FOUR LANES TO BE ASKED FOR SOUTH SIXTH

are to be moved, the state will move them.

Danger Seen

It was also asserted by participants in the chamber discussion that three-lane highways are dangerous, in that the middle lane is a passing lane in which cars from opposite directions are likely to meet. Under the South Sixth street plan, it was permitted, parking would be permitted in lanes adjoining the travel lanes, and cars stopped to park would block traffic temporarily or would force other cars into the middle passing lane.

City Engineer E. A. Thomas pointed out that even though South Sixth were constructed as planned, it would be possible to provide three two wide lanes of traffic, instead of the three more narrow lanes.

Several speakers emphasized the importance of adherence to the chamber of commerce traditional policy of urging state highway work between two given points and leaving the details up to the highway commission.

Others objected to any chamber action which would delay or jeopardize the free-way route through the suburban district.

There was considerable discussion of the viaduct on South Sixth street, which carries only two lanes of traffic, and the probable need for widening or duplicating it in case South Sixth is widened.

Going to Portland to appear before the highway commission are T. B. Watters, A. D. Collier, Nelson Reed, City Engineer E. A. Thomas and Secretary Earl Reynolds of the chamber.

AMERICANS TO BE FREED BY GERMANS

Americans on the ship sunk en route from New York and Recife, (Pernambuco) Brazil, for Capetown and Alexandria.)

BERLIN, May 21 (AP)—German military authorities will make sure that American ambulance drivers cannot divulge any military information to the United States or Britain, authorized sources declared today. This came in response to the question whether the Americans captured in the sinking of the Egyptian liner Zamzam would be released soon.

"It is a publicly known fact that the American patrolling system has for its chief purpose that of reporting on anything that might be of service to the British," authorized sources observed.

"It must be assumed that the ambulance drivers pledged to General De Gaulle have a similar assignment."

eral weeks ago recognized the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers union, Local 2922, as the sole bargaining agent after a one-hour strike at the beginning of the daytime shift.

Prior to that the mill had been closed for four weeks by a CIO strike, and had operated three weeks under strike after approximately 40 men walked through CIO picket lines. In the meantime the AFL had claimed a majority at the Weed highway plant.

Following recognition of the AFL, negotiations culminating in the pay boost were carried on.
