which we have fought before, for the existence of which we are ever ready to fight again."

Woodrow Wilson's career, the president said, "was a triumph of the spiritual over the sordid forces of brute strength" and he declared that "physical strength can never permanently withstand the impact of spiritual force."

Furthermore, he said, Wilson "taught that democracy could not survive in isolation. We applaud his judgment and his faith."

Support Seen

Indications of increasing support for proposals to assure delivery of war supplies to Britain appeared in two quarters here. Wendell L. Willkie, the republican leader, declared that "we should protect our cargoes of arms and food to England," and he characterized the operations of the United States neutrality patrol — designed to provide safe lanes in the western Atlantic — as inadequate.

Senate Showdown

At the capitol, it was reported that Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) would make a speech today advocating war shipments to Britain, and administration leaders said they would not seek to avoid a senate showdown on a proposal by Senator Tobey (D-N. H.) to put congress on record against naval convoys of war shipments to Britain.

The administration recently shelved Tobey's resolution in the senate foreign relations committee, but leaders said today they would not resort to parliamentary devices to prevent debate should Tobey now force the issue to the floor.

Democratic Leader Barkley predicted that the proposal would be defeated overwhelmingly.

Jacobson took from her and fired, killing O'Connor, Grat said. Hawkins said O'Connor filed suit for divorce last June and a month later appeared unexpectedly at Mrs. Smith's home in Rathdrum, 5 miles north of here, armed with a rifle.

His estranged wife and her mother fled to a store operated by C. F. Hess, county commissioner, who disarmed O'Connor with the help of another man, but not until one shot had been fired, Hawkins recalled.

Hess filed a complaint charging O'Connor with attempted assault with a deadly weapon. The accused, said Hawkins, was sent to the Blackfoot State hospital for the insane at his own request.

"He left the hospital and went to Oregon last winter," Hawkins reported. "He was still wanted on that assault charge and we were watching for him, but he slipped in somehow and we didn't know he was in the area until the shooting occurred."

DISPUTES STILL ON IN 3 LABOR CASES

Labor activity in the Klamath basin maintained a simmering pace Monday on three fronts.

Most active, and threatening to become of statewide proportions, was the strike of AFL truck drivers at the Pacific Fruit and Produce company on Spring street. Prolonged negotiation in Portland had failed to produce a settlement by Monday noon and it was rumored truckers of other Pacific Fruit branches throughout Oregon may be pulled out.

Meanwhile woods workers of the Pelican Bay Lumber company were reported to have signed a contract with Pelican Bay management calling for stipulated hours, wages and working conditions. The men have for nearly a year been bargaining with the company under a CIO banner.

In a third sector William A. Babcock Jr., National Labor Relations board attorney from Seattle, arrived in the city to conduct a board hearing Thursday on CIO charges that the Hosley Logging company of Chiloquin is sponsoring a company union.

Soldiers Found With Car Belonging to Detective's Wife

SEATTLE, May 5 (AP)—Two men who identified themselves as field artillery privates were arrested at 12:15 a. m. today in an automobile reported stolen from Mrs. T. J. Carmody, wife of the secret service agent assigned to guard the family of John Boettlinger, newspaper publisher and son-in-law of President Roosevelt.

Police reports stated they were held without charge, after refusing to say where they got the machine or why they had it.

Mrs. Carmody reported she had parked the machine at home last night after attending a meeting, and was to have driven to the Boettlinger home (where Mrs. Roosevelt is visiting) to get Mr. Carmody at midnight.

Patrolmen F. E. Tinsley and F. G. Glover, in a cruiser car, discovered the soldiers in the machine a few blocks away. Wiring had been shifted so the car would operate without an ignition key, they said. The officers reported the soldiers were not intoxicated.

Modoc Point Man Injured in Auto Wreck Saturday

Roscoe Wooten, about 50, living near Modoc Point, is in Hillside hospital in a serious condition as the result of an automobile accident late Saturday night one mile north of Modoc Point.

Wooten had not regained consciousness at a late hour Monday afternoon. He is suffering from head injuries and shoulder hurts. It is understood that Denver Miller, Modoc Point, reached the scene of the accident and removed Wooten to the hospital. Wooten was alone at the time of the crash and it is thought his car went out of control and left the highway where it overturned.

TWO SHEET METAL CLASSES STARTED

An inaugural brace of aviation sheet metal classes Monday began actual operation in Klamath High school classrooms, according to an announcement by the Klamath defense training committee.

Twenty students appeared at 10 a. m. for the opening of the first class under the guidance of Instructor John Carruthers of Salem. The second was to get under way at six Monday evening with an equal number of youths enrolled. Class periods will be from 10 to 4:30 and 6 to 12 each day.

Although many more than 40 Klamath youths have applied for admittance into the course, the present schedule can not accommodate more, it was said. More classes will be started as soon as they can be arranged.

The instruction is under the joint sponsorship of the National Youth administration and the Oregon State Board for Vocational Education.

BOMBS RAINED ON MERSEY, BELFAST

of Belfast as "an important transit harbor," referring, apparently to its possible use as a receiving point for war supplies from the United States.

Plant Blasted

The Vickers-Armstrong Aircraft plant at Belfast was said to have been left in flames. Other nazi units blasted, for the fourth night in a row, at the Merseyside area around Liverpool; also considered an important port of entry for American supplies. Germans called Saturday night's big-scale raid on Liverpool one of the heaviest ever made on a British city.

Barrow-in-Furnace, port 50 miles northwest of Liverpool, drew one of the heaviest assaults aimed at this west coast area, the high command said.

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—Northern Ireland officially acknowledged today that "much damage to commercial, industrial and residential property" was inflicted on Belfast last night in a German air raid.

Nazi bombers pounded also at Liverpool — for the fourth successive night — in apparent continuation of the German effort to wreck British ports at which United States aid might be received.

"The air attack on Belfast last night was heavy and sustained," said the second communique of the day from the Northern Ireland ministry of national security and Northern Ireland RAF headquarters.

"Large numbers of incendiaries and high explosive bombs were dropped and there was much damage to commercial, industrial and residential property. "Casualties will not prove as heavy as was at first feared and the loss of life has been less than was expected in view of the intensity of the attack."
