacent to the Shasta forest by Ranger Barron are being shown.

In several towns the local theatre managements are cooperating to the extent of allowing their house to be used for this program.

Adults are invited and urged where possible to attend these programs.

No Blinds, So No Nurses Yet

CAMP WOLTERS, Texas, March 13 (AP)—This army camp's hospital is complete and its 50 beds are occupied by alling trainees.

But male attendants administer to their needs while the camp's contingent of feminine nurses marks time at nearby Mineral Wells.

The reason: No window shades have been supplied for the nurses' camp quarters.

It is reported that as many as 22,000 inspections are considered necessary to assure absolute efficiency and safety in the construction of an airplane.

A new wind tunnel recently placed in operation permits the testing of an entire section of an airplane under actual flight conditions.
