

RUMORS RIFE ON LOCATION OF ARMY SITE

A flock of rumors concerning the location of an army cantonment in Oregon has swept through here and other Oregon cities in the past few weeks.

Latest report, which appears to be well founded, is that engineers of the army have started extensive surveys at Medford and Eugene. Whether they will make similar investigations at other Oregon communities has not been divulged, and efforts made by the chamber of commerce here for information on that point this week have been without result.

Klamath Falls as a possible location for the cantonment has received consideration. Army engineers visited this community some weeks ago, looked over nearby areas and asked for information. The Klamath county chamber of commerce prepared extensive and detailed reports on the areas viewed.

The army officials asked that no publicity be given their local studies, and this policy was followed here. Last week, however, a press service carried a news story on the cantonment location probabilities.

It has been reported the cantonment would be built for 30,000 men, and that an artillery range would be included in the development.

FARM WORKERS ON MOVE THROUGH HERE

A steady stream of migrant farm workers continued to parade through Klamath Falls Thursday from migrant camps in southern California bound for strawberry picking work near Cornelius, Ore.

Up to Wednesday night 66 cars, said to be averaging about four persons per car, had passed through the city.

Transportation is being furnished by the Strawberry Fruit Growers association and routing done through cooperation with the California and Oregon State Employment services. This year, according to the service's Klamath Falls office, marks the first in a number of years that it has been necessary to go out in search of pickers. Heretofore there has been a supply far in excess of the demand.

Women Needed to Cut Potatoes

The state employment office reported Thursday afternoon it had received a call for 30 women to cut potatoes for a ranch operator in this district.

Work should continue for about a month, the employment office reported. Those interested should get in touch with the state office, Third and Main streets.

SUEZ BOMBED IN TWO-HOUR AXIS ATTACK

struggle was high-lighted, meanwhile, in a report by Robert Hutchinson, chairman of the American Eagle club in London, that 10,000 United States citizens are fighting in the British and allied forces.

At the same time, Berlin authorities were reported preparing for heavier blows under the lash of the British counter-blastkrieg. Nazi officials were said to be making a canvass of all homes in the German capital to find shelter for bombed-out residents; and Jewish families were ordered to live in more restricted quarters so that all or part of their apartments could be turned over to Aryans. Many Jewish families were reported being evicted from the desirable Charlottenburg area.

It was explained that while comparatively few houses in Berlin have been wrecked by bombs so far, the RAF's latest raids—with the new British "super-bombs" and incendiaries—have indicated what might be expected this summer.

Missing Roseburg Man Found Suffering From Memory Loss

ROSEBURG, May 8 (AP)—Suffering from amnesia, exposure and hunger, Albert A. Norbeck, 28, of Blackfoot, Idaho, missing since Monday evening, was found early today in a heavily wooded canyon about five miles southeast of Roseburg. He was reported to be responding satisfactorily to treatment at the local hospital and was expected to make full recovery, his physician reported.

Norbeck, who was serving temporarily as substitute clerk at the U. S. land office in Roseburg, left the office Monday afternoon complaining of a headache.

He was located about 7 o'clock this morning when he appeared at a farmhouse in search of food. Norbeck was reported to have partially regained his memory and told friends he felt ill when he left the office and decided upon a walk in the fresh air. He has no further recollection until his arrival at the farmhouse today.

WILLKIE RAPS TALK BRITISH CHANCES SLIM

NEW YORK, May 8 (UP)—Wendell L. Willkie last night called for "less talk and more action" in providing effective aid to Britain, regardless of whether it means conquest. He attacked the "Britain-can-win" attitude of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and other non-interventionists.

"The struggle is already upon us," the 1940 republican presidential candidate said. "We cannot shut our eyes to it."
Lindy Boed
An audience of 25,000 persons which jammed Madison Square garden for a "freedom rally" of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, boomed every reference to Lindbergh by Willkie and other speakers.

Willkie did not mention the aviator by name but attacked as unfounded his theory that aid to Britain is useless and the war already lost.

"Such conclusions," Willkie said, "run afoul of the opinions of experts, the understanding of reasonable men, and the experience of history. To think of England's airpower as limited by the number of planes that can be based in the British Isles, while the airforce of the axis powers, with all Europe as a base, control the situation, is like looking into the small end of a telescope."
Planes Needed
"This war is being fought in the Middle East, in northern Africa and in the Far East. Planes are needed throughout that whole area as recent events around the Mediterranean have made tragically clear. Look at the map. Europe does not surround the British commonwealth of nations, the British commonwealth surrounds Europe. And all that far-flung commonwealth and associated peoples, provide bases for airplanes. It is our job to supply the planes. Then England will have superiority."

that she and Miss Destree help find Violet.

Wells drove the women and baby into the desert, then forced them to walk half a mile through brush. He forced Mrs. Wells to write a note to her husband, Ray, asking him to tell where Violet had gone.
Then Wells killed Mrs. Jean Wells, shot Miss Destree, placed the baby in its mother's arms and left, believing Miss Destree was dead, also.

Wells returned to San Bernardino, got his brother and drove off.

Stocker said Ray had not been located and he feared he might have been harmed.

Police found Violet Wells at Escondido, where she had gone to live with her mother, Mrs. Violet Davis, who also is the mother of Alfred and Ray Wells.

vice agents from New York," Hogan added.

He said that by noon no trace had been found either of dynamite or the suspicious men.

The watchman, past 70 years old, had been employed at the estate only a week.

Gaffney indicated, after talking with the secret service agents, that the state police would drop its investigation on the theory there either were no suspicious characters or that two men might have taken advantage of the old man by telling a fake dynamite story.

President Roosevelt had planned to visit Hyde Park this weekend but the trip from Washington was cancelled this morning because of his health.

ly up the staircase and filling the hallways with smoke. The hotel is across the street from the new federal courthouse building.

L. J. Nagle, 47, a janitor, struggled through the smoke to a fire escape but was so blinded that he plunged through a glass window. He was badly cut and bruised.

Losses Way
David Katz, 47, most seriously of those burned, said he groped his way towards the fire escape but became confused and lost his way twice. Almost overcome, he finally clambered down the escape, his clothing afire in several places.

Others injured included: Clyde Johnson, 20, bellboy, an injured leg in dropping from a second floor window.
Florence Thomas, 36, severe burns.

Hulda Auer, 4, maid, severe bruises in dropping from a third-floor window.
Kiyoshi Kamikawa, 20, student, serious burns, shock.
Hannah Kamikawa, 18, pantry maid, shock and exposure.
Mrs. Kusu Hirotsato, wife of James Hirotsato, landlord, shock and hysteria.

The first alarm was sounded at 2:48 a. m. and 21 pieces of fire equipment were rushed to the scene. Although great clouds of smoke spread over the district, the hotel management estimated damage at only $5000.

The fire was the worst hotel blaze since the Lincoln hotel burned on April 6, 1920, with a loss of five lives.

the RAF forces German and Italian forces launched their counter-offensive eastward into Egypt, also were reported.

ROME, May 8 (AP)—The Italian high command announced today that axis forces had captured an important position before the besieged British stronghold of Tobruk in Libya.

It said Italian troops also had inflicted heavy losses on the British in a fierce three-day battle in the Galla Sidamo area of western Ethiopia.

Axis air offensives in the Mediterranean war zone again were underscored by the war bulletin, including raids Tuesday night and last night by German formations on the British island base of Malta and continued bombardment of Tobruk.

Kiwanis Told of "Stop Forest Fires" Campaign on Coast

The "Stop Forest Fires" campaign is a part of a general program designed to conserve the northwest's forest resources, it was declared by George Griffith, assistant regional forester, in a talk to the Kiwanis club Thursday noon at the Willard.

Griffith said that the economic future of the northwest area depends upon a sensible program that will both use and save the forest resource. He outlined legislation which has been making progress in congress and is designed to further that program.

Under the direction of Charles Stanfield, the capella chorus of the Klamath Union high school presented several vocal numbers at the club meeting.

Attention was called to the civic chorus concert to be presented Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium.

Bolivian Flier Dies In Washington Crash

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Captain Rafael Suarez Rivas was burned to death and Captain Alberto Taborea was injured, perhaps critically, today when two Bolivian airforce officers crashed on a take-off from Washington airport.

The single-motored biplane apparently went into a stall as the pilot banked after the take-off and nosed down into a crash.

Registration of New Draftees To Be Called

tration will be formally fixed in a proclamation by President Roosevelt. Authorities indicated that the day not tentatively agreed upon was chosen to give the new group of prospective military trainees time to learn whether they are apt to be called for service this fall so they can arrange their school or employment plans accordingly.

In official quarters here it was expected that a large proportion of them would be called for training within a few months after they are registered and classified as to availability for immediate service.

A decision apparently has yet to be reached on how the order numbers of the July registrants will be incorporated in the existing list of numbers assigned after the selective service lottery last October. Whatever the method, the belief was that it would not hinder plans for drawing of additional manpower almost immediately on the newly-registered pool.
