RAF planes had attacked German bombers on Syrian air fields.

Moscow Status
A British communique issued in Cairo today, however, said of the Iraq situation merely that "in both the Basra and Habbaniyah areas the situation remains quiet."

Turkey appeared determined to maintain a purely defensive attitude toward developments in the middle east, but soviet Russia loomed as an uncertain factor. The mystery of Moscow's real intentions was not clarified to any extent by a delayed dispatch from that capital revealing that Joseph Stalin was transferring some of his most expert generals from the far east to western commands.

LEWIS UNION CALLS COAL MINER STRIKE

you every assistance in your endeavor to correct this most unfortunate situation and urges and insists that you use every possible measure at your command to this end."

Admiral John W. Greenlade, commandant of the 12th naval district, said he was willing to make every effort at settlement of the strike, which he termed "contrary to the interests of national defense."

By The Associated Press
Wage disputes continued today in important west coast shipyards and in the Appalachian soft coal industry, although one of the biggest potential threats to production of national defense material was removed by settlement of a General Motors pay controversy.

Officials of the motor corporation said the agreement, reached at Washington yesterday, would give 185,000 employees, represented by the CIO United Automobile Workers, an additional $35,000,000, annually in wages.

The possibility of another shutdown in soft coal mining operations arose as southern Appalachian producers and workers failed to reach a permanent agreement on wages. John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers, said that unless an agreement was reached this week it might be necessary to call out of the pits 300,000 men in the eight-state region. Wednesday may be the deadline, he said.

Stockmen Warned Against Increases

ONTARIO, Ore., May 17 (AP)—Livestock experts warned stockmen yesterday against increasing cattle herds in anticipation of higher prices.

Dr. Orlo Maughan, Spokane, told Oregon Cattle and Horse Raisers association members that prices would begin to decline by the first of next year. He blamed an increase of 5,000,000 head of cattle in the US in the past two years.

Association President Wayne Stewart, Dayville, advised stockmen to continue business at present levels.

CHASE TO RESUME LAW PRACTICE HERE

William F. B. Chase, veteran Klamath attorney who from 1932 to 1940 was a member of the Klamath county court, is resuming law practice in Room 203 of the Odd Fellows building, he announced Saturday.

Chase is a graduate of Kent Law school in San Francisco, was admitted to the bar in California in 1915 and in Oregon in 1923. Prior to his enrollment at Kent, he attended the Nebraska Central college in Central City, Neb.

A long-time resident of this district, Chase was secretary of the Horsey Irrigation district from 1920 until 1932. His home is at 737 North Ninth street.

Chase will share rooms with George Chastain in the Odd Fellows building.

'Our George' Baker, Former Mayor of Portland, Dies

PORTLAND, May 17 (AP)—George L. Baker, 72, Portland's huge beetle-browed "Our George," died last night of a heart attack, and last night in a falling health for a long time. As mayor from 1917 to 1933, Baker became a national character as the lusty, flamboyant greeter of municipal visitors. He traded repartee with President Wilson, twitted Queen Marie of Roumania, picked up New York Mayor Jimmy Walker and rocked him in his arms with a lullaby, and kissed Mary Garden. A group of U. S. senators who went to Paris in 1931 to attend the Colonial exposition selected him as chairman. Baker was born in The Dalles to parents of moderate means. He sold newspapers, dug ditches and painted wagons from San Francisco to Seattle before he stumbled into a theatrical job. He became property man, discovered a talent for production work and ultimately formed the old Baker Stock company here.

Portlanders elected him to the city council in 1906 and he served on that body 11 years before becoming mayor.

He retired from politics in 1933, the year he was chosen Portland's first citizen. He served as manager of the Columbia Empire Industries since 1935.

His widow survives.

SEVEN ARMY MEN DIE IN CRASHES

Pa.; Brown, father at Salt Lake City, Utah, and mother, Denver, and Davis, Shreveport.

Davis' body was not immediately located in the wreckage of a basic combat navigation training plane (Beechcraft) which was scattered over a wide area.

When the mishap occurred the plane was en route from Louisville, Ky., to Pittsburgh.

Two air corps captains were killed as their ship plunged into the ground with great force 10 miles south of Wilmington—15 minutes after the Nelsonville crash.

Club To Meet—The Stewart-Lenox Improvement club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Williams tonight. All members are urged to attend.

HESS INCIDENT TERMED 'CLOSED'

BERLIN, May 17 (UP)—Authorized Nazi spokesmen gave notice Friday that so far as Germany is concerned the affair of Rudolf Hess is closed, stating in response to correspondents' queries: "We are not interested."

This statement epitomized the surprising but unmistakable change in the official German attitude since two days ago—a change from undisguised perturbation to one of confidence. Typical of this new attitude, the spokesman added, smiling:

"The English are going to discover that they will have more headaches over this matter than we."

The change in the Nazi attitude was believed due to absence of the propaganda storm which the Germans appeared to expect from Britain when earlier this week they gave notice: "We shall not recognize any utterance accredited to Hess."

The unexpected cautiousness of the British press treatment of the affair apparently encouraged a spokesman to say earlier today that Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were "afraid" to talk with Hess because he would tell them that continuation of the war would bring "100 per cent catastrophe for England."

Nazi spokesmen tonight denied reports which had circulated in Berlin during the day that Prof. Karl E. K. Kaushofer, No. 1 Nazi brain-truster, author of the Lebensraum Doctrine and a close friend of Hess, had been arrested.

Fort Capuzzo. The British (as these words are written) neither confirm nor deny the German claim.

GO back here for a moment to World War No. 1—when, you will remember, positions along the western front changed hands frequently over a long period of time.

The point is that from Tobruk to Salum (temporarily at least) a condition of stalemate has been reached, with the Germans unable for the time being to break through the British defenses and roll on toward Suez.

As long as the British are able to hold sea-supplied Tobruk, it will remain a threat to further German advance.

HERE again France comes in. If she lets the Germans into Tunisia, the way will be opened for German reinforcements in sufficient volume to overwhelm Tobruk.

Daughter Didn't Help This Driver

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (UP)—William Mahoney had just finished explaining to Judge Herbert Kaufman that he was tired and was rushing home for a rest when he was picked up for speeding.

Then his four-year-old daughter, Anne, piped up: "My daddy was trying to see how fast the car would go." Judge Kaufman said he couldn't accept the unsolicited testimony but he fined Mahoney $2.50.

CHILOQUIN HIGH ANNUAL ISSUED

Chiloquin high school annual, Panther Tracks, was distributed this week to the combined student bodies of the junior and senior high schools. As a result of 100 per cent support of all students, 225 copies were sold. The 1941 issue of Panther Tracks is dedicated to Harold Rowe, band director and instructor in social sciences at Chiloquin high school for the past two years. Under his direction the Chiloquin high school band has developed into one of the outstanding organizations in Klamath county.

The annual was developed around the theme of "Chiloquin Then and Now," and contains many interesting pictures concerning the growth of schools and industry in Chiloquin. Clever art work was based upon designs frequently used by the Klamath Indians in their weaving.

The senior class of 1941 sponsored the annual which was printed by the Chiloquin Review.

Nazi Marshal's Son Killed in Iraq

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—British radio report said today "it is learned that the son of Field Marshal Werner Von Blomberg has been killed in action in Iraq." The broadcast was heard by CBS.

"He was a member of a German air mission which left to help the Iraq rebels, and Rashid Ali (Iraq premier) attended his funeral at Baghdad," the broadcast added.

Churchill says America stands at Britain's side. And, from there, it's only a jump right into her lap.
